SAYS GERMANY HAS FAILED

"So far as this war is concerned, Germany has been a failure," said Sir Gilbert Parker, the novelist, at Atlantic City the other day. "Organized forty years, she had everything with her at the beginning. Great Britain had virtually no army. The Russian army was in chaos. The French army was inadequately armed.

"Germany aimed at Paris, St. Petersburg and London, through Calais. She reached none of these. She aimed to destroy Verdun and failed. She aimed to take Ypres and failed. Her one success in the war on land has been Roumania. Understand I am not depreciating the German army. It was probably the most highly skilled, developed, trained and equipped army, as well as the biggest on earth. Germany's organization was magnificent, but Germany's morals was wrong. That's why the United States is in this war.

"If the morale of Germany had not been wrong she would not have committed the atrocities she did commit against all rules of civilized warfare. That's another reason why the United States is in the war. The German morale always has been wrong. In the Franco-Prussian war she committed what the world regarded then as atrocious things, but in this war she has thrown aside the most important rules which countries like the United States established.

"Some one has said this is a war of democracy against autocracy. It's a much bigger thing than that. Autocracy might say, What right has democracy to impose its will upon a nation desiring a certain form of government? It's bigger than that. It is a war of liberty and freedom to safeguard those elements of nationality for which nations like the United States have in the past spent their blood and treasure.

"My own view is that the one thing with which Germany has been successful is the submarine. Her airships, the Zeppelins, have been a failure. If England or the United States is in position to curb the submarine, then the days of the war are numbered."

Sir Gilbert said the coming of peace and the returning of the fighting men to England would be followed by the blotting out of party lines as now constituted there and tremendous changes along sociological lines, so great that he hesitated to predict their scope. If American troops cross the sea and pass through the fire, he said, changes of a similar order will follow the return to peaceful life of men who have learned while passing through the fire to cast aside trivial things and deal with the things that count.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

BRITISH CONTINUE TO DIG IN GERMAN LINE IN FRANCE

QUIET ON THE FRENCH FRONT

On the Russian Front Quietude Still Prevails While on the Austro-Italian Front Italians Launch Another Attack

While the cannon are roaring along the greater portion of the front in Belgium, from the region of the North sea to the French border, probably preliminary to infantry attacks by the French and Belgians, the British troops in the Messines region are giving the Germans no rest.

Not satisfied with the capture of the famous Messines ridge last week, Field Marshal Haig's men continue here and there to dig further into the territory held by the Germans. Yesterday night and Monday again witnessed thrusts by the British, south and southeast of Messines, in both of which appreciable gains were made, especially in the neighborhood of La Polerie farm.

Early Monday morning in this region a trench system over a front of about a mile was captured and later in the day the gain was considerably enlarged bringing the British front within a short distance of Warneton, the capture of which would give them domination of the road leading eastward about three miles to the important town of Comines.

The day's operations added to the number of prisoners taken by the British and also gave them seven more German field guns.

Comparative quiet reigns on the front held by the French, except for artillery duels on various sectors, especially in the region of Mont Cassin. The Berlin war office asserts that on the Chemin des Dames Sunday night the Germans in a surprise attack killed the occupants of French trenches and returned to their own lines later with prisoners.

On the Russian front quietude still prevails. In Macedonia artillery bombardments are still in progress at various points, particularly in the Cernabend region.

What probably may be another intensive attack by the Italians has started in the region southeast of Trieste, where King Victor Emmanuel's men have captured several important positions, notably the greater portion of Mont Ortigara, which rises to a height of 6,902 feet and the Agnello pass from which there is comparatively level ground toward the town of Borgo and the Brianta river. There has been no renewal of the Italian offensive on the Carson plateau, where the objective of the Italians is Trieste. The Austrians several times attempted to take the initiative south of Castagnavizza, but were completely repulsed and lost prisoners in addition.

Following the example of the United States, Great Britain has replied to the Russian government's request for a statement of war aims. The reply concurs in Russia's purpose not to dominate other peoples or take from them their national patrimony or forcibly occupying foreign territory. The defense of the existence of countries, the enforcement of respect for international agreements and the "liberating of populations oppressed by alien tyranny," is adhered to in the note. The note says Great Britain joins with Russia in acceptance and approval of the principles laid down by President Wilson in his historic message to Congress.

