

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH TO CONDUCT TONSIL AND ADENOID CLINIC FOR PERSON CO.

Through the Bureau of Medical Inspection of schools, it was arranged to have a trained school nurse, in Person County for the purpose of making a free medical inspection of every school child, which consisted of testing their vision, hearing, teeth, tonsils and adenoids. During the months of November, December and a portion of January Miss Ramie E. Williams, State Board of Health school nurse, visited most every school in the county and made a thorough medical inspection of each school child. It was found that quite a large number had bad tonsils and adenoids some few with defective vision and hearing also a small percentage with defective teeth, but, due to the fact that through County Supt. Beam's effort, the State Board of Health placed a dentist in the county some time ago and he did a great work for the children of Person County, having saved a large number of their permanent teeth. This work being done absolutely free of charge, to the county, and individuals.

The work of the State Board of Health, not only consist in the detection of physical defects in school children, but also in the correction of remediable physical defects in children for very little good would result from going about telling parents of their children's physical defects and offer no way for them to be corrected for in the majority of cases the parent knows the defect is present but fails to have it corrected for lack of convenient facilities and specialist near by. The State Board of Health offers a plan by which school children between the ages 6-12 inclusive, who are suffering from diseased tonsils and adenoids, may receive treatment in an emergency hospital, including operation by one of the states best ear, eye, nose and throat specialist all for the nominal bill of $12.50 or absolutely free of charge, in needy cases. The above fee is charged to defray the actual cost of the clinic.

This temporary hospital, will be conducted at Roxboro, beginning Tuesday, morning July 18th and continuing for four days. Our equipment, consist of a complete, operating room outfit, etherizing room, 25 beds, linen blankets, hot water bottles and all other modern convenience. A corps of the states most competent nurses will be there to care for the children. After having tonsils removed the children will have to remain one night in the hospital being allowed to return home the following day. To allow diseased tonsils to remain untreated, impairs the child's health, until in later life it will have produced some incurable defect or other permanent defects. Children who are suffering from diseased tonsils and adenoids usually present one or more of the following symptoms, general malaise or listlessness, underweight, at times, sometimes full in their cheeks at school, frequently having sore throats, fever, cough, their mouths, smother at night, often times headaches, weak eyes, itching and stinging ears which if on times result in deafness.

Now parents will you willfully deny your children the right to develop into a healthy citizen of your state by neglecting their health? When this opportunity is placed at your door, with geographical and financial reach of every citizen in Person County, this opportunity only comes to your county once every three years, this being the first time it has ever been to Person County, however the State Board of Health has successfully conducted these clinics in a large number of counties over the state, and a total number of 4000 school children have been successfully operated on by the above plan.

Every parent whose children were found to be suffering from diseased tonsils and adenoids, when the inspection was made in the winter, will be communicated with about the clinic, and those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity may return the enclosed postal which they will receive later to Miss Williams, the County nurse, Roxboro, N. C. or either give their name and address to Mr. or Mrs. J. A. Beam County Supt. of schools and Welfare officer, Prof. J. A. Beam, County Supt. of schools, and Dr. Bradsher, County Health officer, are in hearty co-operation and sympathy with this work, and welcome it to Person County.

We have too, the co-operation of the teachers, and other physicians of Person County.

SELL POULTRY TO CONSUMER

Specialists Believe It to Be Most Profitable Method of Disposing of Best Fowls.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There are three general ways of selling poultry—direct to the consumer, direct to the retailer, or to commission merchants for selling on the open market. Selling direct to the consumer is believed by poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture to be the most profitable method of disposing of high-grade goods, for the charges of the middlemen are eliminated. Very often the producer is situated so that he can build up a retail trade among the families of a neighboring town or city, delivering his goods once or twice a week, or oftener if desired. In this way he can obtain a substantial increase over prices paid in the open market. Especially is this true in the case of strictly fresh eggs. Often it is possible to find customers in a town or city within reasonable hauling distance; taking eggs and poultry to them at regular intervals. Hotels, restaurants and clubs are good customers which can be supplied in this way by contract.

Often there are grocery and provision dealers catering to a select trade to whom the producer can sell regular supplies of eggs and poultry. Of course, the simplest way to sell produce is through the commission merchant. It does away with expense and trouble of private trades, but the returns usually are not so large, except when dealing with certain commission houses that have built up a fine trade along certain lines. The Department of Agriculture has several bulletins covering the subject of marketing poultry. Farmers' Bulletin 530, Shipping Eggs by Parcel Post, may be had free upon application to the division of publications, Farmers' Bulletin 728, Hints to Poultry Raisers, 5 cents; Department Bulletin 561, Feed Cost of Egg Production, price 10 cents, may be ordered of the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington.

BOWEL TROUBLE IN POULTRY

One Good Way to Prevent Ailments Is Not to Feed Anything Solid for Seventy-Two Hours.

To prevent white diarrhea and bowel trouble, chicks should not be fed any solid feeds for at least 72 hours after hatching, says Harry Emberton, head of the poultry department of Oklahoma A. and M. college. "During this period, however, they should receive sour, skim milk when taken from the incubator, and this should be kept before them all the time. In addition to the milk they should receive some fine sand which acts as a grit."

