CENTRAL SCHOOL NOW A STANDARD ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Becomes First Standard Elementary School in The County

TEACHERS DUE CREDIT

The superintendent of the Roxboro schools has been informed by the officials of the State Department of Education that the Central grammar school of Roxboro will be placed on the list of standard elementary schools in the State for the coming year. This school thus becomes the first standard elementary school in Person county.

To be placed on the State's accredited list of elementary schools means that the local school has met the requirements of instruction not only in the usual school subjects but also at least the minimum requirements in music, art, physical education, and library books. Although the school has more than the minimum number of library books, many more could be used to great advantage by the pupils in all the grades. Gifts of books or money for their purchase will be gladly accepted by the school and happily and helpfully used by the boys and girls.

To Miss India Collins, principal of the Central school, and to her faithful and efficient co-teachers, including Miss Hatchett, the music teacher, belongs the credit for the additional work that was necessary to put the Central school among the standard elementary schools of the State.

Judge Says Fathers Use Wrong Methods

Oglesby Comments On Case of Youths—Says Parents Are Rearing Civilization Wreckers

Charlotte, May 17.—Judge John M. Oglesby in Mecklenburg Superior court today, commenting on a case charging eight youths with storebreaking, said present day fathers are building fine schools, paying for good educations, erecting massive churches and courthouses and "rearing a generation of civilization-wreckers."

More than a dozen parents, including those of the defendants whose ages ranged from 13 to 19, heard the judge in silence. The jurist said he would pronounce sentence later in the week. All the defendants submitted.

"Modern fathers give their sons everything," the judge said, "schools, churches, automobiles and liberties far beyond their dreams of former generations—but they do not give their time, themselves, to their sons. These fathers on the stand this morning could not tell me what studies their sons pursued at school, what games they were interested in, what time they came in at night. We are raising a generation that knows no discipline."

MODEL KITCHEN TO BE SEEN HERE

One Hundred Per Cent Electrically Equipped Outfit to Be On Display One Day

A model, 100 per cent electrically equipped kitchen will be on display at the office of the Carolina Power and Light company here Thursday or Friday.

The kitchen is a General Electric product, arranged on wheels, and it is really a marvel. Those who view the kitchen and are interested in having their own kitchen transformed into a place of beauty and utility may furnish dimensions of the kitchen, location of windows and doors, etc., and the General Electric company will send a complete plan.

Those who find it inconvenient to visit the office of the Carolina Power and Light company here may have the kitchen visit their home. The kitchen is built in a "house on wheels."

EXPERT WILL SHOW LATEST METHODS IN CANNING OPERATIONS

With Bumper Crops Forecast, It Is Highly Important That Surplus Be Saved

DEMONSTRATIONS ARE NOW BEING ARRANGED

Someone has said: "We can eat what we can and can what we can't."

Let us can while we may. There is an opportunity for many of us to supplement our winter diet with fresh fruits and vegetables by canning the surplus of our gardens now. If we would keep our bodies physically fit and our health in the best possible condition we must have a balanced and wholesome diet. This is not always easy unless we have our pantries stored with canned goods which are so abundant in the summer but dear on the market in winter. The department at State College is putting forth every effort to encourage and press upon people the importance of conserving food this summer for their future needs, so that no one need lack the proper nourishment during the coming winter.

Mrs. Cornelia C. Morris and Miss Sadie Henley, who are efficiency experts in this program of food conservation were in Roxboro May 22 and gave a demonstration of canning garden peas and string beans. Twenty-five ladies from different sections of the county witnessed this demonstration and have volunteered to assist in any way possible with demonstrations when they are put on in their particular communities. The interest these ladies are showing in this work is very gratifying and if others will catch the spirit and work together, I am sure that the coming season in Person County will be very worthwhile.

