Notice Of Land Sale

Under and by virtue of authority vested in the undersigned trustee, in that certain deed of trust of date 16th day of April, 1928, and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds for Person County, North Carolina, in Book 8, page 141, executed by Willie Dixon and wife, securing a certain bond, the terms of which have not been met, and at the request of the holder of said bond, I will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder for CASH, on the premises, on Saturday, the 26th day of January, 1929, at one o'clock, P. M., the following described land, viz:

All of the interest of the said Willie Dixon, it being a one eighth undivided interest in that tract of land known as the old Eliza Bolton place, containing 133 acres more or less, and bounded as follows, viz: on the north by the lands of Jarrel Powell estate, on the east by the lands of Edward Dixon estate, on the south by the public road leading from Semora to Roxboro and on the west by the lands of Mrs.
Rebecca Stanfield estate.
This the 21st day of December 1928.

M. C. Winston, Attorney.

Aged Citizen Passes

Lewis Napoleon Montgomery, son of Thomas Lafayette and Emily C.
Montgomery, was born in Caswell Co., N. C., on May the 6th, 1855, and died at his home in Person County, near Cunningham, Tuesday, Dec. 19th, 1928, age sixty-nine years, seven months and fourteen days. In January 1890, he was married to Miss Mary Frances Clark. To them were born two sons, Floyd Lafayette, of Burlington, and Norman High, of Cunningham. There are three grandsons, Floyd Jr., Harold Page and Robert Lewis. The deceased is also survived by his wife and one sister, Mrs. Silas Lea of Durham.

Mr. Montgomery was a splendid citizen, an honest man, kind husband and a devoted, sacrificing father.

Funerals services were conducted by Rev. C. E. Newman, pastor of Lebanon Christian Church, from the deceased's home, where he had lived for sixty-five years, and the burial was in the cemetery on the Montgomery farm. Active pallbearers were:
D. C. Dayvault, E. M. Wells, J. R. and W. G. Franklin. Honorary pal-bearers were: Thomas Talley, W. G.
Franklin Jr., Clyde McSherry, Walter Barker, Walter Phepps, Raleigh Brooks, Lonnie Bennett and Tom Franklin, F. E. Wells, W. A. Turner.

The high standing of Mr. Montgomery was evidenced by the large crowd of relatives and friends present, although the weather was very disagreeable from the surrounding community, from Danville, Durham, Roxboro and Burlington. Great were the expressions of friendship and sympathy from these present, and beautiful and abundant were the floral designs.

Science And Farmers

Science is perhaps the greatest help of the farmer. One out of five prominent scientists in America. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine points out, are engaged in work of an agriculture-chemical nature.

As the result of the extensive scientific agricultural work going on, the percentage of tuberculous cattle has been reduced from 4 to 2 in the last decade.

Hog cholera is no longer a check to hog production. Tick-infested cattle in the South are being reduced in number. Animal parasites have been greatly reduced in number.

Plant research of scientists has saved immense sums to farmers.
Many new plants from other countries have been introduced. New plant diseases are guarded against.

Bud selection in the citrus industry has saved the growers of California several million dollars.

The above are only a few of the great achievements of science in relation to agriculture. Reading the news, it seems that a great percentage of the new inventions and discoveries have to do with the farm.
Scientists seem interested in the agricultural problems of the nation more than in almost anything else.

That is not surprising, agriculture being the great industry that it is.
The surprising thing is that being such a great industry, and drawing the attention of the leading scientific minds of this era, it has been unable to obtain action creating a favorable plan of distribution and marketing of its products.

"One-Eye" Connolly

"One-Eye" Connolly's name has become a by-word. He is the gate crusher par excellence.

He has always got into everything free—everything from a first-night theatrical performance to a flat heavy-weight battle.

No guards could ever keep him out.
He had a thousand clever methods.
He was expected at all public functions, though nobody ever invited him.
He got in—nobody knew how.

He never accepted or bought a ticket for anything.

The other day he attracted a crowd in Brooklyn, New York, and was found guilty of obstructing traffic. He was put into a cell for a brief time, and tearfully complained that his imprisonment was the ruination of his professional career.

We don't see why this happening should spoil his career.

Trus enough, he was conducted to his cell in a formal manner. He didn't have to "crash" the prison gates.

But then—he didn't have to pay to get in! And he got out free, too.

Dr. Frank Crane Says:

THEORY PAYS

A very common notion is that theory has not much to do with practice.

We dismiss a proposition with a wave of the hand when we charac-terize it as nothing but theory, or as impractical idealism.

We praise the inventor who devises some useful application of knowledge, but have a tendency to overlook the discoverer who finds out the knowl-edges that the inventor applied.

As a matter of fact all our great inventions rest upon great discoveries made by painstaking theorists who love knowledge for itself alone.

Wireless telegraphy, the telephone, aeroplane, radium, antiseptics, anti-toxins, spectrum analysis and X-rays were all discovered in the course of purely scientific and theoretical investigation.

Lord Kelvin said that no great law in natural philosophy had ever been discovered as a result of practical experiment and that the instances are innumerable of investigations apparently quite useless which led to the most valuable results.

For eighteen centuries many great minds gave their lives to studying coenic sections. This work was far from useless, for the laws of projectile, the building of great bridges, the curves of ships and the rules of navigation depend upon coenic sections.

Wireless telegraphy goes back to the studies of Lagrange in purely abstract mathematics, and to Professor William Thomson, who laid the foundation of electric oscillations.

Th man of deeds, the practical man would be saved many a foolish experiment and would be kept back from many a useless trial if he knew the background of thought that should underlie his actions.
