MURDER IS CHARGED TOTAL ECLIPSE OF SUN N. C. THE "FIRING LINE" THE SECOND DAY OF CONVENTION

MURDER IS CHARGED

Los Angeles, Cal., April 26.—John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Association; his brother, James B. McNamara, and Ortie E. McMannigal, accused of activity in or knowledge of the blowing up of the Times newspaper plant last October when 21 men were killed are in the Los Angeles jail tonight. They are in separate cells surrounded by extra guards.

All three are charged with murder.

Their arrival in irons from Indianapolis and Chicago signals the beginning of a desperate legal struggle. Thus far, however, no definite arrangements have been made for their defense. District Attorney John D. Fredericks, who said yesterday that the state was ready to go to trial at once, announced that the formality of arraignment would now await the convenience of the defense.

The alleged conspirators arrived at the jail from Pasadena in automobiles after running through two crowds, which, in their eagerness to get a glimpse of the prisoners, bore down more than a score of detectives and deputy sheriffs.

As James McNamara entered an automobile to be taken to jail he was seen by Mrs. D. H. Ingersoll, a San Francisco boarding-house keeper, with whom J. B. Bryce stayed before the Times explosion.

James McNamara, according to detectives is held as Bryce, the man alleged to have laid the infernal machine that blew up the newspaper plant. Mrs. Ingersoll peered into the face of McNamara as he entered the machine. The man was shackled to an officer, but he kept his unbound hand before his face. In spite of this Mrs. Ingersoll declared afterward that he was Bryce.

No one, however, could have identified him as Bryce from the printed descriptions sent out after the indictments were found by the grand jury. Thin and pale he looked little like the 160-pound man described in the official circulars.

Mrs. Ingersoll will again confront him in jail tomorrow.

At no time was there evident the least sign of anger on the part of the crowds or of a disposition to justify the apparent fear of the officers that an attempt might be made to rescue the prisoners.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF SUN

Washington, D. C., April 26.—A total eclipse of the sun is scheduled for April 28, visible in the Southern States as a partial eclipse. As a totality it will be observed only on the Archipelagoes of Kongo, Samoa, and Union, of which Vaitvau Island, of the first named group, has been selected by the English expeditions as the best point of observation.

American observatories will send out no expedition, because of the atmospheric conditions on the islands named. On some of them at this season rain falls on an average of seven out of twelve days. The Germans, having a permanent meteorological station at Samoa, will endeavor to make observations.

"The partial eclipse of April 28 will be visible as far northeast as Washington if the sky and the horizon are clear. Pittsburg and Cincinnati also might catch a glimpse of it. Practically all of Mexico and the southern two-thirds of the United States ought to see it quite well. I have made no plans for observing the phenomenon."

THE SECOND DAY OF CONVENTION

A GREAT MEETING--ENJOYED BY MANY VISITORS

Large Delegation from Greensboro--The Days Proceedings Wind Up With the Big Parade

BY MAMIE BAYS.

No feature of the State Sunday School Convention is attracting more favorable and more widespread attention than is the music. The singing of Mr. and Mrs. Butler and the piano accompaniments of Miss Anderson are looked forward to every session with the greatest pleasure. Mr. and Mrs. Butler have been giving their talent to evangelistic work for several years, and recently Miss Anderson has made the same choice. The Times Recorder of Zanesville, Ohio, has this to say of Miss Anderson: "The playing of Miss Mary Anderson, pianist at the Torrey meetings has excited no little attention because of the unusual skill of the player, who is a talented musician. In November, 1909, she joined Dr. Torrey and has been with the company almost continuously since that time." It was Dr. Torrey who first referred to Mr. Butler as the "Singer from the South, with orange blossoms in his voice," and it was he who so highly commended Mrs. Butler in her rendition of "The Holy City" as to say that after having heard her, he wanted her, instead of Mr. Butler, to sing this solo thereafter in his meetings. It is a source of special pleasure to the convention to know that Mrs. Butler will sing as a solo "The Holy City" at the close of the song service with which the session of this evening begins.

It is very probable that the seating capacity of the warehouse will be taxed to its utmost this evening, on account of the large number of delegates who arrive today, increasing the attendance by several hundred, and on account, also, of the special interest in the program.

Mr. Marion Lawrence arrived this morning and he will speak this afternoon and this evening, his subjects being those which will deal with questions of vital interest to the work of the Sunday school, and he will be heard with unusual pleasure.

Opening Session.

The opening session of the convention, held yesterday afternoon, was most auspicious. The large auditorium in which the session was held, contained scores and hundreds of delegates to the convention and residents of High Point.

Rev. R. M. Andrews, of Henderson, president, called the State Sunday School Association to order promptly at 3:30 o'clock, the appointed hour. The convention opened with a song and devotional service which Mr. and Mrs. Butler conducted.