A number of demonstrations have been planned and dates set for some of the communities. When one is announced through this paper, or by some other method for your neighborhood, make it a point to attend and encourage your neighbors to be there also. You will be shown an approved method of canning the non-acid vegetables. Some may find it difficult to keep these vegetables without using an artificial preservative, which we feel is unwholesome and at the same time unnecessary. At these demonstrations you will be presented bulletins giving this approved method that you can easily follow in your own kitchen as no special equipment is required. At these meetings the group will be given an opportunity to ask questions and exchange ideas which always results in benefit to many.

Mrs. Ada B. Phillips of Roxboro has been appointed Emergency Home Demonstration Agent for Person County and will gladly assist you in any way possible with your canning problems. Get in touch with her at any time and she will advise you and help you with this work.

Let us all work together that the canning season in this county may result in much food being saved this summer. The indications are that there will be an abundance of vegetables grown this season; let us see that nothing is wasted.

Schedule of Canning Demonstrations for next week. Demonstrations begin at 2:30 P. M. F. D. Long's Store, Wednesday, June 7.

Saturday Positively Last Day To List

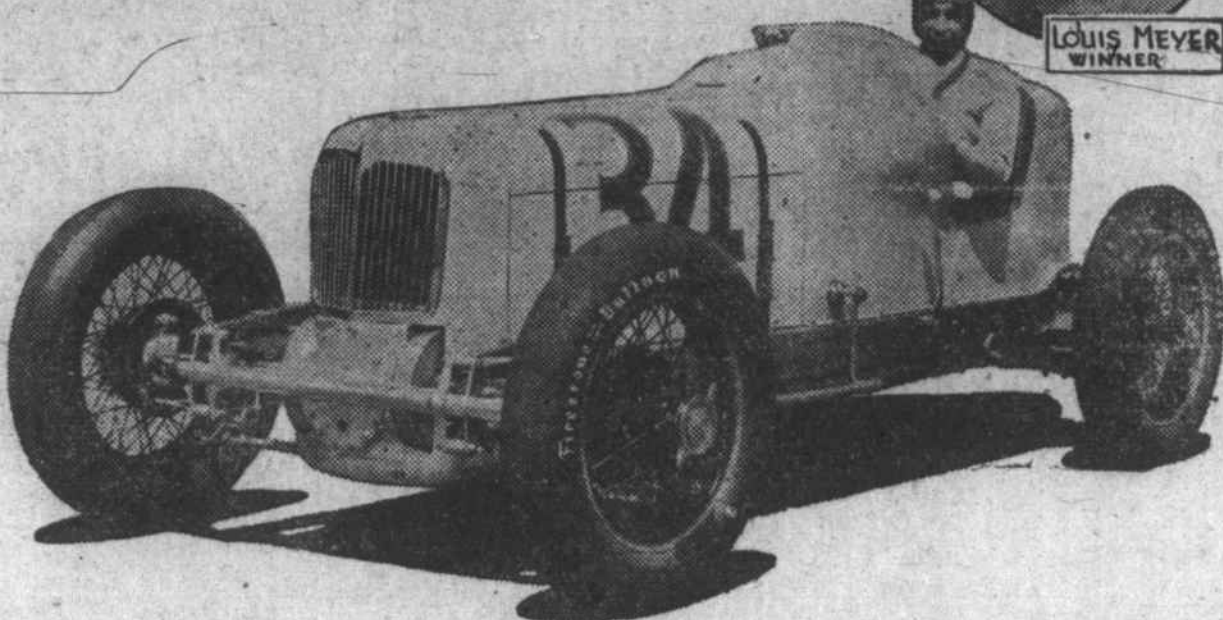

The time for listing property for taxes has been extended to Saturday night, June 3rd. Positively this is the last call and if you fail to list your property you will have the penalty for failing to do so imposed. I do not want to see any one penalized, and have shown all possible leniency, but can go no further. Attend to this on or before Saturday night and save trouble and costs.

SOUTH SPENDS BIG SUM UPON WAR PENSIONS

Pays Out More Than $8,000,000 Annually To Confederate Vets, Widows and Servants

Atlanta, May 25.—Sixty-eight years have passed since Appomattox and time has taken a heavy toll of Lee's and Jackson's men, but the South still spends more than $8,000,000 annually in pension to Confederate veterans, their widows and, in some states, servants.

