CHRISTMAS

Why do we celebrate Christmas? From the manner in which many celebrate it we would think there was evidently a misunderstanding as to what it signified. Last Sunday night Rev. J. L. Martin, Rector of the Episcopal Church, delivered a most timely sermon on this subject, and very vividly brought out the question.

Christmas, which is the time we celebrate as the birth of Jesus, the greatest gift this old world has ever received. It should be a time of sincere worship—a happy Christmas, not a merry Christmas, but to most of us it simply means a big dinner with loved ones at home. It should be a time when we give thought to our manner of living, take an inventory and see if we are really thankful for the birth of Jesus, if we are willing to do as the Master did, go "about doing good," making the world better for our having lived in it as He did.

On Thursday morning let us see if we can not find some one who had little to make them feel thankful for the joyful day and provide for them. Really, did you ever try this method of bringing joy? Try it, and you will conclude that old saying, "it is more blessed to give than to receive" is literally true.

THE LIMIT

Some time back it was the style for the young girls—and old girls, too, to cut them short at both ends, in fact some cut them so short that when they crossed their legs you could see the dimples in the knee, and we said not a word, simply gave them a look—possibly two, smiled and passed on. Then they tried "knickers," blouse shirt with pants like men wear, and several other styles which were equally as ridiculous, and still, we said not a word. But when it comes to making their toilet in church, why, it simply gets our goat. When the preacher is praying, or delivering his sermon, to see one of these sweet young things pull out her vanity box and proceed to powder her face and arrange her toilet—well, if we were preaching we would quietly tell that young person that we would excuse her and she might retire to the ladies room and complete her toilet.

Honestly, we do not think the young girls mean any disrespect, for they are young and just as pure as the old time mother, but they simply do not think, or it may be they are like most of us, love notoriety. How many of us have done foolish things just to get on the front page, and that maybe is just what they do it for. Anyway, just one word, girls—DON'T, it is silly, if not irreverent.

We were shown plans for the new school building which you are asked to vote seventy five thousand dollars, and if the building compares with the plans we will all feel mighty proud of our high school when it is completed. And, best of all, it is being built with an idea of a County-wide plan, planning to take care of every high school student in the County who may want to come here to a real A1 high school. Vote for the bonds.

We wish for every one a "Happy Christmas, and in the language of May Tim, "God bless us every one."

IN MEMORIAM

Mr. F. L. Woody, better known as Mr. "Mr. Frank" has been called home the world which he helped to beautify.

We, the members of the Berean class of the Bethel Baptist church, do deeply feel the loss and miss the handshake and cheerful smile with which he greeted us on every occasion.

We are at a loss to find words which express our love and admiration for a man who has lived such a beautiful and influential life.

His life was like the flowers which he so dearly loved and worked with, he gathered from them the sunshine and beauty and radiated it to all those with whom he came in contact. His personal appearance and character were like a bright blooming flower of the field. This flower has been plucked but the beauty of its life has made the world sweeter.

However deeply we feel the loss, we bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well.
