LET US GIVE THANKS

The origin of Thanksgiving was not as some magazine writer has stated, inaugurated by President Lincoln, but by the Puritan fathers, and they gave thanks for the wonderful crop after several failures. It was indeed a day of thanksgiving for them, and they gathered in their little house of worship and thanked God for his many blessings. But how different today, what does Thanksgiving Day mean to you? Does it mean that you are in the house of the Lord and ready to render unto Him thanks for the many blessings which you are enjoying, and which you have enjoyed during the year? Of are you going to neglect the house of God, and spend the day attending a big football game, or perhaps take your gun and dog and spend the day in the field, killing, maiming, murdering the most beautiful bird of creation. We wish every one of our readers could have heard the address of Rev. P. Cary Adams at the Rotary luncheon last Thursday evening. He gave a graphic description of the manner in which the Puritans observed the day, and then compared it with the way in which most of us observe it today. Certainly, could you have heard it you would, at least, have considered the matter, even if you did not change your manner of observing the day.

The people of this good County have just cause to give thanks. We can not enumerate the many reasons why we should be thankful, but every one has many things to be thankful for, and the least any of us can do is to spend at least one hour in the house of God, listening to the sermon, breathing prayers for the betterment of mankind, and silently worshipping Him who doeth all things well and He has done all things well for this section during the past year. And then when the collection plate is passed around make a liberal contribution to the fatherless and homeless ones of the State. Don't drop in a buffalo, give at least the value of one day's wage, and help those who can not help themselves.

Go to the football game if you must, but first go to the house of God.

"Their works shall live after them," is a quotation everlastingly true, and the Peoples Bank will have cause in the future to look back upon the work it is doing now in trying to get the farmers of this good County interested in pure bred cattle. It looks like an up-hill proposition to get them interested in cattle, but it is the sure, and only way, to get them out of the rut in which they find themselves in raising tobacco. No country has ever become prosperous which depended entirely on the one-crop system, and we are in the deadly grip of this one-crop idea in this County. But the efforts of the Peoples Bank, aided and abetted by the heroic work of our County Agent, is going to tell, and many will pronounce them blessed for making them see the light.

You have heard that old expression, "Between the devil and the deep blue sea," and that expresses it to a nicety as concerns the situation in the Democratic party in this State at this particular time. If you nominate Mr. Simmons for the Senate, there are, we believe, hundreds and thousands who will not vote for him, and many who will even vote for the Republican nominee. On the other hand if you do not nominate him there are thousands who will oppose the Democratic nominee and perhaps vote for the Republican. In any event, it looks like some good Republican, and Judge Simmons for instance has a mighty good show for a seat in the upper Congress.