The situation in China continues extremely tense. A mandate of dissolution of parliament has been drawn by the president, as demanded by the military governor of the province of Anhwei, but Dr. Wu Ting Fang, the acting premier, has declined to sign it, an action necessary to make it effective. A dissolution of parliament would make impossible a declaration of war against Germany until a new parliament could be assembled.

The Bulgarian premier spent Sunday at Homberg castle conferring with Emperor William and Field Marshal von Hindenburg, and later departed for Vienna. In an interview he spoke optimistically of Bulgaria's position on both the Macedonia and Rumanian fronts. The crops in Bulgaria and Serbia, he said, promise to be the best in recent years.

A British patrol boat in the North sea has destroyed two German sea planes and put three others to flight. The pilots of the two destroyed machines were made prisoner.

LENIENT PERIOD FOR SLACKERS OF NATION ENDED

N. C. RANKS FOURTH IN THE PROPORTION OF REGISTERED

"Vigorous, Aggressive and Effective Enforcement of Penal Clause of Selective Draft Law", Is The Instructions From the Provost Marshal General To the State Governors.

Washington, June 11.—The period of leniency ended Monday night for men between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive, who failed to register for the war army last Tuesday.

Provost Marshal General Crowder sent to the governors of all the states a message asking them "to inaugurate from tomorrow a vigorous, aggressive and effective enforcement of the penal clause of the selective service law against all who have by their failure to register brought themselves under those provisions."

The penalty for failure to register on June 5 is imprisonment for a year and enforced registration, but immediately after registration day recommenced that local boards provide further opportunity for delinquents. The department of justice Monday notified United States attorneys to release those already arrested for failure to register providing they have now registered.

General Crowder has almost completed a draft of regulations to govern exemptions and exemption boards and expects to lay it before Secretary Baker in a few days for approval. The general believes no class should be exempted as such, but that local boards should decide on the circumstances in each individual case. He favors use of some device such as the jury wheel for drawing the names of those to be examined by the exemption boards. The regulations will be made public in detail after Secretary Baker and President Wilson approve them.

A few more states reported registration totals to the provost marshal general's office Monday but the indications were that all would not be completed for nearly a week.

General Crowder's message to the governors said:

"Quotas are to be assigned to the several states in proportion to the population as determined by the bureau of the census and not in proportion to the registration. The result is that every person who has failed to register is seriously increasing the burden of those who have registered. It is requested that every effort be now made to detect and arrest persons subject to registration who have not registered and to bring each promptly posted and all registrants should be asked to assist in bringing non-registrants to the attention of the police.

"In case of doubt as to the age of persons who have not registered, the tabulated records of political organizations and other local records should be consulted and data may be obtained from the bureau of census."

Among the states reporting so far Ohio stands first in the proportion of registration to the census estimate, with 113 per cent. Illinois has 104.7 Wisconsin 104.6 North Carolina 103 per cent. Iowa 101.3 per cent and Connecticut 100.9 per cent. Washington is the lowest state with 50.9 per cent.

INDIAN BUYS HUGE BLOCK OF LIBERTY LOAN BONDS

Washington, June 11.—Jackson Barnett, reputed to be the wealthiest Indian in the United States, Monday subscribed $640,000 to liberty loan bonds through his guardian, Carl J. O'Hornett, of Henrietta, Okla. Secretary Lane's ruling that Barnett, who is a ward of the Government, might do this opens the way to many Indian subscriptions.

Barnett, full blooded son of a Creek chieftain, derived his fortune from oil wells near Tulsa, Okla., which he at first indignantly rejected, declaring the tract fit only for coyotes and jack-rabbits and in no wise suited to an Indian who merely wanted to fish and hunt as he pleased. The discovery of oil and the lease of Barnett's land made the Indian a millionaire—he had 755,898 cash on deposit May 1 last—but he was unable to handle his financial affairs and a guardian was appointed for him. Barnett has never accepted more than $125 a month of his income and shows little interest in the size of his fortune. Last year he paid an income tax estimated at 50,000.

TENT MEETING

The Meeting Now In Its Third Week Large Crowds Attend Daily

The meeting at the tent is now in its third week and the attendance is gratifying to all. Rev. Mr. Browning is upholding his reputation as a preacher and impresses one with his intense earnestness. While the attendance from the town is large it is the great throngs which daily come in from the country which shows the great drawing power of the speaker.

