

MICKIE, THE PRINTER'S DEVIL

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

ROXBORO, N. C. DR. G. C. VICKERS Dentist Office in New building on North Main street, next door to Roxboro Grocery Company. ROXBORO, N. C.

N. LUNSFORD Attorney-at-law Office over Garrett's Store ROXBORO, N. C.

F. O. CARVER Attorney and Councillor at Law Office over Bank of Roxboro

DR. E. I. TUCKER Dentist Office in Hotel Jones over Dr. R. J. League's office

DR. J. H. HUGHES Dentist Office in Hotel Jones, next door to Dr. Tucker's office.

ROBERT P. BURNS Attorney at Law PEOPLES BANK BUILDING Prompt and careful attention given to all business.

W. T. BUCHANAN SURVAYOR MILL CREEK, N. C. Route 1.

N. & W. Norfolk & Western Schedule Effective April 30 1922 p. m. a. m. y5:20*7:00 lv. Durham at 11:00*9:18 x7:09*8:13 lv. Roxboro at 8:23*7:54 x7:53*8:45 lv. Denniston at 8:45*7:19 x8:20*9:05 lv. S. Boston at 8:18*6:56 x8:35*8:10 lv. Halifax at 8:02*6:49 x11:15*11:40 ar. Lynchburg. v. 5:30*4:15 p. m. a. m. Daily and x Daily Ex. Sun. Connections at Lynchburg with trains east and westbound. Parlor and sleeping cars dining cars. The best route to the west and northwest. Rates and information upon application to agent. W. C. SANDERS. General Pass Agent Roanoke, Va.

Let Mrs. Mary Graves Tell You Her Poultry Raising Experience. "Three years ago bought an incubator, this year I've made money. Rats stole my bavy chicks. Didn't know until a friend gave me a cake of RAT-SNAP. Next morning found two dead rats in hennery. Kept finding them. Suddenly they disappeared altogether. It's the only sure rat killer." Take Mrs. Graves' advice. Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by LONG BRADSHAW & COMPANY, Roxboro, N. C.

PUBLIC TRANSFER. When you want hauling of any kind call on me, I am in position to do it. I have just put on a two Ton Truck for public transfer. I collect your business. Day phone 85. Night phone 126. JACK BARNETTE

"We Picked Up Seven Large Dead Rats First Morning Using Rat-Snap. So writes Mr. B. E. Carpenter, Woodbridge, N. J. "We lost 18 small chicks one night, killed by rats. Bought some RAT-SNAP and picked up 7 large dead rats next morning and in 2 weeks didn't see a single rat. RAT-SNAP is good and sure." Comes in cakes ready for use. Three sizes 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by LONG BRADSHAW & COMPANY, Roxboro, N. C.

Great Reduction IN PRICES OF

Buggies and Surries

Write for Special Prices for the next 60 days in parts for Buggies, such as Tops, Wheels, Shafts, and Rubber Tires also at Low Prices. Auto Tops Recovered and trimming work. Cars and Buggies Repainted at REASONABLE PRICES. R. A. HARRELL BUGGY CO., South Boston, Va. 3 15.3 mos.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE. Having qualified as administrator of the estate of James B. Carver, deceased, late of Person County, North Carolina, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate of said deceased to exhibit them to the undersigned at Roxboro N. C. on or before the 6th day of May, 1922, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate payment. This 6th day of May, 1922. Edgar W. Carver, Administrator of James B. Carver, Wm. D. Merritt, Attorney.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE. Having this day qualified as Administrator of Georgeita Gravitt deceased, late of Person County, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present them to the undersigned on or before the 29th day of April, 1922, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate payment. This April 29th, 1922. M. O. Yarboro, Administrator.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE. Having this day qualified as Administrator of Lincoln Williams, deceased, late of Person County, this is to notify all persons holding claims against said estate to present them to the undersigned on or before May 8th, 1922, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery. All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate payment. This May 8th, 1922. B. S. Glenn, Administrator. L. M. Carlton, Attorney.

