STORIES OF SUCCESS

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL

Some one has said that success is a matter not so much of talent or opportunity as of concentration and perseverance. Concentrated, determined effort solves most of life's problems, and it was persistent application in the face of repeated discouragements that in the end crowned with success the endeavors of Alexander Graham Bell to give to the waiting world the telephone.

Had he been less determined he would have achieved failure; for ambition wins when determination carries it through.

When a man saves he reinforces will power with ready money.

If you have a snug little sum stowed away in the savings bank, you are as independent as any man on earth.

Begin now.

Put your savings in this safe bank and they will be working for you every day, whether YOU work or not.

Every dollar you save now will look as big as a ten-dollar bill when your earning days are over. The sooner you begin the more you'll have.

ROLAND PARK

Valuable Residential Property Opened Up By Winston Citizens

The Roland Park Co., composed of Winston citizens, closed the deal yesterday with Mr. Hal Bencini for his property in the northern portion of the city, 60 acres, the coming residential section of the city. The property is ideal for the purpose. It is prettily wooded and just enough rolling to lend itself to the development contemplated.

The main approach to the Park will be through a continuation of Greensboro avenue, which will be opened at once west of Main street. The entrance to the Park will be marked a block from Main street by two ornamental stone lodges and two stone columns mounted by a cluster of electric globes.

The Park will be circled by a winding Boulevard, seventy feet in width. In the center will be a court with grass, flowers and a fountain. There will be other streets and avenues planned with an eye to beauty as well as to utility.

The Park will be owned by the Roland Park Company, composed of Winston-Salem capitalists - E. V. Edmunds, Thomas Masten, Geo. F. Dwire and Mr. Jerome. They have incorporated with an authorized capital of $250,000. The Enterprise knows that they are all good, substantial men and High Point is to be congratulated upon their becoming thus interested in the growth and advancement of our city.

The company will grade and pave sidewalks, and put in water, sewerage and lights throughout the Park. The lots will be sold privately with certain restrictions as to building line, character of structures and so forth. The plans insure a residential park that will surpass any other in this part of the county, and will be a show place and a source of pride to our citizens. This is an undertaking that means much for the progress of High Point.

An engineer will begin work Monday laying off streets and within 30 days the public may see the lots platted in all their beauty and advantageous surroundings. Already more than a dozen people have spoken for lots but none will be sold until plot is completed.

FLOYD ALLEN ARRESTED

Severely Wounded-- Fire Arms Stolen
from Mt. Airy

Special to Enterprise.

Hillsville, Va., March 15.—Detective Feltz with twenty picked men, reached here today and took charge of the legal machinery and formally arrested Floyd Allen, the desperado who started the murders in the court room, and immediately instituted search for the seventeen mountaineers who shot up the court room. Floyd Allen is severely wounded. A mountaineer named Strickland who last night paraded the village streets showing firearms, was arrested. A telephone message says that a hardware store at Mt. Airy, N. C., twenty miles distant, was entered last night and the entire supply of fire arms and ammunition stolen. It is believed that the mountaineers did it. "Everything looks like trouble," said Feltz. "I am prepared for anything."

ALLEN TRIES TO KILL HIMSELF.

Militia On the Way to Scene.
Hillsville, Va., March 15.—Floyd Allen attempted to cut his throat when he was formally arrested today. He will probably recover. In addition to the throat wound Allen is suffering from three bullet wounds and a broken leg. Word from Warren Springs says that Captain F. W. Davat, of Company F, State of Virginia Volunteers, and twenty men, heavily armed, are en route here this afternoon.

DR. WILEY RESIGNS

Washington, D. C., Mar. 15.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief government chemist, tendered his resignation to Secretary Wilson today. "There is no statement I can make now," said Wiley. "Dr. Wiley has resigned, that is all I can say now," Wilson said.

WILEY ACCEPTS EDITORSHIP.

