SOCIAL

Mr. and Mrs. Terry At Home.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Terry gave a party, beautifully carried out in every detail. It was given in honor of their two popular house guests, Misses Linda Clement, of Mocksville, and Ella Lambeth, of Thomasville. Progressive "Travel" was played, which is a game similar to Heart Dice. The score cards were dainty hand-painted suitcases and the scores were kept by attaching baggage tags for every progression. At the conclusion of the number of games played, the ladies' prize, an attractive purse, was cut for by Mrs. C. B. Overman and Miss Frances Ingram. Miss Ingram winning, and presenting it to one of the honor guests. Messrs. B. S. Cummings and Chas. Lambeth cut for the gentlemen's prize. Mr. Lambeth winning the silver mounted grip bag. Dr. Perkins was consoled with a miniature suitcase. A thoroughly delicious ice course was served to the score or more guests present.

Bridge Club.

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club had a delightful meeting this week with Mrs. Richard Johnson at her home on Lombard street. The scores ran very close. Mrs. W. T. Parker, however, becoming the fortunate possessor of a beautiful little water color. Mrs. Johnson served a dainty course of orange ice, sponge and chocolate cake.

Reception.

On Wednesday evening the teachers of the High Point schools were given a reception, by the Manufacturers' Club. The receiving line was composed of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Shipman, Mr. and Mrs. Carson Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Howell and the guests of honor. The evening was very pleasantly spent in getting acquainted and enjoying the beautiful vocal music rendered by Misses Ella Lambeth, of Thomasville, and Edith Moore. Sarris' cream cake and punch were served.

Entre Nous Club.

The first club to reorganize for the winter season was the Entre Nous. The first meeting was held on Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. A. E. Tate. The entire meeting was given over to business, it being the regular time for the election of officers. This resulted in Mrs. W. T. Parker being elected president; vice-president, Mrs. Dred Peacock; and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. W. C. Jones. One new member was elected, this being Mrs. Cook, of Louisiana, who is spending the winter here, with her sister, Mrs. Parker. This makes sixteen regular club members, and it was decided not to invite anyone outside the club to the regular meetings, except to act as substitute for absent members. Plans were made for a reception to be given the latter part of October. This being purely a pleasure club no course of study for the winter is to be taken up. Mrs. Tate served sandwiches, cake and coffee to the following club members present: Mesdames T. I. Gold, C. F. Long, J. W. Harris, B. S. Cummings, Gordon Burnett, W. C. Beavans and Guy Duncan. The next meeting will be with Mrs. B. S. Cummings.

Miss Josephine Sneed, of Virginia, has arrived in the city to act as governess in the family of Mr. J. E. Kirkman.

Mrs. S. L. Davis left Thursday night for New York, where she will join her sisters for a two or three weeks stay.

Mrs. Elmer Leak, of Thomasville spent Thursday afternoon in the city.

Mrs. S. H. Hilliard left yesterday for North Wilkesboro to visit Mrs. Trogden.

Mrs. W. H. Ragan and Miss Berta Ragan return tonight from Atlantic City.

Our Saturday news is crowding us so that we shall have to enlarge the paper to make room for the usual notices and weekly features all of which are important.

HAND INJURED

ACCIDENT TO YOUNG MAN

David Briles, a young white man who works at the Marsh Furniture Co., sustained a very painful injury today while operating a sanding machine, his left hand being torn very badly. Drs. Jones and Turner attended the young man.

OFF ON A PICNIC.

Miss Ethel Pickett took the Royal Ambassadors of the First Baptist church on a picnic to Thomasville today. These bright children deserve a picnic.

THE PELLAGRA BUG.

With the help of Dr. J. R. Reitzel and Mr. J. E. Wagner the Enterprise has discovered the Pellagra Bug, at least Mr. Wagner discovered it. On making examination of some corn field peas recently he discovered that a large per cent of them contained a small white worm. As the pea hardened this little worm evolves itself into a small black bug and eats its way to the outside of the pea. Mr. Wagner brought in a handful of peas to the Enterprise office this morning and demonstrated to us his discovery. Now the question is if this worm does not have the tendency to produce Pellagra when a large portion of the pea crop is composed of this defective pea. If you have raised a crop of peas try this experiment.