Figures from eight of ten states, from Virginia to Texas, show fewer than 7,000 who wore the gray uniform of the south on the pension rolls. Widows receiving the pay number almost 20,000.

Directly From State.

Unlike the hosts of Grant, the Confederate veteran draws his small honor pay directly from the state. Union men are pensioned by the National government. Historians have figured the youngest veteran of the war between the States now is about 85 years old. Five years, many historians believe, will find only a handful of the Confederate pensioners left.

Georgia provides the largest sum of any state for the care of her wards which number 878 veterans and 2,957 widows. They are allotted approximately $1,600,000 annually. Alabama closely follows with 597 veterans and 3,338 widows who receive $1,120,820.

Arkansas has the smallest number of veterans of any of the states and the appropriation for their care is likewise the smallest, 1,110 veterans receiving about $300,000 annually. State officials say veterans are dying at the rate of about 100 annually.

North Carolina appropriated $720,600 for veterans and their widows in 1933-34 and $630,000 for 1934-35. The money comes from the general fund and is set aside by legislative action.

CROWELL MOTOR CO. IN NEW QUARTERS

Old Ford Agency Now Occupying New Quarters On Reams Avenue

SERVICE FOR ALL MAKES

It will seem queer to walk down Main Street and see others occupying what has been the home of the Crowell Motor Company for so many years; but owing to a change in the affairs of the Company they have moved and have opened up most commodious and attractive quarters on Reams Ave., next door to Wade Grocery Company, in what is known as the Freeland Motor Company building.

In their new location they are even better prepared to serve their trade than ever before, and it matters not what make your car they will be glad to service it for you, and promise to do it at a reduction in labor charges. It will be to your interest to have them look your car over, for it is much cheaper to keep your car in good condition than to let it run down.

They also call your attention to the New Ford, the BEST car ever built by Ford.

Interesting Old Paper

Ninth Issue Of The Roxboro Herald, Dated May 5th, 1881, Found Here

In cleaning up some old rubbish, which was brought from the old court house before it was torn down Mr. A. M. Long, custodian of the court house, found several copies of the Roxboro Herald, which was established March 10, 1881, with Messrs. Hunter and Gibbons as owners, being the ninth issue. It was indeed a creditable paper, especially when it is remembered that everything was done by hand, printed on a Washington hand press.

Roxboro must have been a wide-awake prosperous little burg even in those days, for the columns of the Herald were well filled with advertisements by the home merchants.

MORE FUNDS FOR RELIEF RELEASED

North Carolina Allotted More Than Half Million From Federal Treasury

IS NOT TO BE PAID BACK

Washington, May 29.—The administration today acted to keep relief work going in 31 States and one territory.

Harry L. Hopkins, who a week ago became Federal emergency relief administrator, today announced gift funds aggregating $21,659,282. The largest amount, $6,532,282, went to New York, and the second largest, $2,105,114, to Illinois. California received $1,317,861 and New Jersey $1,295,181. The other states and territories received less than $1,000,000.

In making the announcement, Hopkins said:

"These grants are made on an incomplete showing of relief expenditures from public money, in order that the States may be assured of funds to continue without interruption their programs for the relief of destitution due to unemployment pending the submission of complete data required by law.

"Sub-section 5 or section 4 (of the Federal Emergency Relief Act) authorizes the administration to grant to States and territories upon application of the Governors thereon of an amount equal to one-third of the amount expended during the preceding quarter by the States and territories and their several subdivisions out of public money from all sources of relief and work relief and in relieving hardship and suffering caused by unemployment.

