

For Mother's Sake

Mother---the sweetest word in a language. The depths of a mother's love and fortitude has never been fathomed. It is the mothers who have brought into the world, and reared the brave sons who will stoically defend the honor of America in this crisis--it is these wonderful women who are doing the real sacrificing--and unflinchingly.

is that the rest of us do all within our power to protect what is left of her little family--the helpless children--from the possible invasion of Prussianism and the cruelties and horrors that accompany it--her little, innocent, tender girls and boys would be nothing then--nor should she.
