THE BUSY LAW MAKERS

Senator Empie Would Create a General Stock Law.—Three fourths of State Now Under Such a Law—Many New Bills Introduced.

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—A bill just introduced in the Senate by Senator Empie to provide no fence law for the whole of the State is a bill that will attract very general interest. It is endorsed by the State forestry interests and has other very strong backing. It would apply the "no fence" law to every section of the State after 1910. It is estimated now that about four-fifths of the State is already under the operation of "no fence" laws. One of the contentions of the forestry interests is that the running at large of swine, for instance prevents the growth of the young long leaf pines in the Eastern section of the State. Then it is contended that there is no justice in a land owner having to invest thousands of dollars in fences for no other purpose than to keep the stock of those about him off his lands and the only just course is to require all owners of stock to keep them on their own lands or the lands to which they have rental claims.

New bills introduced:
Burton: Amend section 573, Revisal, relating to docketing judgments.
Ray: Amend section 1950, of the Revisal, relative to the legal rate of interest.
Blow: Repeal section 2767 and 2768, Revisal, relating to the salaries of solicitors.
Barham: Relating to the trial of capital cases.
Dawes: Establish Tolson a special tax district, Wilson county.
Shaw: Establish and provide for North Robeson county to be cut off from Robeson county as at present constituted.
Turner: Appoint justices of the peace for Grove township, Harnett county.
Jones: Amend chapter 674, Public Laws of 1907, relating to pensions of Confederate soldiers.
Jones: Repeal chapter 885, Public Laws of 1907, prohibiting fishing in Little river, Wake county.
Means: Confer police powers on justices of the peace in certain townships in Cabarrus county.
Lee: Create a special tax district in Wilkes county.
Johnson: Appoint justices of the peace in Currituck county.
Spence: Change boundary line of Glenora, special tax district.
Elliott: Petition from citizens of Catawba county to repeal the constitutional exemption clause by constitutional amendment.
Sherrill: Promote the cause of education in McDowell county.
Ray: Relieve persons who have bought property improperly advertised.
Jones: Authorize the board of education of Wake county to borrow money.
Jones, by request: Relieve the surety of William H. Worth, former State treasurer from further liability in the matter of defalcations of W. H. Martin and others.
Bills passed final reading:
H. B. Amend the charter of the town of Landis.
H. B. Authorize the commissioners of Moore county to issue bonds to discharge the indebtedness of Carthage township.
Drain White Oak Swamp, Bladen county.
Prevent the sale or disposal of timber and cross ties adrift in the Cape Fear river and its tributaries in the counties of New Hanover and Brunswick. This bill was introduced by Senator Empie and placed on the calendar without reference to committee and on final reading was amended by Senator Hawes so that it would apply to Pender county also.
The joint resolution that the General Assembly adjourn sine die February 15, introduced some days ago by Senator Elliott came up and was almost unanimously voted down and a motion to reconsider made by Dockery also failed the necessary support. The vote on the question was 16 to 28.

Annual Meeting of the Wachovia Loan & Trust Co. is Held

The annual meeting of the stockholders and directors of the Wachovia Loan and Trust Company was held yesterday in their office in Winston-Salem, N. C. The meeting was attended by a large number of stockholders and directors and the meeting proved to be a good one. The affairs of the bank were found to be in excellent condition, and the institution constantly growing.

The most important business transacted was the declaring of a semi-annual dividend of three and one-half per cent, this being an increase from a six to a seven per cent basis.

In addition to this a great deal of routine business was transacted and the meeting lasted for some time. All of the officers of the Winston-Salem office and the branches were re-elected with the exception of High Point, where W. C. Idol was elected cashier to succeed C. L. Glenn.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, F. H. Fries; vice president and treasurer, H. F. Shaffner; second vice president, T. S. Morrison; secretary and assistant treasurer, Thomas Maslin. Directors were elected as follows: F. H. Fries, T. S. Morrison, J. E. Gilmer, W. M. Nissen, C. D. Ogburn, H. F. Shaffner, James A. Gray, H. A. Pfuhl, James K. Norfleet, T. L. Vaughn, Sr., H. E. Fries, W. F. Shaffner, Lee S. Overman, J. W. Fries, T. B. Bailey, W. C. Ruffin, E. W. O'Hanlon, Thomas Maslin and Wescott Roberson. Wescott Roberson was re-elected chairman of the local board of directors at High Point.

