TEN YEARS HENCE

We have great faith in the good people of this County, for they have the intelligence and the natural advantages to make it one of the foremost counties in the state, and in ten years you will hardly recognize the old section.

Our farmers are learning that they can not depend upon the tobacco crop as their only money crop, and ere long will adopt the more modern ideas. Drive through the County now and you will see very few thoroughbred Jersey or Holstein cows, and only here and there a brood of pure bred chickens, but just watch us in the near future. Ten years from now and it will be the exception to pass a farm home without seeing a large flock of improved chickens running around the hen lot, and in the nearby pasture you will see the famous Jersey or Holstein grazing lazily on pastures green.

Only last week at the Farmers Convention in Raleigh a gentleman from Wisconsin was on the program and among other things he told them about Wisconsin shipping milk to Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Raleigh. The freight on this milk to either of these points is more than it costs our farmers to produce it, and yet we sit still and let this far off state come in and supply what we refuse to produce at a good profit.

It has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of every farmer that he can not make money raising tobacco alone, and it is being hammered into him that he can produce milk and butter, raise chickens and many other side crops at a profit, still leaving him ample time to make his tobacco crop. Possibly he might not be able to plant as many hills of tobacco as has been his wont, but he will not be hurt by that, for we are convinced if the tobacco crop was cut twenty five per cent throughout the south it would bring more money than the present large crops bring.

Dairying is destined to be one of our main stays in farming, and with the chicken and egg industry added you are going to see this section blossom as the rose.

ENTHUSIASM

We are persuaded that man for man, woman for woman, and any other comparison you want to make, Roxboro is the best town in the state, but there is just one place where we fall down, and that is a lack of "enthusiasm." We are too prone to apologize when we should boast. Take two of the best cities in the state, Greensboro and Durham—with apologies to Charlotte and Winston-Salem, and every citizen you meet from these cities are "eternal boosters, and we respect them for their zeal. But they do not have a thing on our good town, we have the same light and power they have.

while, there can be but one way open—the path to success—Wheaton (Minn.) Gazette.

MY CHURCH AND I

My Church is the place where the Word of God is preached, the power of God is felt, the spirit of God is manifested, the love of God is revealed, and the unity of God is perceived.

It is the home of my soul, the altar of my devotion, the hearth of my faith, the center of my affections and the foretaste of heaven.

I have united with it in my solemn covenant, pledging myself to attend its services, to pray for its members, to give to its support, and to obey its laws.

It claims the first place in my heart, the highest place in my mind, the principal place in my activities, and its unity, peace, and progress concern my life in this world and that which is to come.

I owe to it my zeal, my benevolence, and my prayers. When I neglect its services, I injure its good name, I lessen its power, I discourage its members, and I chill my soul.

I have solemnly promised, in the sight of God and men, to advance its interest by my faithful attendance, by reading the Holy Bible, by never neglecting its ordinances, by contributing to its support, by meeting with my fellow-members, by watching over their welfare, and by joining with them in prayer and praise and service; and that promise I this day renew, before God my Father, Christ my Redeemer, and the Holy Spirit my Sanctifier.—Anonymous.

I am wondering if the readers of this article will not be willing to pass it on to others who are not subscribers of The Courier. Many Church members need to read this article.—M. C. ELLERBE.

MUSICAL HOG CALLING NOT A LOST ART

Raleigh, N. C., August 2.—Musical and effective hog calling is not a lost art among the farm folks of North Carolina if the performances of the 52 contestants in this feature event at the State Farmers' Convention last week is a real indication.

Great volumes of sound, punctuated by appealing lower tones and convincing facial expression were used by each of the contestants. So realistic did the callers make their efforts that the 1,500 observers gathered in front of Pullen Hall began to look around apprehensively fearing that perhaps a great herd of swine would come rushing over the campus and sweep them from their feet. It was impossible for the judges to select the three prize winners at the first trial held at midday on Wednesday, July 28, so a second contest was held for the ten selected in the first occasion.

At the second contest, a greater crowd had gathered. The news had gone abroad over Raleigh that there were some real hog callers at the college and the visiting farmers were joined by a great number of town people. The final selection was announced at the evening meeting and J. C. Nichols of Durham was awarded first prize of $25 as the champion caller of the Convention. Second prize of $15 was won by J. H. Sprinkle of Route 7, Winston-Salem and third prize of $10 was awarded to H. G. Bundy of Elizabeth City.

The officials of the convention stated that this contest brought a new note of informality and fun into the convention proceedings and the farmers themselves voted that it must become an annual event. The ladies, not to be neglected in such fun, made a request that, next year, prizes be offered for successful chicken callers. The fund of $50 used as prizes for the contest was donated by the American Limestone Company of Knoxville, Tennessee.
