CO-OP. ASSOCIATION

SUES SIX FOR VIOLATING CONTRACT

All Who Break Contract Will be Prosecuted.

Tobacco Growers Association well, says the local Sord dealer. Goodes and Ellis Bowes. The case coming more intimately acquainted will be heard in Roxboro on the 15th

Mr. Cooper Hall, local counsel for the Association, being interviewed as to the policy of the Association with respect to prosecution of delinquent members, made this statement:

"I am acting rather than talking. The Association intends to prosecute all members who breach their contract, whether white or black, rich or poor, man or woman. The Association regrets the necessity of having to prosecute any of its members, but if they are not men enough to live up to their agreement and solemn obligation and deliver their tobacco to the Association there is no other course to pursue. And the members who have given mortgages or other liens on their tobacco, hoping this will be an exoneration of their obligation and liability to the Association, will not be exempt from prosecution. They agreed in their contract to notify the Association before giving any mortgages and had knowledge that they had pledged their tobacco to the Association for five years, and in the face of this, if they give a mortgage, thereby placing themselves in position where they tobacco, they will, as combeined, he called upon to pay 5c per lb. as liquidated damages. The Association and the loyal members expect me to bring suit where it is necessary, and I shall continue to bring them and prosecute them vigorously until the contract breachers in this county are convinced that what they signed is more than a mere scrap of paper.