Mr. Rickel Leaves Indiana.

A. J. Rickel, who was one time connected with the furniture business here writes to the Enterprise that he and his family left on the 19th inst., for the South and would reach North Carolina the latter part of the month. Mr. Rickel owns property here, his old home corner East Green and Hamilton street. He has been in Indianapolis for sometime.

Pretty Store.

V. W. Idol & Co., have just completed the work on the interior of their store in the Ragan-Millis block, and it presents a pretty appearance throughout. We congratulate them on the appearance of the store.

Debating Society.

The weekly meeting of the High School Debating Club took place last night at the school house. The subject of the debate was "Have we good reasons for believing the reign of universal peace is at hand?" Since the last meeting visitors are admitted to the meetings. The members will be glad to welcome any visitor. The boys are having interesting meetings and would give any citizen a warm welcome. Go down it will encourage them.

To Be Remodeled.

The Cecil building now occupied by R. L. Loflin will be remodeled by putting in a modern front and excavating and lowering floor. This will be one of the prettiest fronts in the city when completed.

New Business.

We understand that a new jewelry business will be opened up here in a short time. The concern will be under good management. Two or three good expert watchmakers will be employed. An order has already been placed for the finest and latest style of fixtures.

Another Fine Residence.

The Enterprise has learned that one of our manufacturers is contemplating building a fine residence this spring on Main street.

New Ads.

Lebnard-Beavans-Stamey Co. Remnant sale.
F. P. Cauble. Let us Examine your watch.

Eagle To-night.

For one night only at this theatre will be shown the great Bible story, David and Goliath, a beautiful production. No increase in price, 10 cents.

WRECK ON ASHEBORO ROAD

Three or More Cars Demolished—Track Torn Up for 100 Yards.—Passengers Escape Injury.

Injury.—Third Wreck of this Character in a Short Time.

The mixed train on the Ashboro road that left here this morning at 8:30 o'clock was wrecked about a mile from Randleman this morning. The wreck was probably caused by the spreading of the rails under the pressure of the heavy coal cars.

Three cars were wrecked and others damaged. It was reported at first that the passenger cars turned over, but this was an error. No passengers were hurt, but all realized that they had had a narrow escape.

The Pinehurst train due here at 12:30 could not get by the wreck and a special engine was sent down at 1:30 o'clock for the transfer of passengers.

Three wrecks of this character have occurred on this road within the past few months.

Case of Retailing.

John Cecil was arrested yesterday afternoon for retailing in four counts. He waived the preliminary examination and gave bond of $200 in each case to appear at February term of court.

Maggie Stallings, white, was arrested yesterday for stealing a rain coat from Miss Ellen Harrell. The hearing was before J. Mat Sechrest and the case was compromised by paying for the coat and all costs.

Local and Personal.

Mrs. T. F. Webster, of Madison, arrived in the city at noon for a visit to Mrs. C. T. Ingram.

Rev. Leach Hoover and wife are spending the afternoon in the city.

A. F. Sams, of Winston, is here to-day.

Dr. Grantham, of Mt. Gilead, is in the city.

J. P. Redding attended a meeting of the So. Underwriters at Greensboro. He is always present when dividends are being paid.

E. E. Dale, of Lenoir, is at the Elwood hotel.

Mrs. Harry Howell and Misses Rosa and Mary Short are spending the afternoon in Greensboro.

H. E. Field is a business visitor in Thomasville this afternoon.

I. N. Dobson and E. J. Cotton, of Greensboro are visitors in the city to-day.

The First Reformed church has put in a heater, which assures comfort to the congregation during the winter months.

