

MEDICAL SCHOOL PLAN LAUNCHED.

University and Trinity College to Combine in Scheme.

GOV. MORRISON ACCEPTS PLAN.

Wake Forest and Davidson Colleges
Probably Will be Invited to Join in Undertaking.

Raleigh, Dec. 19.—The medical school committee of North Carolina tonight voted its approval to a proposal laid before it by Dr. W. P. Few, president of Trinity college, by which the University of North Carolina and Trinity college may establish and maintain jointly a medical school and hospital at Durham. Other institutions, notably Wake Forest and Davidson college, will be invited to join in the medical school and share in its control.

The approval of the hospital committee will be laid before the meeting of the board of trustees of the university in session in the office of the governor tomorrow at noon, and Dr. H. W. Chase, president of the University of North Carolina, and a member of the hospital committee will offer a resolution to accept the proposal of Trinity college and to appoint a committee to work out the details with a similar committee from Trinity college.

The proposal of Dr. Few, laid before the committee at the governor's mansion tonight, contemplates the expenditure of eight million dollars in the hospital and the medical school, million each for the University and Trinity, a million dollars from each source will be used as a building fund, according to plans. Trinity proposes to endow the institution with $2,000,000, and the state, for the University of North Carolina, will guarantee an appropriation to the institution equivalent to the income from three million dollars.

"Details of the proposal will have to be worked out," said Governor Morrison, who made public the action of the committee late tonight. "The committee accept this proposal of Dr. Few in principle, and will recommend its acceptance on the part of the university trustees. I regard this as a great forward step."

The governor expressed his highest approval of the proposal. He was joined by Dr. H. W. Chase, who declared the proposed combination represents a movement unique in the history of medical institutions in this country.

"It is in all the line of educational endeavor unique," he added.

As a direct result of the agreement to accept as far as the hospital committee can accept the proposal of Dr. Few, the committee determined tonight to make no report whatever on the location of the proposed hospital for the University of North Carolina, which until Dr. Few's proposal was the principal matter before the committee and the trustees.

CHRISTMAS TREE

AT LONGHURST.

The Methodist Sunday School at Longhurst gave the children a Christmas tree last Friday night. It was a beautiful tree, costing about $75, and all of the children of the school were made happy. Old Santa did not forget the pastor, Rev. S. J. Starnes.

MR. HIGGINS HURT.

Mr. Higgins, who has charge of the reconstruction of the line for the Roxboro Light & Power Co., was painfully hurt on last Thursday evening when a pole fell on him. It was feared there might be serious results from the injury, as the pole was about 40 feet long, and he received the entire weight from the pole across his breast. He was carried to Hotel Jones and physicians summoned, but it was found there was no internal injury. Mr. Higgins is able to be out, but was right badly lamed up.

MR. M. M. FEATHERSTON.

Mr. M. M. Featherston, our beloved brother, was born near McGibbes mill, Person County, Oct. 30th, 1845, and died Nov. 1st, 1922, with heart trouble, making his stay on earth 77 years and 2 days. Between these dates he the history of his life: An obedient, helpful brother to his brothers and sisters. He took a father's place with them. He was a young man when he placed his hand in God's hand, and he never withdrew it. Only those of us who saw his beautiful life in our home can know the perfection of his patience and faith. He served in the civil war and always loved to talk of the war. Brother Munch was stricken with heart trouble about 2 years ago, but he was always hopeful and looked forward to the time when he could take up life's duties again. Being deprived of attending public worship seemed his greatest cross. But his interest in his church never abated, and he loved his Preacher and always loved to have him come to see him. So unselfish was this dear brother. And a light to our home. His personality was so true, so filled with the ineffable touch of sympathy and understanding that gave an acquaintance the unspoken privilege of being oneself without disguise.

Brother, we will cherish your memory as we loved your life and your sweet influence will continue to guide us upward and onward to that peaceful haven where we know you are resting at last. He was laid to rest in the family burying ground. Our home is shrouded in gloom but over it hangs God's rainbow of promise "I'll never leave thee nor forsake thee."—Sister.

GARDEN SOILS NEED HUMUS

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 27.—"A fertile soil is the basis of a good garden," says Frank E. McCall, garden specialist of the North Carolina Extension Service. One of the best ways to build up this fertility is by adding humus or organic matter to the soil.

Mr. McCall finds that the lack of farm animals in the State causes a decided shortage of barnyard manure and for that reason leaves or woods-mold should be used. A good idea for the prospective gardener would be to gather the fallen leaves, place them in piles and permit them to decay. A better compost is formed when the leaves are soil. A combination that Mr. McCall has found quite effective can be made up of five parts of leaves, one part of manure, and one part of soil. The gardener should allow this mixture to stand for a season and then work it into the soil. Not only will this compost add the necessary humus but it will also add some other fertilizing elements as well. When this organic matter has been added to the soil, larger amounts of fertilizers can be used with profit.

MORE ABOUT THE OLD PAPERS.