LAND SALE. NORTH CAROLINA, PERSON COUNTY. Under and by virtue of a decree of the Superior Court made by his Honor John H. Kerr at April term, 1922, in the proceeding entitled "Eather Buro's and others ex parte" I will as Commissioner on MONDAY, JUNE 5th, 1922, at the Court house door in Roxboro, sell at public auction to the highest bidder the following described land or parcel of land to wit: Lying and being in Roxboro Township bounded on the North by the lands of G. T. Burch heirs; on the East by the G. T. Burch heirs; on the South by the lands of Charles Davis and on the West by estate of S. B. Winstead and on the Northwest by the new sand clay road from Roxboro to Allensville, and beginning at a stake on the East side of said road running thence South with the plantation road 88 1/2, East 523 ft. to an iron stake; thence South with G. T. Burch heirs 8 degrees, E. 530 ft. to a rock; thence N. 84 1/2 degrees West with line of Charles Davis 120 ft. to a rock; thence North 5 1-4 East with S. B. Winstead estate line 100 ft. to a stake, sand clay road; thence with sand clay road North 61 1-4 degrees, East 764 ft. to a stake the beginning, containing 10.27 acres more or less according to the survey and plat of H. R. Cates, made November 14th, 1921.

Terms of sale, one-half cash, remainder December 1st, 1922. Deferred payment to bear interest from date of sale and secured by note; title retained until full purchase money is paid. This May 6th, 1922. A. A. Burch, Commissioner.

FROM BALTIMORE SUN AND WILSON TIMES 5 19 22. Citizens Buy Warehouse For Independent Auctions.

Danville, Va., May 19.—Declaring for the "open shop" principle, a group of citizens of South Boston have purchased Independent Warehouse which was recently sold at auction, and have announced that auction sales will be conducted in it during the coming season.

This will destroy the "100 percent pool" arrangement which was seen when the Tobacco Growers' Association leased all warehouses except the Independent, which was closed, it is said. The building brought $83,000. It is reliably understood that the Imperial Tobacco Company, which has a plant at South Boston, became greatly concerned over the prospect of no auction sales, and threatened to withdraw from the local field. The action taken by the citizens in buying in the warehouse is said to have had conciliatory effect. The motive in obtaining the warehouse is said to have been for the purpose of giving growers who have got signed the pooling agreement an opportunity to sell at auction there, instead of coming to Danville.

FACTS AS TO THE BURLEY SALES.

Dr. Clarence Poe is sending out the following excerpt received from Dean Thomas Cooper of the Kentucky Agricultural college and experiment station from an official announcement by the state commissioner of agriculture of Kentucky: Tobacco sold by the Burley Co-operative Tobacco Marketing association brought an average of $29 A HUNDRED POUNDS as compared with an average of $21.25 FOR TOBACCO SOLD INDEPENDENTLY, according to an announcement made here today by W. C. Hanna, commissioner of agriculture.

Tobacco sold by the co-operative association up to March 1 totaled 20,375,455 pounds while brought $5,955,961.54; while the tobacco sold independently amounted to 59,827,043 pounds, the sale value of which was $10,588,579.16. Since March 1 approximately 40,000,000 pounds of the association tobacco have been marketed, according to Commissioner Hanna, at prices far above those received for tobacco sold independently.

"I notice," writes Dr. Poe, "that the gentlemen who are fighting the co-operative marketing are spending a lot of money advertising the fact that a certain Mr. Oetinger, who formerly lived in North Carolina and is now in Kentucky is not at all pleased with co-operative marketing. "Now it just happens that Mr. Oetinger is not very widely known in North Carolina and there is nothing to indicate that his views may not be highly colored by his personal prejudices or by business affiliations unfavorable to co-operative marketing. On the other hand, Dean Thomas

Cooper of the Kentucky Agricultural college and experiment station and Hon. W. C. Hanna, state commissioner of agriculture, are men known not only in Kentucky but all over America for ability, patriotism, and for carefulness and accuracy in all their statements.

"The gentlemen who are fighting co-operative marketing ought not to be so much annoyed because the farmers of North Carolina prefer to accept definite and official statements made by such outstanding authorities in preference to the unsupported criticisms in an advertisement paid for by interests fighting co-operative marketing."

