

INTERESTING EXPERIENCES OF DR. AND MRS. DAVIDSON

Continued From Page Two Mountain City, Tenn. where we pitched camp in one corner of the city park which was set aside for tourists. This park is one of nature's beautiful handiworks and contains one of the largest springs that we've ever seen. The water bubbled forth from a mass of rock in the side of a bluff into a natural basin. On the top of the bluff which surrounds two sides of the park is a row of pretty bungalows, and in one of these homes just above us a group of young people lulled us to sleep, singing hymns.

Sunday, Sept. 20th. Our rule generally is not to travel on Sunday, but since we had failed to make our goal, which was Greeneville, Tenn. by Saturday night, in order to spend Sunday with a sister who is teaching there, we decided to run the remaining 60 miles Sunday morning. Due to bad roads and detours, we did not reach our destination until about three o'clock that afternoon. Needless to say our sister was both surprised and delighted to see us. She is teaching in a mission school which is sustained by the U. P. Church. The school is located a few miles out of Greeneville at the foot of the mountains. They have a fine new church, a nice school building, and two nice dormitories. There are about 200 students enrolled in the school and about the same number in the Sunday school. The matrons in the dormitory invited and urged us to come in for the night, but the splendid air and beautiful scenery enticed us to remain out of doors.

Sept. 21st. We arose at 5 a. m. for breakfast in the dormitory, later attending chapel and visiting school until recess time, at which time we took our leave. We bounced over a great stretch of unimproved road and some newly made gravel road until we reached the highway again at Hot Springs, N. C. We crossed the Tennessee, Carolina line right on the crest of a mountain, and it seemed good to get on to the old N. C. highways again. We coasted down into Hot Springs and old R. R. town and here we crossed the French Broad river for the third time that morning and immediately climbed a new mountain road which winds four and one half miles to the top.

Before we reached Marshall, we saw from a distance what we thought were three separate and distinct highways, looking like stair steps, one below the other, but when we arrived we found them to be just one highway—the one we were on, winding down the mountain side. We wended our way over torturous and steep mountain road until we finally reached Asheville "The land of the sky" and here we found a perfectly splendid camp which seemed very near the sky—as it was located on the top of a very high hill in Recreation Park. One of the first things we noticed besides the magnificent scenery was a little sign on the water spicket reading $50.00 fine for wanting water, and that reminds me—we were refused water for our radiator six different times that day.

Sept. 22nd. This was our day of rest. It was such a quiet, peaceful place that we couldn't resist staying over a day here and incidentally, we had the pleasure of enjoying a nice, quiet rain, the only rain we encountered on this trip and by the way this was Asheville's first rain since last May. We thoroughly enjoyed it. If it had not rained, the day would have been hot and sultry.

Sept. 23rd. Sept. 23 was rather uneventful, however it seemed mighty good to be on familiar ground again. The scenery through the mountains was beautiful, the special point of interest was Andrew's Geyser. This geyser was erected at Round knob 26 miles east of Asheville on the eastern slope of the Blue Ridge mountains, in honor of Colonel Alex. D. Andrews of Raleigh, first vice-president of the Southern railway. It throws continuously a great column of water 250 feet into the air and is very unique in its grandeur. The paved roads were fine, but the sand clay were in very poor condition due to the long dry spell.

A pleasing incident of the day was the meeting of Rev. Bradley of the road just this side of Asheville. It seemed pretty good to see an old familiar face from Roxboro. By 5:20 p. m. we reached Salisbury where we stayed for the night.

Sept. 24th. We passed through Thomasville the chair town, High Point, the furniture town and by noon we reached Fayetteville where we had lunch. We felt so near home by this time that we followed all along the way, stopping in Darius to call on friends.

Camera Shy

A rare photograph of Senator George E. Williams, Missouri camera shy representative Washington. A visit with President Coolidge put him in a generous mood and he consented to "watch the birdie" for the photographers. Take a good look—it may not let it happen again.

It was about five o'clock when we left there for the last lap, arriving home about six o'clock with-out having had one bit of trouble on our entire return trip—out even a puncture. It was a grand and glorious feeling to be in good old Roxboro once more.

Pains Very Severe

"I suffered from womanly troubles which grew worse and worse as the months went by," says Mrs. L. H. Cantrell, of R. F. D. 9, Gainesville, Georgia. "I frequently had very severe pains. These were so bad that I was forced to go to bed and stay there. It seemed to me my back would come in two."

CARDUI For Female Troubles

"I taught school for a while, but my health was so bad I would have to stay out sometimes. This went on till I got so bad I didn't know what to do. One day I read about the merits of Cardui, and as I had some friends who had been helped by it, I thought I would try it. I began to get better after I had taken half a bottle. I decided to keep on and give it a thorough trial, and I did. I took in all about 12 bottles and now I am perfectly well. I do not suffer any pain and can do all my housework."