Mr. H. T. Clayton, one of our friendly subscribers, said this old paper made him think of old times. He says: At this time I had just stopped going to school to Mr. T. C. Brooks and was staying with Mr. D. Y. Cooper. I was having a good time, but did not realize it. At that time there was but one buggy to be seen at Mill Creek, and that was owned by Mr. T. H. Street. I bought one for my father, Mr. S. A. Clayton. A buggy at this time meant much more than an automobile today. Yes, tobacco was selling well at that time. While I was seeing a good time then I have seen pretty tough times since, but I want my last days to be the best of all.—H. T. Clayton.

ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF BIGAMY.

One giving his name as B. C. Lee came to this County about four months ago and married a widow, Mrs. Dixon. Last week Sheriff Long received a warrant from North Wilkesboro asking him to arrest Lee, as it was stated in Wilkesboro that he was living here with a second wife. The letter stated that Lee had a wife and 5 children living at that place. Sheriff Long took Lee in charge until the authorities came for him.

SOCIETY NEWS.

Mrs. Edwin Eberman was a charming hostess to the Review club on Thursday afternoon. Despite the rainy weather nearly the entire membership was present. Holly and mistletoe gave a Christmas air to the rooms, which with ferns and other plants were used in adornment. The business discussion dispensed with the minutes were read, and roll call given, which was responded to with peculiar customs of the Chinese, whose country was the subject for the lesson study. Mrs. B. G. Clayton led the hour's study; and at the close of the program Mrs. T. C. Bradsher read Coleridge's "Kublai Khan." A delightful salad course was served the members, who were Messdames T. C. Brooks, James Burrows, T. C. Bradsher, B. G. Clayton, Otis Wilkerson, T. W. Pass, R. H. Oakley, A. S. Warren, R. L. Wilburn, Lillian Foreman, S. G. Winstead and H. L. Crowell and B. C. Thompson.

Mrs. T. C. Bradsher entertained the members of the T. and N. club on Tuesday evening. Holiday decorations were used in the living room and hall, in the latter a beautifully decorated Christmas tree was the center of attraction. The members spent about an hour in fancy work of all kinds, and then enjoyed a word building contest, the result of which Miss Ethel Newton was given the prize for having finished in the given time. A piece of hand work was presented to her by the hostess. Following this the guests were served a salad course and coffee by Mrs. Bradsher, assisted by Mrs. R. M. Spencer. At this time came the most important and most anticipated part of the program, a visit to the tree. The members were invited into the hall, and Mrs. Otis Wilkerson presented to each as her name was called, a gift and miniature bag of "goodies." Mrs. Wilkerson presented to the hostess a beautiful gift box of stationery, from the "Club Family," which came as a token of her birthday, which fell on this date. The members enjoying this evening were Messdames B. G. Clayton, R. M. Spencer, E. U. Parker, Otis Wilkerson, B. K. Barnett, Misses, Mollie Strum, Bertha and Annie Clayton, Ethel, Ruth and Kate Newton, Clara Edwards, Katie Lee Matthews.

Miss Elizabeth Noell was hostess to the Bridge Club on Wednesday afternoon. The house was beautifully decorated with pink carnations, ruying cedar and holly. The Christmas idea was carried out with the valley cards. The hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. W. Noell, served a delightful ice course with cake and after dinner coffee. Those present were Messdames T. C. Markham of Durham, J. A. Long, M. R. Long, A. M. Burns, R. W. Stephens, S. A. Jones, W. S. Clary, Jr., J. J. Winstead and Misses Lucile Pass, Leggett Thompson and Isabelle deVlaming.

The regular meeting of the Research Club met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. A. Long. The study for the afternoon was The Holy Land, led by Mrs. S. G. Winstead. Then Mrs. A. S. deVlaming read several selections. At the close of the study the hostess served a salad course with coffee to the following members: Messdames T. E. Austin, W. C. Bullock, A. M. Burns, B. G. Clayton, E. P. Dunlap, J. B. Hurley, W. T. Pass, W. O. Sample, R. L. Wilburn, J. J. Winstead and S. G. Winstead.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Noell entertained Wednesday night to a few friends. The house was very attractive with carnations and Holly. Four tables were placed for the game, bridge. After several progressions the hostess, assisted by her daughters, served a salad course with coffee and whipped cream, then ice cream, cake and stuffed dates to the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Long, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Long, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Burns, Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Long of Greensboro, Mrs. T. C. Markham of Durham, Mrs. S. A. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Clary, Jr., Dr. E. J. Tucker and Mr. A. S. deVlaming.

He's teaching her arithmetic. He said it was his mission. He kissed her once, he kissed her twice, And said, "Now that' addition.

And as he added smack by smack In silent satisfaction She sweetly gave him kisses back And said, "Now that's subtraction.

Then he kissed her, and she kissed him Without an explanation. Then both smiled and said "Now, that's multiplication."

But dad appeared upon the scene And made a quick decision. He kicked the lad three blocks away And said "Now that's division."

UNION MEETING POSTPONED.

We regret very much that it has become necessary to postpone the Union Meeting, but owing to much "Flu" we believe it to be wise to do so. If favorable we will have the 5th Sunday in April at Bethel Hill.
