

ONLY MEN WHO DRESS WELL ARE MEN WITH "IT"

American Men Must Spruce Up To Win The Hearts Of The Fair Sex. Says Elinor Glyn

By ELINOR GLYN Washington, D. C.—America's young men must spruce up if they would intrigue the interest and win the favor of the modern Twentieth Century Girl, declares Elinor Glyn, authority on "It" and dean of diagnosticians on "Why Girls Fall In Love."

"It" is reflected as much by clothes as by personality," said Madame Glyn. In discoursing upon the shortcomings of America's young men, "Or," expressed in another way, clothes are a reflection of the "It" in one's personality.

"No woman likes a wilted, slouchy man any better than she likes a wilted faded flower. Slouchy dress, slovenly collars, garterless socks—careless attire generally—are the index of a spineless personality that will prick the interest of no woman."

"It is not the effect of the clothes on the woman that is most important; it is the effect of the clothes upon the man himself. A well-pressed suit, immaculate collar, a proper tie and a good shine give to the man a sense of his own fitness. They are the best prop to his morale, to his own sense of rightness and ease, without which there is no 'It'."

"This matter of clothes is not merely important in relationships between the sexes. It is equally vital in business. So my advice to the young man who would acquire 'It,' either for success in love or prosperity, is to spruce up. Willy collars, baggy trousers and slouchy morale never yet won a girl's heart or a boost in salary."

"I would also urge American men to launch a revolution against their barbers," added Madame Glyn. "The war-time hair cut makes on subconsciously think of convicts or contagious disease. The hair should be neatly trimmed, yes. It should not be ragged but it should be left full and heavy to bring out the beautiful contours of the head instead of clipped close to an almost-naked skull. The prevailing style almost destroys 'It' in men who would otherwise be irresistible."

In Memory of Mother

With sad heart I write this in memory of dear mother, for there is a vacant place in our home that cannot be filled. The weary eyes closed, the tired hands folded and as gently as a babe in its mother's arms, the spirit of Mrs. George Dunn winged its flight into the presence of God to dwell forever. Though it was sad to give her up, but sweet to hear her say she was not afraid to die. Let us not grieve as those who have no hope in Christ. Faithful and loyal to her was she shall some day meet her where there shall be no more sorrow and the circle will never again be broken. How sweet, dear husband, it will be some day, when we can clasp the hand of mother and wife and live with her on high with God's protecting arms around us to shield from all harm. She was always ready to lend a helping hand to those in need. Oh, how we miss her gentle voice and comforting words. But let us all live as God would have us so as some day we will meet her to part no more. Mother, thou wast mild and loving. Gentle as the summer breeze. Pleasant as the air of evening. When it floats among the trees.

Peaceful be thy silent sleep. Peaceful in the grave so low. Thou no more will join our number. Thou no more our songs shalt know. Dearest mother, thou hast left us. Thy loss we deeply feel. But 'tis God that hast bro't us. He can all our sorrows heal.

Yet again we hope to meet them When the day of life is fled. Then in heaven with joy to greet thee. Where no farewell tears are shed.

Wrote by her daughter. Mrs. L. A. Whitfield.