We have seen Mr. Oetinger's statement, which is a positive enough contention that the co-operative enterprise in the burley districts is a failure and is unsatisfactory. On the other hand, in addition to the testimony of Dr. Cooper and Mr. Hanna, THERE IS THE UNDOUBTED FACT THAT CHECKS AGGREGATING NEARLY TEN MILLION DOLLARS WERE DELIVERED TO THE GROWERS SATURDAY, and that the distribution of these checks was made a festive occasion in the tobacco centers, with speakers of note, band concerts; at one place, dinner and luncheon served by the King's daughters; free burgo for the farmers and their families at another town—the dictionary advises that burgo is a sort of oatmeal pudding. From Lexington comes word that the monthly report of Commissioner of Agriculture Hanna, mentioned above, issued last week, was in the nature of a bombshell under the opponents of the association. We believe that Mr. Oetinger's unfavorable observations were issued prior to this report.—Greensboro News.

I hereby announce myself as candidate for the nomination for Register of Deeds subject to the democratic primary. My record as a worker for the party for the past thirty years is well known and I will appreciate the support of my friends. O. D. BAILEY.

THE DAWN IS BREAKING

With chapters being issued almost daily, the creditable in the southern country, where a kind North Carolina sunshine is waiting to kiss the bloom into the ripening peaches; with the mountain region around Asheville preparing to market snap beans in Florida after the growing season in the hot country has ended and vines have withered; with hay manufacturers beginning to close their doors because their best customers—the farmer, has learned to grow his own feedstuff on his own land. With Governor Morrison's "Open Shop" campaign making rapid inroads into the obsolete one-crop system on North Carolina farms, the Old North State is assuming an economic independence that has long been the dream of the great men who had the welfare of the Commonwealth at heart.

In the years to come North Carolina farmers are going to drive their corn to market in the fat sides of succulent porkers. The fields of snowy cotton are going to be replaced by sufficient greens and livestock to feed the farmer and the urban communities dependent upon him for their livelihood. Tobacco and the fleecy staple will be cultivated only as a side line and a money crop, and only in quantities that will assure to the grower a year in upon his investment and his poor: Millions of dollars that now go into the pockets of the people in the North and West in order that North Carolinians may have the necessities of life will be retained at home to fatten the pocketbook the planter and to give his womenfolk some of the ease to which they are entitled.

The dawn of the new day is already creeping through the clouds of despondency. The farmer is no longer shackled with the fetters of his own forgone. With the finest climate and soil under the canopy of heaven as his heritage, he is going to convert his farm into a garden and watch his cattle browsing one thousand hills. Yet a few years, and North Carolina will be self sufficient under her self, and able to lend a helping hand to those poor fellow creatures whom the vicissitudes of life have forced to cast their lot under a less benign environment. The voice of wisdom is penetrating into the far palace and the people are heeding the call.

Surely the Creator reached the acme of His endeavor when He spread North Carolina across the hills and dales—when He dressed the mountain slopes with forests; when He gave up the piedmont, the sandhills, the grain country and the rich valleys in the hills, watered by many living streams with power sufficient to turn the wheels of commerce for a Nation. Surely there is no fairer region in all the world than this, or one more prodigal in its fruiting. A little human wisdom injected into the labor of the day—to break away from the old order and to embrace the new—will make NORTH CAROLINA blossom like a green bay tree and lay her bounty at the feet of the toiler.—Charlotte Observer.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR TOBACCO

The Merchants Journal and Commerce official organ of the merchants of the south, believes that those merchants doing business in the tobacco regions have a good fall's business to look forward to. The Journal ascribes the bright outlook to the co-operative marketing plan, which it says, has been successfully tried out in the burley belt, and will be equally as successful to the bright leaf belt. The Journal's remarks on the outlook for this year's crop follows: "It is probable that very few merchants have given much attention to the activities of the tobacco pools but, close investigation shows that they are meeting with gratifying success which means so much for the prosperity of the tobacco section and of course the prosperity of the merchants located therein.

The Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative association reports the 1921 crop at 160-million pounds, the highest since 1908, and 90 percent of it controlled by the association. Their marketing season has been very successful, heavy sales at satisfactory prices recently having been made and little difficulty was experienced in financing this enterprise. In Virginia and the Carolinas the Tri-State Tobacco Growers association has signed up 85 percent of the planter crop five years contract has been making a survey of the tobacco growing season of the three states. Success in this section seems to be practically assured.

"There are also movements to organize the tobacco growers in Connecticut and Wisconsin, and even on the Pacific coast articles of incorporation have been filed by the Associated Tobacco Growers.

