

PRESIDENT SEEN AS NO SUPERMAN

Washington Correspondent Says Hoover Has Disappointed Even His Friends

Raleigh, June 14.—"The Republican administration has been in power less than three and a half months," said Harlee Branch, Washington correspondent of the Atlanta Journal, "and it is already being denounced from one end of the country to the other. It is not only being criticized by Democrats, but by Republicans as well. If the trend continues, the Democratic party will be able to capture a large number of Republican states in the House next year, as well as several Senatorial seats."

"Mr. Hoover has been a disappointment, even to his friends. If the people of the United States expected he would prove to be a superman, they already realize their mistake."

Mr. Branch was of the opinion that one of the great reasons for the unpopularity of the Hoover administration was the attitude of Republican leaders on the tariff and farm relief. "It is quite apparent to all people who think," said he, "that the Republicans are more concerned about boosting tariff rates for special protected industries than they are about farm relief, although the special session was called to give relief to the farmer. The people generally are manifesting dissatisfaction, particularly in the West and Mid-West, and the proposed rates are being denounced by the press and from the stump."

It is very significant when Senator Smoot, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, calls the first meeting of the committee on proposed tariff bill, he announces that first consideration must be given to the valuations clause. This permits the President, through the Treasury Department, to fix valuations of imports for tariff purposes on either the foreign or American valuation of such products in their discretion. This simply means that those interests which want this valuation clause in the tariff hope to be able to go to the President and obtain further tariff increases by having American valuations applied to the imports which compete with their products. Those who have studied the proposition carefully say that if the valuation clause is incorporated in the tariff law it will be in the power of the President, through the Treasury, to increase tariff rates as much as 100 per cent without it being necessary to go to Congress for any further authority. Think of that! This clause makes it impossible for any appeal to be taken from the valuations fixed by the Treasury Department.

"In addition to the valuation clause and the excessively high rates on thousands of articles, there are other obnoxious features in the administrative sections of the bill.

"If the Senate passes the bill substantially as it came from the House—and it may even make further increases—then the cost of living to the farmer and others will be considerably increased.

See Little Relief For Farmer.—"So far as the farm relief bill is concerned, much of the best opinion in Congress is that it will afford little or no relief to the farmers and that the only prospect of any relief will lie in the ability of the Farm Board to work out and apply more economical marketing facilities and practices."

Going back to the matter of the high tariff rates, Mr. Branch expressed the opinion that if the present plans for excessive rates and giving large rate-making power to the administration are carried out, there will be retaliatory measures taken by foreign countries. "Cuba and Canada," said he, "have already been heard from. Grievous disappointment has been expressed and retaliation in kind is very certain in many countries."

Mr. Branch gave high praise to J. M. Shouse, who has been placed in charge of Democratic headquarters in Washington, and predicted that under Mr. Shouse's direction the affairs of the party would be splendidly managed and the party would be in splendid shape for the next Congressional campaign.

"I find," said Mr. Branch, "that the people who come to Washington, and they come there, of course, from all parts of the country, look upon the South as the coming section of the country. They almost invariably voice the opinion that the South is now entering upon an era of great progress and prosperity."

Mr. Branch was on his way to Atlanta. He is a native of North Carolina, born in Anson county. He obtained his first newspaper experience on the Charlotte Observer.

New Small Sized Dollar Bill Will Typify Farmers

Washington, June 14.—The new small sized dollar bill was characterized the "farm relief dollar" in the house today by Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi.

Borrowing one of the old sized greenbacks from another member, Mr. Rankin laid the small one inside the large one and said it illustrated the size of the farmer's dollar, when compared with the industrial dollar.

"But," he said, "I would have the inscription on each side changed. On one side I would have a bale of cotton, a shock of wheat and a stalk of corn. On the other I would have a typical American farm home in the year 1929 with a dilapidated house and desolated surrounding."

"Don't forget to put in his automobile," suggested Representative Denison, Republican, Illinois. "Yes, I would put in a broken down machine," said the Mississippian. "And in front of the home I would have an old farmer because all of our farmers are old men now. The young ones have been driven off the farms into the industrial world."

Vacation Time

No more pencils, no more books, no more teacher's saucy looks!

Think what the school boys and girls used to chant when they began their summer vacations. Nowadays they may chant it out, of respect to tradition, but the emotion that inspired such a verse is gone.

For the modern school boy and girl doesn't think of teaching as a person with "saucy looks." The plane of the profession of teaching has been raised to a marvelous degree. New educational methods seek to enlist the cooperation rather than the fear of the pupil. Punishments are less severe and the work is made more interesting. School is not such a bad place after all. Shakespeare's boy going "unwillingly to school" is different from the pupil of today, anxious to learn and to play under proper wise direction.

Nevertheless, the children are all happy at the prospect of almost three months of complete freedom. It is the duty of parents to see that their children derive every ounce of benefit possible from their summer vacations, so that they may return to school next Fall refreshed in mind and body and ready to do their best.

Women are no smarter than men. Not as smart—look at what they choose as husbands.

Willys-Overland Set High Record In Export Business

Toledo, O., June 5.—Willys-Overland established a new high record on export business in the first five months of the current year with an increase of 44 per cent over the same period of last year. During the first five months of 1929, the company shipped 22,132 Whippets and Willys-Knights to the foreign markets as compared with 15,399 cars shipped in the first five months of last year.

Indications are that the June export business will maintain the same proportions since plans call for shipment of a large volume of the new Whippet Six one and one-half ton commercial units which were recently announced by the Willys-Overland company, in addition to shipment of the Whippet and Willys-Knight passenger cars.
