Having assumed the local editorship of The Courier I will greatly appreciate it if you will kindly phone me any news item you may have. If you intend making a trip, or if you have friends visiting you please let me know it, for I want to make the local news worth while and can only do so with your cooperation. Do not think your goings and comings are so important that I ought to get them anyway, for it is impossible for me to keep up with the doings of this hustling town without your aid. Help me out with this department by giving me all of the news.

and I decided to try it, for, as I say, I had tried others for two or more years without any improvement in my health. I soon found the Black-Draught was acting on my liver and easing the terrible pain. "In two or three weeks, I found I could go back to eating. I only weighed 123. Now I weigh 147—eat anything I want to, and by taking Black-Draught I do not suffer."

Scientists See Confirmation of Theories in Discovery of Oldest Dinosaur's Bones in China.

New York.—Discovery of the skull and skeleton of a dinosaur that roamed Asia 5,000,000 years ago has been made by a scientific expedition, officials of the American Museum of Natural History announce. The dinosaur, according to authorities, antedated any species found in the United States. The skull and skeleton were found in central Mongolia, and are said to be of vast importance to paleontologists in confirming the theory that Asia was the source of many immigrant faunas of western North America during the latter part of the age of reptiles and the early part of the age of mammals.

TRUCK "WALKS LIKE A MAN"

German Invents a Footlike Motor for Use in Mountainous Regions.

Washington, D. C.—A motor truck that "walks like a man" has been invented by a German for use in mountainous regions, according to a report received by the commerce department. The truck, which proceeds on four feet and is steered by "an ordinary hand wheel, says the report, has a chassis set over two pairs of footlike runners, which move alternately. It has hauled a load of six to eight tons from five to six miles an hour over rough roads. The truck is equipped with a 25-horsepower engine.

Important to See That Goslings Are Kept Dry

Goslings should not be removed from the nest until the third day after hatching, as it is important to see that they are quite dry, and should be kept warm and dry until they are feathered out. They should not be fed until thirty-six to forty-eight hours old, at the same time be offered a lukewarm drink. Their first few days' feed consists of oatmeal, hard-boiled egg and shorts or bran, thoroughly mixed to a crumbly mass. Lettuce or red clover chopped fine and mixed with the food serves as a tonic and is greatly relished by them. Feed every two or three hours just what they will clean up quickly. After the first few days the egg may be omitted and the food slightly moistened, but never be fed sloppy, sticky, nor too dry; cornmeal may also be added to the mixture. After the first few weeks gradually begin feeding cracked corn and shorts or bran, mixed and moistened as stated above; whole wheat may be added to the above mixture, but a great portion should be grass food.

They should not be allowed to get wet; their water should always be fresh but not cold, and plenty of sand should always be near, though the sand should never be mixed with their food.

Goslings require dry and warm quarters at night, at the same time plenty of ventilation, and their quarters kept clean and sanitary; damp quarters will cause them to become lame. Their sleeping compartment is best when thickly bedded with straw.

After the first week, when the weather is warm and dry, they will grow faster when given free range to roam about, for they enjoy feeding on tender green grass.

If hens are used for incubation they should be kept free from lice by frequently dusting them with a good insect powder.

Shade for Young Stock Is of Great Importance

The importance of shade for young stock should be constantly kept in mind, especially for late hatched chicks which have not had an opportunity to get a good start before the scorching weather sets in.

These chicks must be pushed along without a letup, given every advantage of proper feeding and care. If this is done, if they are supplied with fresh water or milk to drink and the founts are kept sterilized and clean and shade is provided they will, in truth, grow like weeds.

A range in the orchard is the best place in which to start them out, after which they can be transferred to the edge of a field of growing corn, provided colony coops are available, and they should be, if you wish the most economical results in raising the young flock.

But shade is imperative and should not be neglected.

Brooder Pneumonia Is Caused by Common Mold

Brooder pneumonia is caused by a common mold present in the incubator, brooder or in straw; often the egg-producing organs are affected by it, so that a chick hatched from an infected egg has the disease. It affects chicks under four weeks old, they become sleepy, with feathers ruffled and the head drawn down; breathing is labored and the windpipe is patched with the mold spores. The disease usually is not cured once it attacks the chicks, and when a brooder is known to be contaminated it should be fumigated, the old straw removed and fresh litter provided, and the poultry dying from this disease should always be burned.

FOR more than two generations our development and manufacturing men have been in hourly quest of the finest lubricants for every purpose. For twenty years the great field of motor car lubrication has multiplied their experience by an astounding variety of new problems promptly and successfully met.

Your dash choke, for example. So long as you leave it out you pour raw gasoline down your cylinder walls, washing off the oil, leaving surfaces unprotected, diluting the oil in your crank case. Our experience is that it's better to replace the choke promptly, let the motor rest an instant while the "gas" vaporizes, then use the starter again. Don't keep on grinding with the choker out!

Polarine is a prime-quality motor oil developed by long, practical experience to resist dilution. With reasonable care on your part you can trust it for perfect lubrication.