A survey of conditions shows that the leaf market during the last few weeks has shown gradual improvement, and large purchases have been made by the big manufacturers which no doubt will be followed later on by the smaller ones. While there has been talk of curtailment of the crop in Connecticut preparations have gone forward for large production in the south which will no doubt prove profitable to the growers due to the arrangements for the marketing which have already been completed with a degree of co-operation and efficiency heretofore unknown.

"Considering the proposition from every angle we believe that those merchants situated in the tobacco growing section of the south can count on prosperity due to their principal crop this fall."—Durham Herald.

MEETING AT GRACE CHURCH.

There will begin a series of meetings in Grace church on next Sunday evening. Services at 7:30 p. m. each day. Rev. J. W. Fitzgerald, former pastor, now a missionary in Cuba, will do the preaching. All are invited.

FIRE INSURANCE more important now than ever. Could you replace your home without embarrassment? You can muster up a few dollars for the premium. Get right. See SATTERFIELD. Do It Now.

MACHINES NOW DIGGING COAL

Inventions Have Wrought Great Changes in the Methods of Bringing "Black Diamonds" to Surface.

With the rapid development of labor-saving methods, the coal miner, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine, is being transformed into a keen-eyed operator of a powerful machine which not only mines and loads the coal, but does it in a safer and more economical manner; safer, because the coal is broken down without the use of explosives which tend to shatter the roof and make it dangerous; and more economical, because it produces more lump coal and fewer fines, and does it more rapidly.

One machine developed for this work consists of an undercutting frame with cutter chain and a shearing frame on each side of the machine. In the undercutting frame is a conveyor. There is provided a powerful rim which breaks down the coal onto the conveyor. This rim can be directed at any height of the coal face. The machine is mounted in a pan and fed forward by means of a steel rope. When the cut has been made, the machine is pulled back in the pan by means of a rope; then this rope is hooked over a sheave on the forward side of the machine and the eye fastened to a jack at the face of the opposite rib. By this means the machine is pulled sideways the width of the cut. This requires about three minutes. The machine is then ready to take another cut.

The machine can be used in combination with a movable storage hopper provided with a loading conveyor. By this system the machine operates continuously during the time the loaded mine car is being removed and replaced by an empty one.

NEW YORKERS' LATEST SLANG

Word, "Quaint" Has Found Much Favor Among Those Who Affect The Artistic Life.

"Quaint" is the latest word of the world that must have a new and uncommon adjective. It has quite unmoderated "amusing" in the slang of the studios and among those who affect the artistic life. The dictionary meaning of the word—"combining an antique appearance with a pleasing quality, fancifulness, or quaintness"—has been quite submerged in the slang usage for its use. When the author's daughter in "The Tavern" calls to the "quaint" man I ever knew, she did not mean what the dictionary says. The word means she was admiring the covers of deduction. But the "latest" word had been worked into the speech and that was the desired thing. The tone always used in connection with "quaint" is patronizing. Whether it is applied to a human being, a picture, or what not, the user invariably tries to give the impression that the object thus passed upon could have been done ever so much better if he, or she, had had a hand in making it. To be "quaint" nowadays is to be ever so slightly damned.—New York Herald.

Human Factor Counts.

Lord Teignmouth, in a letter to the London Times, writes: "In the controversy between the advocates of battle or surface ships and admirals of the submarine, one factor, and that a very important one, has been altogether ignored—namely, the human factor. Ships are built to carry human beings; and, as far as present statistics enable one to judge, no submarine vessel has yet been constructed in which men can live for more than a few weeks, continuously, without deteriorating mentally and physically, owing to the abnormal conditions prevailing on board. Man is an adaptable creature, and possibly, in the course of a century or so, a race of human beings may be evolved which can exist comfortably, without fresh air, exercise or change of scene. In the meantime, surface ships will be voted the most habitable. Doctor Johnson must surely have had a U-boat in mind when he declared that being in a ship is being in jail, with the chance of being drowned."

Fur Industry.

Up to within a century of the present time, raw furs were one of the most important products of this country, commercially speaking. Immense quantities of them were exported to Europe, where they were dressed, dyed and manufactured into garments. This natural resource has been largely destroyed by the killing off of our fur-bearing animals. At the present time we are largely dependent upon foreign countries for supplies of