-THAT STATION AGAIN.

Like Banquo's ghost, the depot proposition will not down. Be it said to the credit of the Norfolk & Western Railway Company the reason we have no creditable station is through no fault of theirs, for they have sent different delegations here, telling us they were ready and willing to build a station when the citizens of Roxboro get together and decide on where they want it. But, there are too many factions here, too many wanting it at the place where they will derive the most benefit—some from land values and some from other causes.

The first location proposed was known as the Barnett crossing. To make this site available the town had to guarantee to spend something like fifteen or twenty thousand dollars. The second, known as the Burch crossing, was out of the question, as it was nearly a half mile beyond the town limits, with no sidewalks and only a light sand clay road. To make this available, it would cost the town something like forty thousand dollars, and this the town would never agree to. The third, and the most desirable of any of the changes, was known as the Winstead-Sergeant offer. This, in many respects was on ideal location, but the cost to the Railway Company in making it available was prohibitive. These in a nut shell are the sites, new, which the town is divided on.

Many of us think and contend that the present site is at or near the present location. No one will benefit financially by the adoption of this site, but the town will not be called on to lay any streets or sidewalks. The Railway Company has decided it has plenty of land at this point to build a desirable station, in fact we believe if the town would get together and ask the Company to use this site we would see work begun on the station in a very short while. We have been told, by pretty good authority, that the Company will build a new brick station, with sidewalks, space so that one can enter or leave from any train without inconvenience of any kind of weather, with concrete walk ways, and by moving the freight station a little further south they will have considerable more truckage and everything can be made attractive and comfortable for patrons of the station.

In another article in this issue is a notice from the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce calling for a mass meeting on next Monday night, July 9th, for the purpose of threshing out this question. Let the citizens come together and finally decide this matter, and then if the majority says move the station to Jalong, to Jalong let it go. But let us settle it, and then put it up to the Railway Company.

HIGHWAY LUNCHEON.

The highway luncheon, given last Wednesday by the Chamber of Commerce, complimentary to visitors from Greensboro, Burlington, Virginia and other nearby towns, was a great success. The Roxboro people did themselves proud and everybody went away singing the praises of this good town. On the first page will be found a write up given by Mr. Jones, of the Greensboro News. We are letting Mr. Jones tell it, for, of course, were we to describe it you would expect us to put it on thick, but read Mr. Jones' opinion.

While the luncheon was for the purpose of having our neighbors know us better, it was also intended to stimulate interest in that much advertised six miles of "bad" road in Orange county. We believe the meeting will really result in good, for already the Chamber of Commerce is at work on the project.

Automobile owners are the most liberal tax payers in the country. $12.50 for license tax for a Ford and up to $40.00 for a big six. These tags will bring the State the munificent sum of three million five hundred thousand dollars, while the gasoline tax, three cents a gallon, will produce three million more, and still you rarely hear of an automobile owner kicking about his tax. And then these vehicles are all taxed by the County for County purposes—everything about them taxed save the honkhonk.

Sounds like Cole Blease:
"You ain't nothing but a sneak and common liar." Governor Morrison told W. T. Bost, Greensboro Daily News, correspondent today as the executive showed the newspaper man the door, and ordering him out the governor told the correspondent if "I ever catch you in here again I will have you kicked out."

McAdoo is running strong in the straw vote for presidential nomination, leading the field on the Democratic ticket. As a free-for-all Henry Ford has them all stalled.