When beginning to feed solid feeds, feeding should be little and often. A commercial chick feed scattered in a finely cut litter accompanied with some rolled oats or Johnny cake or a mixture of these feeds with hard-boiled eggs makes a very good feed for starting young chicks. Care should be taken not to overfeed them.

Bumble Foot Remedy

This trouble is an abscess on the bottom of the foot caused by a splinter in the foot or jumping off a high roost. If the roosts are at fault they should be remedied.

Tie a cord tightly around the leg above the foot to control the flow of blood. Open the abscess and thoroughly clean out the core. Disinfect in a dilute solution of tincture of iodine, after which apply a generous dressing of carbolic vaseline and bandage. In two days repeat the dressing of iodine and carbolic vaseline.

WHEAT HALTED TRAINS

Locusts, are causing immense damage to crops in Spain, and governmental measures have proved insufficient to stop the plague; it was reported in dispatches from La Carolina, Saragossa and Huesca, three principal agricultural sections of Spain. The plague is much more extensive than last year.

A mail train in the La Carolina region was stopped several times because of the thickness of the insects on the tracks, making them so greasy the train wheels were unable to grip the rails.

REST FOR DUTCH WINDMILLS

Wings of windmills, which seem such an essential part of Holland, apparently are doomed to come to a standstill, or to continue in action only in the case of the smaller individually-owned mills. General application of the eight-hour law makes it unprofitable for the mill owners to wait for favorable breezes, so they are about to install petroleum motors, according to reports in Dutch papers.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

A pitiful sight to see our Baptist preacher doing things that a worldly man should not do. The Bible says that we shall work hard and live by the sweat of the brow, and that is what I have not been around begging the people in the community to give me Hams and hens. Everything that is done in secret shall be proclaimed upon the housetop.

The Bible says there is no respect of persons with God, and why is it that man should? When our school at High View was badly in need of a stove and bucket, and the school board was asked to furnish them, and they would not; and in order to get them the school had to have a box party to make up money to buy them. And the teacher over there only gets $50.00 a month, and at Bethel Hill High School they get from $100 to $225.00 a month. And they spoke against us having a good road down in this part of the township. And they say we are ignorant down in this part of the township. If we are, it is your duty to help us instead of trying to pull us down. The Bible commands you to help the poor and needy in their afflictions.—W. W. WILEY.

HON. F. S. SPRULL SPEAKS ON CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING.

The Rocky Mount Tobacco Board of Trade in a recent meeting heartily endorsed plans for keeping tobacco warehouses open this season and adopted resolutions to that effect. The principal address on the subject was delivered by Hon. F. S. Sprull, who followed several prominent men favoring the open market plan. The following clipping was taken from the Rocky Mount Telegram: The first speech of the meeting was made by Hon. F. S. Sprull, prominent attorney of this city, who acted as Chairman and in preliminary remarks stressed the importance of the matter before the meeting. Mr. Sprull stated that he did not know enough about co-operative marketing to give a concrete opinion and pointed out that what he would have to say would deal only with the machinery of the association and not the fundamentals of co-operative marketing. He then began a discussion of the contract which growers who became members of the association are required to sign, and discussed the legal phases and objections which a study of the contract had revealed to him, and of which he said ought to appeal to every business man of sense. Under the terms of the contract, he declared, those who sign commit themselves to serfdom for five years to an invisible thing which has no capital and which exist only in the mind and that all funds which the invisible thing borrowed would be preferred claims against its members. Mr. Sprull took up specifically Sections 7, 8, 9, 16 and 18 of the co-operative contract, declaring that the association may handle members' tobacco as it sees fit, that the tobacco loses its identity and goes out from the grower's control absolutely. The speaker also declared that the association, "this same nebulous thing which has no capital, might sell the growers tobacco within or without the United States, may manufacture it or put it through any process with or without the approval of the members upon any such terms as it thinks most profitable for the growers as well as the public. The speaker dwelt upon the property rights as guaranteed by the Constitution and declared that the association took away all such rights. Stressing the financial responsibility of the growers who joined the association and the obligations which were placed upon his tobacco in the pool, Mr. Sprull declared that the man who endorses notes indiscriminately is a wise man compared to the one who to the organization gives the right to use it in borrowing money as its own to pay some man in Pitt county or some where else his proportionate share. The speaker declared that Sec. 16 delivered the grower body and soul to the association. "This atmosphere, fictitious, uncertain organization." While this section purports to authorize the association to build or buy warehouses, re-drying plants, etc., the speaker declared that not a word of it related to the caption but that the section merely gave the association full power of attorney for the grower and the right to use his tobacco as it sees fit. The final section with which the speaker dealt provided means for enforcing the contract. He stated that if the grower delivered his tobacco to the association for two years and then could not deliver the third five cents a pound was taken off the tobacco that he had already delivered to cover what had been delivered and what it was estimated should have been delivered in the third year. He pointed out that the contract provided that the grower if any suit or court action should come up regarding the delivery of tobacco, the grower is bound to pay the association all costs of the litigation, the lawyer's costs on both sides while the bill is made up by the other fellow who has the tobacco to draw from. Before concluding his talk with a summary of what the tobacco market meant to the city and how it has built up the community, Mr. Sprull advised the farmers against signing any such "one-sided, unjust contract."
