

Roosevelt's Tax Plan Wins Favor Of Mighty Borah

Republican Liberal Says President's Program 'Sound In Principle'

ALSO WANTS ACTION AT PRESENT SESSION

Washington, June 23—Senator Borah today hailed President Roosevelt's new tax plan as a "share-the-burden-of-government" program and gave his powerful support to a "timely" tax adjustment "in the light of our stupendous expenditures."

The Idaho Republican issued his formal statement as a part of today's determination of liberal Republicans and some Democrats to force President Roosevelt into the open on whether he wants the new levies imposed at this session of Congress. Borah said:

"This program ought to be considered as a just and timely readjustment of our tax laws in the light of our stupendous expenditures."

Borah's statement said it was "absurd" to call the proposal either a "share-the-wealth" or "soak-the-rich" program. He called it sound "economically" and "in morals," and added it would be "more conducive to recovery" than "reckless voting of bonds" to pass on the cost to future generations.

Sound in Principle

Bluntly, Borah said "the plan proposed would be a fake as a distribution of wealth program, but ... is sound in principle."

As a leading Congressional critic of the new Deal, the Idaho G. O. P. independent has followed the Republican banner more closely than other Western Liberals. His stand today presaged a showdown with the administration on whether it wants action on the President's proposal before adjournment.

Critical of "waste," and "extravagance," Borah said "there is nothing more conducive to waste, to extravagance, and to economic demoralization than the unconscionable system of passing expenditures over to our children, and our children's children in the way of bonds and interest."

Want Action

Borah, meanwhile, conferred with members of the group urging action at this session.

They determined to hammer on the issue until Mr. Roosevelt makes his views known. At the same time, Democratic leaders, worried over the growing temper of Congress, also determined to ascertain the President's definite wishes before taking further steps. They planned to consult with him upon his return from Hyde Park and report that sentiment for early action was growing.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, and Speaker Byrns both said today there were reasons for prompt action, but emphasized tax developments were up to the Chief Executive. Personally, Robinson said he wanted to get more White House information.

With members of both branches clamoring for adjournment by July 15, and much controversial administration legislation yet unfinished, Democratic chiefs conceded privately today they might have difficulty in holding Congress in the prolonged session tax legislation would spell.

Embassy Target Of Bomb Attack

Ambassador Daniels Minimizes Incident; Official Regrets By Mexican Officials

Mexico, D. F., June 23—A bomb apparently made of several sticks of dynamite and caps exploded early today in the patio of the United States embassy, making a hole about 9 inches deep and breaking several windows, including one in the private office of Ambassador Josephus Daniels.

The Ambassador called all foreign correspondents to his office tonight and informed them of the incident, which he described as "a matter which has no importance."

Daniels declined to inform local authorities of the bombing and refused to make a complaint. A policeman on duty at the embassy, however, recovered fragments of the missile and reported the explosion to the police headquarters. The matter then was taken up with the foreign office.

No one was hurt.

Official Regrets

Foreign Undersecretary Ceineros, who is acting foreign minister, immediately asked Mr. Daniels to assist his department with the investigation. He also expressed official regrets because of the incident.

The Ambassador told the correspondents he had received no threats of any kind and could not explain the bombing.

The explosion occurred about 8 a. m. It was learned that an unidentified person or persons threw the bomb over the wall at the chancellery instead of at the residence of the ambassador which adjoins it.

Heavy police reinforcements immediately were stationed at the embassy, with numerous plainclothesmen to guard the building during the day and night. The embassy is located in the Colonia Roma, a fashionable residential section of the city, and is near a hotel patronized by many Americans.

FINDS METHOD TO REMEDY SERIOUS HEART AILMENTS

Minneapolis, June 23—A remedy for sudden heart deaths, like angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis, discovered in a daring new method of temporarily stopping human hearts, was described to the Summer meeting of the Leaders of American Science, beginning a week's meeting here today.

The heart-stopping experiments also brought out new facts about treating heart block, which causes unconsciousness, and which in extreme form causes death from asphyxiation and electric shock.

On Exhibition

The human guinea pig work was shown at the exhibition of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and of the Minnesota State Medical Association by M. H. Nathanson, M. D., assistant professor of medicine, University of Minnesota.

Professor Nathanson stops hearts in two ways: One by a sort of jiu jitsu pressure of the fingers near the carotid artery, which virtually stills the heart the same as death, but only temporarily.

The other is partial stoppage by injecting adrenalin, the energy-producing drug. The injection sets up the same kind of confusion in heart muscles as causes death in coronary thrombosis, the "industrial captain's disease," and angina pectoris.

In most of the types of sudden death from heart troubles, Professor Nathanson explains, the heart itself is still good, sometimes structurally so strong that it appears good for several or

Two Person County Youths Return From Europe Wednesday

Boys Toured In England, France, Belgium, Holland, And Germany While Over There

Messrs. Wharton Winstead and Buck Barnette docked in New York City Wednesday at noon from the S. S. Lafayette after spending six weeks in touring the Continent.

Mr. Winstead, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Winstead of this city, and Mr. Barnette, son of Mr. Zeb Barnette of the county, but who now makes his home in Raleigh, embarked for Europe as passengers on a freighter some weeks ago.

On the passage over the captain taught them such seafaring knowledge as how to pilot the boat, "shoot the sun" to find their position, measure the depth of the ocean, etc. Wharton stated that he didn't get scared at anytime going over, but that he was startled one day to measure the depth of the ocean to find it was seven and one-half miles deep.

