

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

With resources approaching the million dollar mark and deposits of approximately $750,000.00 the First National Bank at Roxboro is making substantial growth and progress. Each year is a witness of its growth and development, and the place of confidence it occupies with a large number of individuals and corporations, who transact their banking through The First National Bank.

Banks are the business barometers of the commercial world. Where one finds a progressive and aggressive financial institution, there you will see a community that reflects the policy of this bank in making its place a better place in which to live and do business. The policy adopted by the officers and directors of the First National Bank, is to constructive co-operation for those movements of the public good, that have for their object the expansion of this trade territory of which Roxboro is the hub.

S. G. Winstead, president, is an attorney who has given up this phase of his career to devote his time to the management of the Winstead estate, which has large interests, both in Roxboro and the surrounding country.

R. A. Burch, 1st vice president, First National Bank, and active in its management, was born and reared in Person County and the principal organizer of the First National Bank, at the time of its inception ten years ago. The First National Bank is the apple of his eye and has been a source of pride to his friends in the remarkable strides this institution has made.

Mr. Burch was formerly in the tobacco business, and knows Person County thoroughly and is a good judge of Commercial paper. Speaking to the Courier, he said, "Roxboro and Person County and all this section of North Carolina have the basic things necessary to growth and development. Let each and every interest put their shoulder to the wheel, and make this area what nature intended it should be, a trading and manufacturing and agricultural mart exceeded by none."

The First National Bank has a splendid location in which to do business and the most modern mechanical and protective devices, that the currency and valuable papers may be kept with absolute protection.

The cashier is Thomas B. Woody, who has filled this responsibility since April 1919. He is on the job continually and along with the other officers, made the First National Bank what it is today—an outstanding institution.

Mr. Woody was formerly Register of Deeds of Person County. He served the people faithfully during his terms of office, which was to run during two terms of two years each, though he resigned in his last term to accept his present position. He is well known throughout Person County and its adjacent territory. He attended the University of North Carolina during the years of 1909 and 13 inclusive.

Mr. Woody is associated with the local Rotary Club and takes a keen interest in civic affairs and country betterment. Speaking to the Courier, we quote him: "Diversification is the thing that means more money to the farmer and a corresponding degree of prosperity. The fertility of the soil and the climatic conditions give an extraordinary opportunity for intensive agricultural development in Person County."

Mr. Woody is a native of Roxboro and has a wide acquaintance within its confinements.

DAVIS DRUG CO.

The Davis Drug Company, the Rexall Store of Roxboro, has a background of almost a third of a century in the drug business, and at all times has held the goodwill of the people of this community. It was established three decades ago by J. D. Morris, but was taken over 14 years ago by E. M. Davis, who has operated it since that time.

Mr. Davis has spent practically all his life in this section, and has 30 years experience in the drug business. He is a graduate of the Maryland College of Pharmacy, and believes in carrying a large and varied stock of the purest of pharmaceutical products. Every prescription is given the personal attention of the management, and prompt and courteous attention is assured by Mr. Davis.

Mr. Davis believes there are great opportunities ahead for Roxboro. "One great need of Roxboro is more industries and manufacturing plants," he declared. "With the addition of new industries, the local payrolls would be increased, and this would insure a large scale of business, contributing materially to the prosperity of the community. Merchants and business men would be enabled to make quicker turnovers and faster sales, adding to the business volume of the entire county."

Mr. Davis has a great faith in the future. Popular with the people of Roxboro, he has built up a large business. The well known Rexall Line carried by his store, is sold throughout the world and is recognized as a standard of quality. Customers may be assured of the best of service and the purest of drugs at this store at all times.

Be generous with your hero worship. Don't lavish it all on yourself.

CENTRAL SERVICE STATION

For a long time the Central Service Station has been catering to the needs of motorists in this section, and by its prompt and efficient way of handling trade, has developed into the largest business of its kind in Person County. J. M. Featherston is manager of this station, and he strives at all times to see that every customer is satisfied. In addition to the Standard and Esso gasolines, they handle Firestone tires and tubes, which are giving an extraordinary sense of satisfaction in length of wear and quality of material. Manufactured by one of the largest rubber firms in the world, this brand is very popular. Wood and coal is also handled.

Mr. Featherston, a native of Roxboro, is thoroughly sold on the value of service, and courteous treatment of patrons. This, together with the splendid location of his filling station, has made it possible to build up the largest business of its kind in this county. Both retail and wholesale.

The president is J. S. Harvey, the vice president J. T. Burch, and secretary-treasurer Mr. Featherston.

Associated actively in the business is L. C. Clark, Jr., who has been in Roxboro for the past four years, coming here from Danville, Va.

Country people may check packages without charge. A rest room is maintained.

Mr. Featherston has a deep and abounding faith in the destiny of Roxboro and Person County. Born and reared here, he has seen and taken a hand in its forward movements during recent years. He believes our progress in the past is paving the way for a vastly bigger and better Roxboro. We are justly proud of the splendid type of business he has built up.

The young married couple were having a disagreement while awaiting lunch at a modest Soho eating-house. The woman was grumbling because they were unable to afford the luxurious restaurants which had been a feature of their honeymoon.

"You can't have a brass band everywhere you go," said the man crossly. "Oh, yes, I can," snapped his wife. "I've got it with me now—on my finger."—Pearson's Weekly.