ED. SMALL.

Some of the older residents of High Point remember Mr. Ed. Small, who resided in High Point about 25 years ago. He learned photography under Mr. D. L. Clark and was generally known throughout the community. He spent the day here yesterday and the town was so changed that he felt as if he couldn't even find the spot where he lived. It was some where about the place where Detective Hoffman now lives, but he could not exactly locate it. Mr. Small is now a citizen of Atlanta.

A DRUMMER'S DREAM AT THE STATION.

What dat you say? Street cars, Yes Sir, we got 'em, running night and day!
Now if you don't believe it, Just come step dis way.

Now, just you watch 'em whizzing down North Main, Dey dem gone clean to Winston. Full up wid de mayor and sich, Now deys coming back again.

Boss man, we ain't slow coaches, We makes street cars like all creation, To suit de highest quality, O. E. every hustling nation.

You say what de size? of dis here place, Now say, Boss, you done got me, For it shoe does cover up, It's mighty big space.

Oh! sense me Boss, I see, You wants to know how many folks in dis town, Wall I did my best to count 'em, but dey is such a hustling folk

I nebber could hold 'em down.

Wall let me study dat ober, Fire sis-tem? dat what you call it? Tho we got fire horses, trained to de second and de minute, But when dat fire gong strike, dar ain't no Sissy in it.

High Point just makes ebery ting Dat de world eber heard about, Sepin tings what ain't no good, An folks ought to do without 'em.

What dat? does we make big boats? Wall no, not just zackly, dis is er dry town!

And don't have nutin to do, With dem tings what floats.

M. A. J.

Mrs. Chas. W. Fillett, of Charlotte, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. A. Webster, at Archdale.

Don't fail to meet Mr. Waters at the Elwood hotel tonight. He has been delayed some, but will be with us tonight.

The convicts arrived here today and will begin work on the new road to Thomasville Monday. The road will run north of the railroad track all the way to Thomasville.

LOCAL NEWS.

Mr. J. W. Ferrin, who has been living in Salisbury for the past three years, left Saturday for Mocksville, Fla., where he will make his home.

Capt. J. Frank Barber, one of the best known Salisburyans, died about 10 o'clock Monday morning, while on his way to the Salisbury-Spencer Railway Company shed to take out his car.

Mrs. John H. Carter and Miss Mildred Carter, of Lexington, Ky., are expected tonight for a visit to the family of Mr. J. E. Marsh on South Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. D. Brooks, who have been North for two weeks, returned home this morning after a very pleasant trip. While away they visited Harrisburg, New York and Atlantic City.

Mr. P. B. Rodgers, who owns a valuable cotton farm at Dillon, S. C., left this morning to spend a few days there. The people of South Carolina are feeling good over the high price of cotton.

J. E. Williamson, of Wortonville, was in the city today.

Rev. W. R. Ware, Presiding Elder of the Greensboro District will hold the last quarterly conference at the South Main Street M. E. church tomorrow.

Mrs. Dr. R. P. Anderson, of Mocksville, is in the city visiting at the home of J. W. Harris, on Broad street.

The Enterprise was pleased to have a call this morning from Mr. E. A. Maddox, who is connected with the bank at Summerville, Tenn. Mr. Maddox is a nephew of Col. D. F. Maddox, of High Point, and stopped by here for a short visit on his way home from Chicago, where he attended the Bankers' Convention. We regret that he did not have long to stay in our attractive little city.

IMPORTANT MATTER

I am just in receipt of the following telegram from Mr. Waters, representing the Atlanta Journal and who has charge of the National Highway automobile tour south of Roanoke.

Charlotte, N. C. 9/24/09.

Friend N. Tate.

High Point, N. C.

Atlanta Journal Publisher leaves here Saturday morning. Hope to make High Point Saturday. Please arrange a meeting of representative men for conference regarding reception to be held by town's October 30, and also regarding official entry of car by private owners. Whole Southern Division of National Highway must make good showing before class of men who will be in town.

"Waters, Atlanta Journal." From the above it must be clearly understood that High Point is expected to do its full part with a reference to showing the people-boosters who are to pass this way the last of October just what we have.

