SEND HIM TO PERSON COUNTY

Brotler Cook of The Uplift is worried over the fact that the Cabarrus men who direct the rural school interests are asleep on the job. He says:

"The men, who direct the rural school interest of Cabarrus county, are elegant, christian gentlemen of recognized business ability. They have as it appears to the public, permitted the cause to be largely directed by the executive officer immediately in charge. He, too, is a hightoned, christian gentleman; a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and worthily wears the medal for the best orator in his day at that great institution. It is, therefore, safe to presume that he is entirely competent for the leadership—but an efficiency in administration, measured by the achievement in other counties, has yet to be manifested or demonstrated. Yet in the face of all these hopeful qualities of mind and heart in the directorate of the rural schools, we are compelled to face the fact that our school progress does not compare favorably with that of a single county in the state, in a class with Cabarrus.

There is a reason for this. What is it?"

Sure, there is a reason, they simply have not caught the spirit. Take our advice and send the committee-men and the superintendent to Roxboro and let our superintendent, Rev. J. A. Beam, take them in his sedan and show them the high schools in this good County. Let them see what a county, with less than twenty thousand people, is doing educationally and we will wager a fat Person county opossum they will return with a different feeling. No-one can spend a day with Supt. Beam and not catch this spirit.

A gentleman, more or less interested, being a candidate, suggested to me this morning that he thought it might be wise to advertise the fact that there will be an election held in this County on November 7th, for no one seems to realize it. It is true, only three weeks off and yet, we have never seen as little interest in an election as there is in this section this year. But really, why bother with politics when tobacco is selling so high, for usually it is only the politician who benefits by an election.