Dr. Wiley has accepted the editorship of Good Housekeeping, a woman's magazine published in Boston. He has also arranged a lecture tour with the Chatauqua bureau. It has been known for weeks he considered retirement. Since the first of the year a powerful lobby of manufacturers opposed his strict enforcement of pure food laws, and fought him. Wiley says he is tired of strife and turmoil raised not only by personal attacks but by internal friction in the department of agriculture.

New York, March 15.—The magazine, Good Housekeeping, announced today that Dr. Wiley had accepted the position as "Director in the department of Food, Health, Sanitation," which magazine he will establish in Washington. Dr. Wiley will remain in Washington where he will have a laboratory of his own. It is asserted he will have a free hand to pursue work in any manner he desires.

BACKING JUDGE J. G. SHAW FOR LIEUT.-GOVERNORSHIP.

Fayetteville, March 14.—At a largely attended meeting of the friends and supporters of Hon. John G. Shaw, who is a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, held in this city tonight, steps were taken to present his name to the Democratic voters of North Carolina and to press his claims as the candidate of the Cape Fear section of the State to the nomination.

Mr. Shaw will have the enthusiastic support of his home people then the Sixth district, as well as the entire Cape Fear section which has never enjoyed the honor of being represented in the council of State since the Civil war.

MEETING CHAPTER.

There will be a regular meeting of High Point Chapter No. 70 R. A. M. this evening at 7:30 o'clock, as officers are to be elected all companions are earnestly requested to be present.

J. H. Dobbs, Sec.

Miss Robah Bencini left today for a few days visit at Randolph-Macon College and for a visit to her friend, Miss Glass, of Lynchburg.

F. S. Lambeth, of Thomasville, was here last night to attend the banquet. He is always a welcome visitor in High Point, where he really belongs, although he is living now in a splendid town.

Rev. W. R. Ware, who attended the banquet last night left this morning for Greensboro.

Pumping Station Submerged

On account of the heavy rains for the past 12 hours the rise of water in Deep River has submerged the pumping station and the engine and boilers are under water. The rise in Deep River is worse than for years. The water was cut out of the mains at noon today. This leaves the city without water. But the tower is held for emergency purposes in case of fire.

LATER:

NO WATER TIL MONDAY

Mayor Tate phones us from the station that the water had apparently subsided an inch or more, and if it did not rain any more, the pumps would be able to start up Monday.

The record of the high water exceeds any previous record by several feet.

Deep River on the Rise

A phone message at 2 o'clock says that the water in Deep River is flowing 12 inches over the bridge at Jamestown. The bridges at the Idol mill and the Willard mill have been washed away. The Oakdale cotton mill has been forced to close down.

The river is higher than in years and the water is still rising.

BRIDGES GONE.

A phone message at 4 o'clock says that boiler house and bridge at Oakdale and the bridge at Freeman's Mill are washed away. Water still rising at that hour.

"Proficient for Active Service in the Field"

Last night Company M High Point Rifles stood their annual inspection. Both state and government. In efficiency drills and discipline this company stands at the head of the list. Capt. Doughton, the U. S. A. inspecting officer in making his report to the war department stated that Company M was most proficient for active service in the field. Everything connected with the inspection was very commendable.

SMOKER TONIGHT

Smoker tonight complimentary to Mr. J. H. Tregoe, secretary of the National Association of Credit Men, at Manufacturers Club 7-45.

SPARKS CIRCUS COMING.

Sparks' Circus will be here April 12th. If the ground hog is still here then Charley Sparks will add it to his menagerie.

POSTPONED FLAG RAISING

The flag raising which was to take place at the Grimes Street Graded School tonight, has been postponed on account of the weather, until Friday, March 29.

