

SECOND LIBERTY LOAN LAUNCHED

Fair Volume of Subscriptions Turned Into Treasury; Chicago Started Well; Mr. McAdoe Speaks.

BIG NOISE IN CAPITAL

Washington, Oct. 1.—The Great liberty loan drive started today throughout the country with a rush. Telegraphic reports to the treasury from every section indicate tremendous enthusiasm on the part of tens of thousands of workers and fair first day volume of subscription toward the $3,000,000,000 minimum which has been set as the goal of the four weeks' campaign.

Flags were flown, whistles were blown, acres of billboards blossomed into red, white and blue posters and thousands of workers started the campaign with enthusiasm from New England to California. Everywhere, from postoffices, bank and store windows, railway stations, street cars and scores of other public places, liberty posters with varied slogans were pasted up and workers began the task of finding buyers.

Towns and cities from coast to coast welcomed the beginning of the campaign with distinctive demonstrations. Here in the capital, street cars were stopped for two minutes at noon and automobile horns and sirens let loose a bedlam of noise as the field force began its work. In hundreds of other communities the story was the same, varied only by methods followed.

Boy Scouts are Helping.

Boston reported a chorus of steam whistles greeting the opening of the campaign. Mayor Mitchell, of New York, started it there with an address. Philadelphia let loose her factory whistles at 10 o'clock and two hours later gazed skyward at a squadron of six airplanes that circled the tower of the City hall, dropping loan literature while 5,000 boy scouts started collecting contributions.

Secretary McAdoe opened his transcontinental speech-making tour in Cleveland, where Tris Speaker, star outfielder of the Cleveland baseball club, purchased the first bond. Liberty bell at St. John's church, Richmond, where Patrick Henry uttered his immortal, "Give me liberty or give me death," led the bells of the city that the drive was on. At Atlanta, the president of the Georgia federation of Women's clubs, called up the chairman of the liberty loan executive committee before breakfast to get his subscription—and got it.

A flying squadron of nearly 1,000 solicitors stormed Chicago as the bells were ringing and whistles were blowing.

Minneapolis started with a program of meetings designed to reach every man, woman and child in her reserve district. Prominent business men of St. Louis put on overalls and pasted up posters. San Francisco began with a luncheon attended by 500 men and reported a similar spirit of enthusiastic women and Dallas and Kansas City also.

Spectacular Features Succeed.

The spectacular features of the first day succeeded everywhere, reports to arousing widespread enthusiasm. To keep alive this enthusiasm and swell its volume till every person who can buy a liberty bond does buy one, is the work to which the volunteer army is now devoting its attention. Officials here were no inclined to minimize the tremendous task. A vast amount of hard work must be done during the next 23 more working days by every person in the ranks of the great organization. An average of $125,000,000 a day in subscriptions for the entire period would bring the total only up to the minimum. What officials hope for is to make every day a $200,000,000 day, or on an eight hour basis, $25,000,000 an hour. This would bring the total to within hailing distance of the $5,000,000,000 which the country is expected to subscribe.

With 10,000,000 subscribers as the goal, the average daily subscription list should show 400,000 names. Again, computed on an eight hour working day basis, 50,000 men and women would have to subscribe every hour to bring the total up to expectations.

Croup

If your children are subject to croup get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and when the attack comes on be careful to follow the plain printed directions. You will be surprised at the quick relief which it affords.

CONTROL OF TOBACCO WILT.

Experiments by Specialists of U. S. Department of Agriculture in the Flue-Cured Tobacco District Indicate That Disease Is Best Combated by Crop Rotation.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—Crop rotation is the only method which will give satisfactory results in controlling tobacco wilt, it appears from tests conducted over a series of years in the flue-cured tobacco district by the United States Department of Agriculture. By cropping badly infested land for five years with crops not affected by the wilt, the extent of injury to tobacco from the disease was reduced from 80 per cent to less than 10 per cent.

In arranging rotations, the department specialists point out, care must be taken not to grow other plants attacked by the wilt organisms. The plants susceptible to attack which should be avoided in the rotations include tomato, Irish potato, and peanuts. Ragweed, which is very common in the flue-cured district, also is attacked by the wilt and it is important therefore, that this weed be kept down and if possible, eradicated. The crops shown by the tests to give satisfactory results in rotations are corn, cotton, wheat, rye (as a cover crop), sweet potatoes, cowpeas, grasses, red clover, and crimson clover. Oats were not included in the tests but it does not seem likely that this crop is affected by the wilt.

Five Year Rotation Recommended

The tests made by the Department of Agriculture indicate that on badly infested land the growing of crops not attacked by wilt for four or five years will give better results than only three years of such cropping. It reduced the amount of wilt. The three-year period, however, great specialists believe that on badly infested soil a good general rule is not to grow tobacco oftener than once in has been brought under control, however, tobacco probably may be grown safely every fourth year. Under no every five years. After the disease circumstances should two crops of tobacco be grown in succession on infested soil.

To keep the wilt off farms not already infested, it is recommended that seed beds be thoroughly burned to insure complete sterilization and that care be taken not to allow surface drainage from infested farms to reach the seed bed or the tobacco land. Great caution should be used in securing plants or farming implements from farms on which the wilt is present. Tobacco stalks or stems from infested farms should not be used as a fertilizer on health soils. Every effort should be made to prevent infested soil or diseased plant material in any form from reaching the farm.

Symptoms of Tobacco Wilt.

Tobacco wilt produces definite symptoms in the leaves, the stalks, and the roots of the tobacco plant. When plants are attacked the leaves droop in an umbrella-like manner and the stalk shows yellowish to black streaks when the bark is stripped. When diseased stalks are cut across with a knife; slimy ooze appears. The disease also brings about decided decay of the root system. The organism responsible for the disease enters the plant through the root and eventually brings about a plugging of the vessels, thus cutting off the water supply from the leaves and causing them to perish.

The Department of Agriculture verified in the experiments carried on by acids, alkalis, and neutral salts, including fertilizer materials, were applied to the soil by varying methods and in varying quantity, and a large number of germicides were used. Subsoiling with the plow and by use of dynamite was also employed to see if such treatment would reduce the amount of wilt. In none of these tests were the results sufficiently encouraging to hold out hope of controlling the disease, and crop rotation therefore is believed to be the only practicable remedy.

CALOMEL SELDOM SOLD HERE NOW

Nasty Drug Salivates, Makes You Sick and You Lose a Day's Work.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and give better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50c. and if it fails to give easy relief to every case of liver sluggishness and constipation you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick, nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.