This matter does not concern especially the automobilists of our city, but every public spirited citizen ought to do his full part towards promoting the interest of our city and especially with reference to the entertainment of these people, as they pass through town time to time.

I earnestly beg that every citizen who feels an interest in the future welfare and development of High Point will attend a meeting tonight at eight o'clock in the lobby of the Elwood Hotel. Let all turn out and demonstrate to Mr. Waters that we are awake to the possibilities of the proposition now before us.

Respectfully,

Fred N. Tate, Mayor.

REV. J. H. HIGHSMITH AT BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. J. H. Highsmith, of Wake Forest, will conduct the services at the First Baptist church tomorrow in the absence of the pastor, Rev. A. L. Powers.

Sunday school at 9:45 a. m.

MISS WILLIAMS MONDAY NIGHT.

Monday night, September 27, at the Auditorium, for the benefit of the hospital, Miss Louise A. Williams, of Georgia, will be heard in her unique "An Evening in the Old South" in which she will give picturesque impersonations and enjoyable dialect stories of the old-time darkeys, whose dusky figures are rapidly vanishing into the shadows beyond.

Miss Williams comes most highly indorsed as an entertainer of unusual ability by the most distinguished people of the country, and has but lately completed a trans-continental tour with the Great Western Musical and Lyceum Bureau. As one hears her stories one listens to the old time "anities," "uncles" and faithful old "mammies" wondrous tales who have no part in the present but sitting with pipe in mouth in victoria-embowered cabins, dream in the grey curls of tobacco smoke, over again the wondrous days "fo' de wah" when gay house parties filled the "Big House" and purely hospitality was dispensed. In addition to their delightful reminiscences, Miss Williams also will give a store of their humorous anecdotes. On her appearance at the Grand Opera House at Colorado Springs Mrs. M. H. J. D. Hayes lamented "Daughter of the Confederacy and last representative of the Jefferson Davis family, lead the patronesses of the evening. From the Colorado Springs Telegram is quoted the occasion:

"Stories in which there was a mingling of pathos and humor, tears and laughter, entertained the largest and most fashionable audience which has gathered in the opera house this season. The occasion was an entertainment given by Miss Louise A. Williams entitled: "An Evening in the Old South." Society filled boxes and the pretty southern girl was given a great ovation. Immense bouquets of cut flowers were cast upon the stage from the boxes. Her impersonations of the old-time negroes have never been equalled here, and her audience of society folk was quick with its appreciation.

THE PROWLER

"I have come to believe that as between energy and intellectual attainment that energy does better in the world," said the Prowler this morning as he sat down for his morning chat. "I have known people who had very little intellectual powers, who were very successful in the world which was due entirely to their energy and tenacity. They would stick to a proposition until some thing was forthcoming. This was due to the fact possibly that this one virtue was all that they had to depend on and they worked it successfully. On the other hand I have known men of intellectual power who just could not make it in any line of business. In the majority of these cases I have noticed that much of this failure was due to a lack of energy. There is a class of educated people who are too presumptuous. They sit down and think that the world should come to them. They fall in many cases out of ten. I have seen this illustrated in college life. The smart boy for some cause pushes ahead, graduates with honors and leaves with flying colors. In after years you look for him and he has gone into oblivion. But there is another boy who was at college with this smart boy who is successful and is making his mark in life. He was a plodder at school, but when he left his energy, such as he had, increased instead of diminishing and he succeeded. In the case of the first boy he stopped work and did not nurse his energetic powers after he left school. We see so many cases of this kind which has surprised and puzzled the college presidents. The point is that we cannot let up in the race that is before us here—if we do not keep up steam all the time we cannot make the race creditably. So I make the observation that because the fellow that comes on first that we did not expect to see win at all is due to his energy."

"It is not better to have both intellectual attainment and energy?"

"I am glad you asked this question. Yes, when both are combined in a person he not only makes a success in life, but he is better fitted to enjoy the effort of his labors because his capacity for enjoyment is greater. We should be endowed with both. It removes man far from the animal nature."

"A person cannot be high in the scale of humanity who lives only to supply his appetites or to just say he has money or property. He has accomplished no more than the American Indian did hundreds of years ago. He had both and yet he was a savage."

"There seems to be plenty of people who want to be that kind of a savage."

"Sh! don't mention it!"
