Mr. J. Y. Humphries of Woodsdale. returned from Durham Saturday with a smile on his face where he had marketed his hogs fed on the selffeeder this year. He, was pleased enough with this years results to try the same thing another year. The man who bought these hogs was so well pleased with the lot that he wanted more of them fed under simflar conditions, for he never had re-ceived such a nice bunch of hogs. These hogs weighed more than Mr. Humphries thought they would weigh. a fact which shows that hogs fed on solid feeds all the time gives a harder and a firmer flesh. Others who have marketed their hogs at the same place were well pleased with the re-

The grain drills are busy on many farms sowing oats and wheat. On a recent visit to the farm of Hon. W. recent visit to the farm of Hon W. A. Warren, Hurdle Mill, R. 2. it was found that he had sowed 18 arres' of wheet. 10 arres of oats, and 10 arres of rre and 4 of barley for cover crops. Mr. Warren was harresting his eern crop and stated that he made 36 bar-rels of corn on 8 arres where he furned under a crop of Lespedeza last fall. He has 10 acres of Lespe-deza sowed last March to turn under this fall for next years corn crop. Mr. Warren believes in making forty to fifty bushels of corn per arre and will sow more Lespedeza seed this upring for corn year after next, While will sow more Lespeders seed this spring for corn sear after next. While he likes Red Clover better than Les-pedera, still be finds that Lespeders, will grow and thrive under more adcerse conditions than Red clover will and in fact, he finds that, it will grow where Red clover will fail. He recards Lespedera as a wonderful soil builder.

Warren has 15 large hogs -Mr. which will be ready for killing as soon as the weather permits and there are two large flocks of Leghorns on the farm to supplement the tash income and thereby help make tobacco a surplus crop. With plenty of good com in the crib, more clover ready to be surned for corn another year, with wheat in the bins and and more coming up for next years supcrops binding the soil together with their coats of green to be returned to the soil next spring for tobacco, with fat hogs in the pens standing around a self feeder and a full crib of corn
