SLOT SEAMS. In the small plan at the right I have shown the process of making the slot seams that are used to trim many of the more tailored costumes. To make this kind of seam you will need a stay strip of the material as shown at A. This strip should be cut as long as the seam is to be and 1/2 inch and a half wide. The edges of the seam should be turned back and basted to the stay strip so that there is a narrow opening or slot between them. The stitching as shown at B and C is usually made about three-eighths of an inch back from the edge.

It is always best to press a seam of this kind both before and after it is stitched. READERS:—SUE WYETH BEARS illustrated samples "ALTERING PATTERNS AND FITTING" is free. SHE'll answer your dressmaking problems. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing stamp for envelope.

FAIRY TALES De Fairy Tales and Dreams Ever Come True?

The tiny wards of St. Vincent's orphan asylum for girls at Syracuse, N. Y., declare that they do—if one wishes hard enough and long enough. And they ought to know, for just see what wishing did for them.

Being an orphan doesn't prevent one from wishing, and for a long time these little girls have concentrated on a wish for an automobile. Not an ordinary automobile, but a big sleek limousine with wire wheels and shiny nickled fittings that would glide silently down the boulevard and sweep up the hills with a mighty surge of power.

And then, one day, there appeared at the door of the orphanage, as if by magic, just the car of their dreams. They rubbed their eyes and pinched themselves, but there it stayed with the sun glinting on its nickled fittings. A very rich man made possible the fulfillment of the dreams of those orphan children. He bought a Lincoln Limousine and presented it to the asylum, perhaps in remembrance of the days when he sold newspapers on the streets of Syracuse and dreamed his dreams.

Tom Tacheel says he is going to feed an egg producing ration to his hens this winter and get some of the money being spent for high-priced eggs.

A one-day conference on fertilizers will be held at State College, December 9. A program giving facts found about fertilizers in North Carolina has been arranged.

In three curing houses of Bedford County, 24,000 bushels of sweet potatoes have been stored and are about cured out. Two of the houses are filled to capacity. Some farmers of the county made a yield of 300 bushels per acre of first grade potatoes, reports County Agent E. P. Welch.