On the other side they went to London where they saw King George and Queen Mary of Great Britain, toured France, enjoying the joys of Paris enroute, went through Holland and Belgium and into Germany.

Asked if he saw Hitler, Wharton replied that the Dictator was nowhere to be seen, but that they did see plenty of good looking girls while away, none to match the American Beauties, however.

The dykes of Holland are used as highways with the towns below them, and the country is littered with canals. The legendary character who thrust his arm through a hole in the dyke to save his country was not in evidence on the boy's itinerary.

Rotary Club Holds Regular Meeting

Christ Wagner was appointed to make arrangements for the game to be played Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 if that was agreeable with the Kiwanis Club.

Gordon C. Hunter, who was in charge of the program, called on G. O. Coble, former resident of Roxboro and Frank Page, both of Greensboro, to make a few remarks to the club. They made interesting talks and each paid high tribute to Mr. J. W. Allgood, stating that in his passing Roxboro had lost a most valuable citizen.

Other guests of the club were John Brewer, Earl Bradsher, Jr., and James Brooks.

These ballots are being received at the County Agent's office where there is a box provided for them. There is a ballot box in each of the two offices of the County Agent.

If there are others who desire to vote and have not received ballots they are requested to call at the Farm Agent's office where they can get one. Every raiser of tobacco, whether he be a contract signer or not, is asked to vote in this campaign.

All votes must be in the office of Mr. H. K. Sanders not later than 7 P. M. Saturday, June 29.

Final Rites For Angus W. McLean Held In Lumb'rtion

Ex-Governor Laid To Rest Sunday Following Death On Friday

Final rites for Angus Wilton McLean who served North Carolina as Governor from 1925 to 1929, were held from the First Presbyterian Church at Lumberton, N. C., Sunday afternoon.

Mr. McLean died as the result of a blood clot in the left lung Friday morning at Emergency Hospital in Washington, D. C., at 11:10 o'clock. He was 65 years old.

Following services in Washington Saturday at Central Presbyterian Church his body was brought to his former home in Lumberton for the final services Sunday.

Ex-Governor McLean had for many years been prominently identified with the life of the state and nation. During the Wilson administration he served as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and a member of the War Finance Corporation. Before that time he had been a leading member of the Robeson County Bar Association where he lived and practiced law. Entering the race for Governor in 1924 he was elected and served from 1925 until 1929, when he retired. For the past several years he had been practicing law in Washington.

Death Friday was totally unexpected. He had been a patient at the hospital since May 17 when he was brought from Atlantic City, where he was stricken. He was suffering from both heart and kidney diseases. When death came Mrs. McLean was reading to him on the porch of the hospital. Two of his three children had been with him only a few minutes before, and he had sent his eldest son, Angus W. McLean, Jr., to Lumberton the day before.

Isolation of Children In Person Co. Urged

Dear Editor:

As a precaution against the possible spread of Infantile Paralysis let me talk to the children through your paper.

As I lie here on my bed I am thinking of the children and what we might do to avoid the spread of this dreadful disease. There will be plenty of time for the children to go places and see things when this most dreadful disease of childhood has gone. Stay in your own yard and if company comes to play with you your mother will explain to them how you are trying to co-operate with your State Board of Health to keep children well.

Now, should you feel like its pretty hard to stay home remember its mighty nice to be well and play at home as compared with having Infantile Paralysis.

If you get sick and have fever and nausea, go to bed and call your good friend, the family doctor.

Mrs. Ruth M. O'Brian.

There are 5 cases of Infantile Paralysis in Person County.

Camp Cherokee Will Not Open This Season

This News Was Released To Troop Leaders In Special Bulletin

Camp Cherokee will not open this season. Scout officials have made a thorough study of the present epidemic of Infantile Paralysis with the State Board of Health, Medical Authorities and Scouters in the majority of the centers of the Cherokee Council. This investigation brought about the decision not to conduct the summer camping program. This news was released to the Troop Leaders of Cherokee Council in a special bulletin Friday.

Scout Executive Gorman stated that he has secured for the Council officials the advice of the State Board of Health, has conferred with medical men in Burlington, Roxboro, Reidsville, Graham, Leaksville and Caswell Co. In each instance the advice has been that as a precautionary measure they would advise that the camp not open for this season. This information was made available to Executive officers in each District of the Council and the decision not to open was reached Friday morning.

The letter mailed to the Troop officers is as follows:

June 21, 1935

Dear Scout Leader:

After a very thorough check with the State Health Authorities, County Health Boards, Medical Authorities and Scout Officials in the majority of the centers of this Council, it has been deemed our patriotic duty as Scouts and Scouters to do everything possible to aid in preventing the spread of Infantile Paralysis. Our organization is built upon the basis of developing boys physically as well as mentally, and morally. With the former before us, we cannot afford to do anything that might, in the future, jeopardize the health of any one of our members, therefore, it has been deemed wise and expedient that the Council's summer encampment plans be discontinued and this encampment not be held.

It is the purpose of our Council to launch, at a very early date, a program of training our Scout leaders to aid them in overcoming the great loss that we will witness in not having our summer encampment. This will, very likely, be a program that will involve the training of our leaders in program and Troop efficiency.

It is the suggestion of this office that all Scout Leaders keep in close contact with the medical authorities and be governed by their advice as to Troop meetings, Troop hikes, and other Scouting events.

Although we realize that many of our Scouts will witness great disappointment because of not having a camp this summer, we believe that we will save the parents of our Scouts much anxiety that they would have should we go forward with our Camp program.

Yours Truly,
O. B. Gorman
Scout Executive