D. M. Pollock made a business trip to Lexington to-day.

S. Bryant, of Randleman, was in the city last night.

W. R. Ring and O. C. Durland spent yesterday afternoon in Thomasville.

Arthur Lyon left at noon yesterday for Pinehurst to attend the shoot of the Pinehurst gun club, which begins there to-day.

J. W. Merritt, of Greensboro, is in the city.

Mrs. J. M. Ransier, of Hendersonville, is at the Elwood visiting her son, Mr. R. V. Ladd.

Mrs. J. H. Tate is a visitor to Greensboro to-day.

O. R. Cox, of Thomasville, was in the city last night.

Mrs. B. A. Best is spending the day in Thomasville.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Wood went to Greensboro this morning with their son, George, who is to undergo a slight operation by Dr. Banner to-day.

Mayor Wrenn is remodeling his store room, formerly occupied by the Lyric Theatre. He is placing some large plate glass to-day. This will be a very desirable store room when completed.

E. D. Steele is in New York on important business.

Some of the best citizens of High Point saw Ralph V. Clark, the harpist and Odella Gilmore, who appear at the opera house this week and say it is the best show they have seen this year. Col. Bowman tells the Enterprise that he has booked a continuance of the same class of entertainment.

Mayor's Court.

There has been quite a good deal of excitement in the mayor's court for the past few days. The detectives from Columbia have succeeded in working up several cases for retailing and we learn there was another last night.

Besides these there have been other cases that have attracted crowds at the hearings. The woman convicted of being a nuisance was ordered out of town and we learn that money was raised to defray her railroad expenses.

Will Finish To-night.

The special committee from the four wards of the city appointed by the mass meeting to revise the charter and make a report will in all probability finish up their work to-night. The time for the meeting is 7:30 at the Manufacturers' Club. Every member of the committee is expected to be on time.

The mass meeting will be called not later than Monday night.

Miss Frances Ingram Sponsor.

The High Point Camp Confederate veterans at the meeting held here Tuesday, after the presentation of the flag elected Miss Frances Ingram sponsor.

Mr. Clary's Escape.

Joe Clary, a Greensboro boy who has lived in New York for several years, came near losing his life by asphyxiation in a New York hotel one day this week. He was lying at the door unconscious when the gas leakage was discovered by one of the hotel porters. A man named Johnson in whose room Clary was spending the night, was found in bed dead. An ambulance was summoned and Clary was taken to a hospital where he soon recovered.

The news of the mishap was brought to Greensboro by a letter written by Clary to his mother, who lives here. The letter goes on to say that Johnson invited Clary to spend the night with him in his room. Either intentionally or by mistake Johnson left the jet open with fatal result to himself, while Clary had a narrow escape.—Industrial News.

Encouraging Outlook.

High Point has everything to encourage her people to greater undertakings. Through the severest panic that ever struck the country we have come out whole. Our condition along all business lines being far above the average. We want new enterprises here and there are many good openings, but if circumstances should prove so that no new plants were established during the year, we would still have plenty of work ahead of us. Just think for a moment of our sixty industries here. If these were increased just ten per cent every year, we would have a population of 20,000 in a short time. And it will be done.

But we do not lay down on the proposition of new plants. They will come along with the increase in the capacity of the plants now in operation, making our progress all the more rapid. We think that under the circumstances, High Point made its best record in 1908 and we should be encouraged.

Civic League.

There was a meeting of the Civic Improvement League yesterday and at the request of the mayor sent in a special report about the work.

Opera House.

To-night and for the rest of the week the management offers the greatest show for the money ever put on in High Point. In addition to 2,000 feet of fine moving pictures, including the Hidden Treasure and Anthony and Cleopatra, the great solo harpist, Ralph V. Clark will give a musical treat. Grace Gilmore, the sweet singing soubrette will charm and Jack Odell will make you laugh. Odell and Gilmore will electrify the audience with their come by sketch, entitled "Sweet Charity." Same price, ten cents.

Meeting at Raleigh.

John M. Harrell left to-day for Raleigh to attend a meeting of the N. C. Underwriters Association. This organization is now quite large.

