WINFREY ANSWERS PERTINENT QUERIES CONCERNING HOSPITAL

Man Long Associated With
Hospital Work Gives Clear
Picture Of What Hospital
Would Mean To Town And County.

In an interview today G. H. Winfrey who is assisting a local committee working for the establishment of a local general hospital answered some of the questions asked by this paper in a recent issue. Mr. Winfrey who has been associated with the medical profession for several years in various capacities stated that the loan of one hundred dollars from each of a number of citizens is not intended to cover the cost of possible hospitalization for the lenders for five year—instead the interest on these loans, six dollars per year, is intended to cover the cost of their hospitalization. At the end of the period of the loan (its duration to be fixed by agreement between the hospital and the lenders on mutually acceptable terms) it will be necessary to pay up this loan or to make satisfactory renewal.

As to inducing a surgeon to locate here when the hospital is completed and ready for use that problem exists only in, one's imagination. A modern hospital built to meet the needs of forty thousand people will find more well trained men trying to get here to do surgery and every other specialty than can be used. In short it will be up to the city and county doctors to choose the men to whom work which they want others to do will be referred. I am personally acquainted with twenty men who have worked in the largest clinics in North America and I know they would jump at the chance to come here—without any guarantee or salary or promise. This being a question for the physicians here I do not propose to take any part in giving the answer. There are amply competent to handle this matter.

Since the founders of this community hospital plan to base its support on the well rather than on the sick no endowment is needed. Following the establishment of the hospital every citizen living in this city and county will be given an opportunity to meet his or her possible hospital expenses by making an annual payment towards the support of the hospital. This annual payment will be small enough to make the arrangement possible for the majority of our people—profitable enough to make the hospital not only self-supporting but self-debt-removing. The assurances given the committee and others by individuals—employers of labor, and others indicates beyond question that this problem will be met—and mastered. Undoubtedly we will always have the poor with us. In putting hospitalization within the reach of thousands thru an annual payment, direct to the hospital (without sales expense or commission deductions) we will reduce the demand from the poor to the irreducible minimum. This hospital will be able to handle the problem of this remnant.

Mr. Winfrey further stated that a modern hospital, well equipped and well staffed, is a business asset to the community fortunate enough to establish it. In studying the local situation one is impressed with the outstanding fact that other centers in the vicinity of Roxboro have attempted to meet—and are meeting this problem for the city of Roxboro and Person County. To state the same fact in other words—other business centers are supplying under the handicap of distance the needs of this prosperous county and city and taking from Roxboro many thousands of dollars which might just as well be left here. Here is economic leak which expressed in dollars probably amounts to anywhere from sixty thousand to seventy thousand dollars every year. Owing to the fact that hospital service and professional attention are almost entirely personal the greater portion of this money is almost immediately distributed in retail buying. A modern hospital in Roxboro would mean the retention of this money in the city and county—to increase the sales of clothing, drug, department, jewelry, automobile, and other merchandising establishments. There is not a shop or store or office or filling station here which will not be benefitted in a business way thru the creation of a hospital in Roxboro.

As long as our farmers and others are compelled to take their sick and injured elsewhere they will continue other and more active connections with business enterprises in these

Decision On Hauptmann Dec. 9 Likely

Convicted Of Murder In Lindbergh Case Hauptmann Will Soon Know Whether Nation's Highest Tribunal Will Interfere.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 — Bruno Richard Hauptmann may know by December 9 whether the highest court in the land will interfere with his death sentence in the Lindbergh kidnap-murder tragedy.

New Jersey officials today officially acknowledged notice of Hauptmann's Supreme court appeal docketed November 12. Their formal printed argument against a Supreme Court review must be filed by December 5.

Two-Week Recess

But it was indicated this would be done much sooner. That would permit the nine justices of the Supreme Court to examine records of the New Jersey courts during a two-week recess starting next Monday.

Court observers said that could bring an order either granting or denying the review on December 9, the first opinion and order day after the recess.

Review Might Take Week

If a review were granted it would normally be weeks or possibly months before the case was reached unless attorneys receive permission of the court to advance it.

We won't guarantee the tip but we hear that there is apt to be a stir up soon about the affairs of the island of Porto Rico.

DROP WOOLWORTH HEIRESS FROM GOTHAM'S REGISTER

New York, Nov. 20—Gotham's 1936 social register—the goal of the upper social strata—has "dropped" the former Barbara Hutton, now Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow of Denmark.