After the close of this service, Mr. Andrews introduced Hon. Fred N. Tate, Mayor of High Point, who delivered the address of welcome to the convention. Mr. Tate began with the statement that it was not his purpose to take up the time of the convention with a long address. He said that it was not necessary for him to tell the convention the advantages and benefits of High Point, nor to tell what she is and what she expects to be.

Mr. Tate said further that during the past two years he had been called upon to welcome a number of conventions holding their sessions in this city, but that never had he experienced such pleasure in this connection as upon this special occasion. His concluding statement was that when he extended welcome to the Sunday School Convention to High Point, he did so in the name of every man, woman and child who is a resident of this city.

Mr. E. S. W. Dameron, of Burlington, delivered the response to the address of welcome. After expressing, for the convention, appreciation for the cordial welcome extended, he referred to the work of the Sunday school, and showed this organization to be one in which the workers are united in a common cause under a common banner, their object being the conquest of the world for Jesus Christ. He emphasized the fact also that one great object of the Sunday school in North Carolina is to place the Bible in the hands of every man, woman and child in the state.

Mr. Dameron referred to the church, the state, and the home as the three great corner stones of the nation and showed that the Sunday school is an ally of all of these. Speaking of the fact that three of the Presidents of the United States in recent years, including President Taft, have sent encouraging messages to the Sunday School leaders of the world, he said that fact is significant and shows that these men occupying the highest place in the nation recognize the Sunday school as an ally of civic righteousness and a guardian of the home.

The other feature on the afternoon program was the annual address of the president. Mr. Andrews spoke on the subject, "The Value of a Vision," and his address was one which evidenced careful thought and earnest appeal. He began with the statement that the best of man is within him and is not material. He then showed the value of a vision in the pursuit of that perfection of life which every Christian desires to attain. Many people, he said, are needing and wanting a vision, and that the difference between success and failure, between salvation and damnation depends largely upon vision.

Speaking of the transforming power of vision Mr. Andrews said that it is the power which expels evil and develops good, and that no life can afford to lose sight of vision which is the force that lifts men and women above the things which discourage.

The speaker last evening was Rev. C. W. Byrd, D. D., of Asheville. It was expected that Rev. C. N. Tyndall, D. D., of Fayetteville, would be present also and speak at that hour, but he was detained at home, on account of illness. The theme of Dr. Byrd's address was the supreme need of Sunday school workers, and he showed that as individuals and as a class what these workers need above all else is touch with life, with the life of Jesus Christ. He emphasized the fact that Jesus Christ is the only perfect man—physically, intellectually, and spiritually, that the world has ever seen, and that He alone furnishes a model for men and women of today to look to for direction and uplift.

Dr. Byrd's address was filled with earnestness and appeal and was heard with close attention and frequent expressions of approval.

The social hour held at the close of the program was an enjoyable feature of the evening.

TODAY'S SESSION.

After the song services of the session this morning the president of the State Association announced several committees. The next hour was devoted to hearing the reports of the work of the past year from the superintendents of different departments. Mrs. E. R. Michaux, superintendent of elementary work, Rev. J. C. Caldwell, of teacher training, were not able to be present. The reports submitted were from Mrs. C. D. Melver, home department, T. B. Eldridge, organized adult class, Miss Dora Redding, visitation.

Rev. L. F. Johnson, statistician, was not present, and J. Van Carter, general secretary, read his report. This report showed that eleven denominations are affiliated in the Sunday school work of the state. These denominations are Friends, Christian, Episcopalian, Presbyterian, Methodist, Missionary Baptist, Methodist Protestant, Reformed, Disciples, Moravian, and Lutheran. J. Van Carter, general secretary, submitted his annual report and this report furnished all of the evidence necessary to prove that he has been an exceedingly busy man during the past year, and that his first year in this office has been one of marked success. He has travelled extensively over the state, has a number of county and township conventions and delivered numerous addresses.

Mr. Carter paid a high tribute to Miss Maude Reid, the efficient office secretary of the state association. It is not to be questioned that she is the officer whose work is of more detail and is more difficult than that of any officer connected with the state association. The success which has been attained in this association is due to the cheerful, constant work of Miss Reid to a much larger degree than many of the Sunday school workers of the state realize.

The report of the treasurer was submitted, Miss Reid presenting the same. This report showed that $4,915.45 has been contributed to the work in the state the past year, and has been expended in the interest of the work, except a balance of $241 now on hand. Wake county has contributed the largest amount during the year, and has won the banner for contribution.

N. B. Broughton, who has been the efficient chairman of the executive committee of the state association for the past sixteen years, submitted a report that was encouraging throughout. This report emphasized especially the fact of the increase in denominational activity during the past year.

Mr. Broughton referred to his long term as chairman of the executive committee and asked to be