The allotments to other States follow:

Alabama, $242,674; Arizona, $158,504; Arkansas, $490,105; Colorado, $113,623; Florida, $340,337; Idaho, $173,627; Indiana, $387,305; Kansas, $388,504; Kentucky, $564,220; Louisiana, $893,809; Maryland, $5,798; Michigan, $3,798,830; Minnesota, $491,011; Mississippi, $403,904; Missouri, $444,130; Montana, $213,516; New Mexico, $31,117; North Carolina, $661,301; Oregon, $313,981; Rhode Island, $229,292; South Carolina, $452,699; Tennessee, $351,376; Texas, $322,707; Utah, $233,594; Virginia, $422,191; Washington, $696,248; West Virginia, $949,839; Hawaii, $44,540.

In addition to the grants made by the new emergency relief administration, the Reconstruction Corporation today used up the last of the $300,000,000 fund it has been administering by allotting $1,486 to Arizona for May relief work.

The corporation's relief activities are scheduled to cease at the close of business May 31, all of the work then will be taken over by Hopkins.

Unlike the funds distributed by the Reconstruction Corporation, which are to be paid back by the States, cities or to be deducted from future Federal funds allocated for highway work the money distributed today is an outright gift to the States. It is not to be paid back.

PECORA READY TO RESUME PROBE OF HOUSE OF MORGAN

But Will Outline Scope of Inquiry to Senator Glass Before Session Starts

GLASS WINS RIGHT TO LEARN PECORA PLANS

Washington, May 30.—In an atmosphere tense with bitter personal feuds, the Senate banking committee tomorrow will plunge again into the affairs of J. P. Morgan and Company.

Further revelations are expected of "favors" by the powerful banking house to higher-ups in finance and politics.

A show-down on the scope of the investigation is expected at a preliminary secret session tomorrow, when Senator Carter Glass, Democrat, Virginia, caustic and persistent critic of the inquiry's objectives, will face Ferdinand Pecora, tenacious committee lawyer.

At an executive committee session today, the Virginia Senator won the right to had demanded to find out from Pecora "just where we are going." The committee instructed Pecora to appear at an executive session tomorrow morning at 9:30, prior to resumption of the open hearings. He will outline to Glass the course he intends to pursue in delving further into the affairs of the international banking house.

"I will be very glad to do that," Pecora said.

Pecora Returns.

The Italian-American lawyer returned here today, refreshed after a few days' rest with his family in Brooklyn, N. Y. He continued, meanwhile, examining records he extracted from J. P. Morgan and Company files.

After the meeting today, Chairman Fletcher reiterated the inquiry will proceed as planned by Pecora without any attempt to censor the persistent lawyer. Despite this assurance, however, and the full support President Roosevelt has pledged the investigation, the United Press learned tonight there will be an attempt at the meeting tomorrow to restrict somewhat the scope of the investigation.

If Glass challenges Pecora's course, then it is likely the committee will have a show-down vote. Pecora will get the backing of a majority of the committee as to continuing the inquiry, though some question is expected to be raised as to how far he should go.

Some committee members favor a cessation of the inquiry after the pending Morgan investigation and inquiry into Kuhn, Loeb and Company. Senator Frederick Steiwer, Republican, Oregon, said he thought this was sufficient for the president. The committee then can resume in the fall, he suggested. This would postpone the proposed investigation into Dillon, Read and Coy and the Chase National Bank.

TRADE MEN MAY BE DROPPED THIS FALL

Plan Approved By Tobacco-nists Meeting Held In Danville

UP TO EACH COMMUNITY

There is a plan on foot among tobacco warehousemen operating in this state to eliminate the employment of trade men, often employed to drum business for individual warehouses among the farmers and for the elimination of the practice of hiring trucks to haul farmers' tobacco to market for a particular warehouse, according to tobacco-nists who attended a meeting held in Danville, Va., a few days ago. The Danville meeting was called by Col. A. B. Carrington, president of the Tobacco Association of the United States.

The agreement, while unanimously approved at the meeting, must be assented to by individual warehouse operators and the tobacco board of trade in each community before becoming effective. The contract is now being drawn, and will be forwarded at once to all local boards of trade for approval and signature. This is expected to be a mere matter of formality, as every warehouseman present at the Danville meeting voted for the plan.