On last Sunday evening he preached again to the men only, and the large tent was almost filled to its capacity. The men responded to his invitation to live better lives, and if all who signified their intention to be better men and do more for themselves and their fellowman live up to the obligations there will be a wonderful change for the better in this town and community.

There will be services on next Sunday evening and morning, but at this writing Rev. O. W. Dowd informs us that there has been no announcement for any special meetings on that day.

SUGGESTS NAME FOR WAR

Writer Thinks "German-World" Will About Fill the Bill

Writers are already discussing the name which history will give to the present war. Can anyone suggest a better one than this.

German-World War.

The name of a war is like the title of a Pennsylvania statute—should specify clearly the essentials of the same. Thus no one is left in doubt by the American Revolution, Crimean, Indian Mutiny, Civil War, Napoleonic Wars, Franco-Prussian, Russo-Japanese or Spanish-American.

"Seven Years' War" is far less happy than when we say "French and Indian." To call the present one merely "the world war" is not enough.

Posterity will want instantly to recall who faced whom, hence the term, Germany-World War fills the bill admirably. More than half the human race is now at war against the Kaiser. —"Girard" in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

HOME PRESERVING EGGS BY THE WATER GLASS SOLUTION

By the use of this process is offered a means of preserving eggs when they are plentiful and prices low, to be used when eggs are high in price. It is cheap, simple, practical, and is a success if we will follow these suggestions.

Selecting eggs—Those to be used must be clean, fresh, not over three days old, and absolutely sound in shell, that is, no cracked eggs are fit. Eggs can be put in each day, just as we wish and can spare them. This is a great advantage.

Container—Any suitable sized earthenware jar, galvanized tubs, wooden tubs or buckets. These must be thoroughly boiled and cleaned before putting the liquid in.

Size of container—Any size can be used. This depends on the number of eggs to be preserved.

The following table will help:

1 gallon	40 eggs
2 "	80 "
3 "	120 "
4 "	160 "
5 "	200 "
10 "	400 "

Water Glass or Sodium Silicate can be had at any drug store at a cost of about 35 cents a quart. If the stores do not have it, then have them order it for you.

Mixture—Use one quart of water glass to nine quarts of boiled water or one part to nine parts.

Boiling Water—Water must be boiled at least fifteen minutes and allowed to cool.

Mixing Solution—Mix the water glass and water together thoroughly as above proportion. Then put the eggs in the bottom of the container and pour the water glass mixture in until the eggs are covered to a depth of about two inches. As you add more eggs put in more water glass solution. If the mixture becomes jelly like simply add a little more boiled water. Keep the surplus mixture in a sealed jar, as a fruit jar, to prevent evaporation.

Testing eggs—Use great care by testing every egg before placing in container as one bad egg will, of course, spoil all in the container. The testing is fully explained in your bulletin No. 562 which you have.

Where to place containers—Containers should be kept in a cool place and the top must be covered with heavy paper to prevent evaporation and keep dirt and dust out.

Quality of water glass eggs—They can be used in any form except for poaching. The eggs can be fried, boiled, scrambled and for general cooking purposes. Before boiling, the big end of the egg must be punctured with a pin to prevent cracking. When you take eggs out of the solution they should be washed in cool water to remove the jelly like solution on the shell. Eggs can be taken out just as they are needed, another great advantage.

Selling—Eggs put up in this way can be sold as such and are equally as good as most eggs that are put on the winter market.

It is our duty to our country to put this project into immediate use as it is one of great economical importance at this very critical time when we positively know that food is bound to be scarce this winter. It will enable all to have plenty of eggs for home use through the winter and some to sell. We will then use more eggs at home knowing that they were put down when eggs were low in price. We can then sell all of our fresh laid eggs and get the top of the market for same. They will be very high this fall and winter, and you very well know we do not use as many eggs at home when high prices can be had. Knowing this to be a project of great economic value the Animal Industry Division of the North Carolina Experiment Station offers the following prizes open to bona fide Poultry Club members:

To the boy or girl who preserves the largest number of eggs by above process:

1st Prize	2nd Prize	3rd Prize
$7.00	$5.00	$3.00

Above prizes to be awarded by the County Agent, The Canning Club Agent and one other authentic witness not related to the competitor.

Very truly yours,
ALLEN G. OLIVER,
Scientific Assistant in Poultry Husbandry, In charge North Carolina Poultry Clubs.