The name of the Woolworth heiress, who early this year divorced the late Prince Alexis Mdivani, appeared in the 1934 edition.

She has been abroad since shortly after her last marriage, a possible explanation for her omission.

Now Intact

The new register, sent to subscribers today, indicates that the register is "intact."

The name of James Roosevelt, son of the President, dropped this year by the Boston Social Register, appears. So does his brother, Elliott, omitted in the 1935 edition, presumably because he was a principal in a divorce suit at the time of publication.

SIDE - LIGHTS OF THE DUKE - CAROLINA FOOTBALL GAME

(By Staff Correspondent)

Duke University, rated as underdogs, entertained the Rose - Bowl bound Tar Heels in their home stadium Saturday afternoon in one of the nation's leading football encounters and sent the boys from Chapel Hill home, the losers by the score of 25-0. This upsetting and unforeseen defeat for the North Carolinians after seven straight victories left Tar Heel fans stunned and Duke supporters jubilant.

It is a standing wager that this particular football game has been played at least forty thousand times since the actual contest ended on Saturday. At drug stores, merchandising establishments, newspaper offices, filling stations, everywhere the chief topic of conversation for days after the game was nothing but the unexpected defeat of the Tar Heels by Duke University.

Latest developments find the Tar Heels accusing Coach Wallace Wade of "ungentlemanly" conduct, if not an actual violation of national football rules, in using a motion picture camera to depict plays of Carolina while scouting their games.

Duke looks forward to Saturday with confidence that the State Wolf-pack will fall before their mighty attack, while Carolina looks to another year to avenge the humiliating defeat Saturday.

The horse-shoe stadium at Duke was packed with 46,880 fans come to see what they would see. They sat in a light drizzle of rain and chilling

Tobacco Sales Again Blocked On The Roxboro Market

Best Sales Of The Season

All of the warehouses here were full to overflowing Monday, with the result that the buyers did not get around. However, the block was lifted Tuesday and sales were as usual yesterday. Buying was brisk and most satisfactory prices were paid, in fact, it was announced as being one of the best sales of the season.

Tobacco is coming in freely now, and probably by the end of the week the amount sold will exceed that of last season. Indications are that the market will sell almost twice as much as it did for the season of 1934-35.

Morris Telephone Company Compiling New Directory

New Code System Is Being
Adopted. Patrons Urged
To Call By Number

The new Telephone Directory of the Morris Telephone Company is in the final stages of compilation. Names of new subscribers and changes in present listings can still be entered.

In the interest of better service the "Call by number system" will be adopted at the time of delivery.

The Telephone office informs us that the operators are at certain times daily required to make an average of forty connections per minute. Unless the call is placed by number additional questions are often necessary to be certain of which place is wanted; thus delaying not only this call but other calls coming in in the meantime.

A new code system is being adopted which will shorten the long numbers simplifying greatly the placing of a call. Operating congestion will be relieved; errors in connections almost completely eliminated resulting in faster service to all.

Bushy Fork Student Injured Monday When Hit By Truck

Nettie Edwards Confined To
Watts Hospital As Result
Of Injuries Sustained
When Moving Truck
Struck Her

Nettie Edwards, fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Edwards who lives on Mr. John Newton's farm in the Bushy Fork community, was rushed to Watts hospital Monday afternoon suffering with a broken jaw bone, a fractured leg and a fractured hip, bruises and lacerations, resulting from being struck by a moving school bus. Latest reports from her bedside indicate that she is seriously injured, though getting along as well as could be expected.

The child, a student at Bushy Fork school, was enroute from the school building to the home of her parents on a school bus operated by its regular driver, Clinton Dunevant, at the time of the accident. Just a short way beyond Mr. Lewis Hester's store she asked the driver to stop a minute so that she could go into Mr. Hester's store and make a purchase. He did so, and the girl went back to the store. In order to be as accommodating as possible, Dunevant reversed the truck toward the store. At the same time the girl, having made the purchase, was coming out of the store and proceeding toward the truck, and apparently she failed to see that it was moving toward her, as she was busily engaged with her purchase at the time.

At any rate she walked right into the back end of the moving school bus, sustaining the injuries described above. She was brought to a local physician and was then rushed to the hospital where she is still confined.

It is understood that such hospital expenses as she will incur during her stay there will be borne by the state, as liability insurance is carried by the state on all school trucks in operation.
