Local Broom Maker Killed In Collision Of Cars Last Friday Night

LEFT ARM COMPLETELY SEVERED FROM BODY

Pat Kirkman, local broom-maker employed by the Roxboro Broom Works, was killed last Friday night when the car that he was driving turned over on the Roxboro-Oxford highway. Kirkman, with some other people riding in the car with him. was going toward Oxford driving at rapid rate of speed, when he curve. Apparently he hit the front wheel of the other car which was occupied by Allen Hart of Burlington, Rt. 3. When Kirkman's car struck the car driven by Hart, it I sideswiped it, flattening the fen-ders against the body of the car ders against the body of the car and doing considerable damage to the body itself; the Kirkman car then careened down the road turning as it went and finally stopping about 25 yards away crossways to the road. Mr. Kirkman's left arm was severed from his body when the cars collided; it was later found lying in the car that he had hit. Besides this he had cuts and bruises WORKING ON PLAN NOW Jones, left immediately for his bedabout the head and face, but it is thought that the severing of the arm caused his death. The other occupants of his car and of Hart's car were not hurt seriously.

Mr. Kirkman is survived by his

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Twenty-seven of Roxboro's gressive citizens met in New Hotel Jones Monday night in the first formal meeting of the new Kiwanis Club. On Thursday night of last week the following officers were elected: President B B Mangum; Vice-president, Merritt: Secretary, Sam B. The board of directors consists of chairman of program committee.

With three civic organizations, two for the men and one for the women, Roxboro and community has a right to feel very proud of itself. It is our desire to see this new organization grow and flourish as the other two have done.

To help get this new organization started a group of Kiwanians from Oxford and Durham came over for the first meeting Monday night. There were about fifteen member present from the two clubs The manager of the New Hotel Jones did himself proud in the excellent meal he served the club and its guests.