AN ELOQUENT ADDRESS

TRIBUTE TO JACKSON

Extract from a speech by Thos. W. Alexander, Charlotte, on the occasion of Lee and Jackson birthdays:

"After forty years of patient inquiry and reflection, history decrees that he deserves as much love and esteem as any of the great captains of warfare. Austerity may undoubtedly be detected in his character, but beyond this the more careful the scrutiny the more will it appear noble and lofty, free from all taint of perfidy, of cruelty, of ingratitude, of envy. Men may be easily named in whom some particular good characteristic has been more conspicuous than in Jackson, but the just harmony of all soldierly qualities, the exact temper between the stern and humane virtues, the habitual observances of every law, not only of profound moral rectitude, but of moral grace and dignity, modesty and quiet determination distinguished him from all men who have been tried by equally portentous circumstances, and about which we possess equally full information. He was also without contradiction the most picturesque figure in the civil war. Not so high in command as General Lee, but possessed of a far more unique personality. In Jackson existed simultaneously two entities, apparently alien and incompatible—that of military genius of the highest degree and religious fervor bordering on fanaticism. The simple Presbyterian elder and the grim undaunted warrior—a union of soldier and saint, unprecedented in history, save probably by Cromwell.

"Ladies and Gentlemen; truth and eloquence nestle often in simplest words.—Let me paraphrase the language of a great American jurist, and in so doing leave with you a terse yet composite portrait of your hero. A little while at Lexington, in the valley of Virginia, I stood in the beautiful cemetery, beside the grave of Stonewall Jackson; I leaned over the balustrade which encloses the sacred spot and gazed upon the simple shaft that marks the final resting place of that restless man. I saw him in his youth combating the problem of life in the backwoods of Virginia and enforcing the laws of his State; I saw him enter West Point and by patient toil and application lay well the foundation for his future greatness; I saw him breveted at Cherubusco and again Chapultepec; I saw him devoting his time and talent for ten years to the instruction of the cadets at the Virginia Military Academy; I saw him at Manassas amid a baptism of fire christened by the gallant Lee as "Stonewall Jackson"; I saw him at Romney, at Richmond and at Kernstown; I saw him reëtte forever the reprobation of disloyalty by clinging to the Union until his State was invaded; I saw him move swiftly and scatter the Union forces like winter's withered leaves; I saw him upon the frightful field of Chancellorsville, where like Epaminondas in the hour of victory he laid his life upon the altar of his country; I saw his body wrapped in the stars and bars he had so ably defended borne across his native State amid the eloquence of approbation and the sobs of mourning.

"And slowly and sadly they laid him down
From the field of his fame fresh and gory
But little he'd reck of they let him sleep on
In the grave where the South-erns hath laid him," and I thought of the power for all that is good and grand and noble his life and his example would be ere hoary centuries shall have planted upon the yet juvenescent brow of the new South the venerable crown of antiquity; and I said that even that cruel war with all its attendant horrors, misery, wrong and sacrifice, was in some measure atoned for by the glorious ideal it had forever stereotyped on the hearts of men in the character and career of Lieutenant General Thomas Jonathan Jackson of the Confederate States Army."

It is Great.
Diozo, the great germ killer, which is handled by Messrs. Cauble & Loflin and Robt. Parker as special agent is having a big run in this and adjoining communities. It is a simple and of such value that the people take hold of it at once. This disinfectant is put up in many ways, both in liquid and powdered form and a child can use it without danger. It prevents disease, kills germs and there is nothing better to use in your homes and at your places of business.

It constantly throws off vapors which disinfect, ozonify and purify the air. Destroys microbes and disease germs. Prevents spread of contagion, imparts a healthful and refreshing odor to the sick room, beneficial in relieving hay fever, asthma, bronchitis or lung trouble.

Makes the clothes closet moth proof, drives away mosquitoes, flies, insects and vermin. A Diozo cabinet in the bedroom insures healthful, refreshing sleep. Destroys disagreeable odors. Prevents disease.