Among those who saw the "Spring Maid" at Greensboro last night were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hart, Mrs. J. J. Farriss, Mr. R. B. Terry, Misses Clara and Mildred Harmon, Vera Idol, Blanche Shattock, Mrs. W. D. Simmons, Miss Mabel Prim, Miss Suttentfield, Messrs. Clarence Mattocks, Wescott Roherson, C. C. Barnhardt, Herbert Austin and O. E. Wilson.

No Recorder's court today.

Let us hope that this is the real Equinox and that fair weather is just ahead of us.

THE BANQUET A SUCCESS

A Splendid Address By Bishop
Kilgo

An occasion unique in character and crowded with pleasure in its every detail was the banquet given at the Elwood hotel last night by the Stewards of Washington Street M. E. church, complimentary to the laymen of that congregation. This occasion was emphasized and interest added by the presence of Bishop Kilgo, who made the principal address of the evening, and some of the former presiding Elders and pastors.

The guests assembled in the upstairs lobby at 8 o'clock and had a most delightful social meeting before going into the dining room. There were 125 present, almost all male members of the congregation, a very impressive gathering and one which reflected credit upon this, the largest church in the city. There was the genuine old-fashioned Methodist hand-shake and welcome, the influence of which was no doubt felt by all. A quartette composed of Fred X. Tate, Ad Burns, I. V. Garrett and O. E. Mendenhall rendered appropriate vocal music. Not only from a denominational standpoint, but from one of civic pride, this array of christian manhood was one for encouragement and pride in its strength.

At 9 o'clock this large body of men filed into the dining room, where Mr. Lewis Woodson had prepared a most tempting menu. The company stood while the blessing was asked by Rev. Dr. F. H. Wood, of Trinity, a former Presiding Elder of this district.

Menu

- Bisque of Tomato
- Pin Money Pickles
- Queen Olives
- Broiled Lamb Chops
- Mushroom
- Candied Yams
- Asparagus, Hollandaise
- Roast Young Turkey
- Currant Jelly
- Saratoga Chips
- Green Peas
- Rice Cake with Peaches
- Waldorf Salad
- Hot Mince Pie
- Ice Cream
- Assorted Cake
- Mixed Nuts and Raisins
- American Cheese
- Saltine Wafers
- Cafe Noir
- Fruits

The provision was so well made and so inviting that it was after 10 o'clock before the speaking began.

Dr. W. G. Bradshaw was toastmaster and in his usual happy manner extended a cordial greeting to all. This was followed by another splendid vocal selection by the quartette, which was vociferously applauded and justly so.

In introducing Bishop Kilgo, Dr. Bradshaw referred to him as a human, physical dynamo and expressed the genuine pleasure it brought to the hearts of the men in having him present. Dr. Kilgo said he found himself in the same position of the young man who asked Horace Greely for advice about getting married. He was told that in either case he would regret it. He felt like that if he spoke he would regret it and if he didn't he would have the same feeling. He said that he congratulated himself on being a member of that great fraternity composed of the christian manhood and womanhood of the country, the greatest on earth. In it the highest achievement of man was carried out. I love the Methodist church. I like it for all sorts of reasons and if I belonged to another denomination I would feel perfectly at home with the brethren. I like the Methodist church for its development amid peculiar historical difficulties and events and especially what it has done on this continent. In it there is a bond of union which historians have not discovered, a fraternity noted for its spirit of freedom as well as genuine hospitality.

Asking the direct question, what is your conference—what does this organized power mean? Dr. Kilgo went into an eloquent defense and explanation of the great work of the church, the benefits of the itinerant system, the sacrifices made in carrying it out and the genuine patriotism exhibited, such as that which was exhibited by the son of God. A demonstration of true democracy, a spirit which shows that it cares for humanity itself, and not simply the forms for carrying out democracy. This highest form of democracy can be seen in the Methodist machinery in all history, embracing men and women in all walks of life, going into the log cabin as well as the palace, and requiring of all alike no more nor no less, the spirit of true democracy—the love of humanity.

Touching upon the home life, Dr. Kilgo paid a most beautiful tribute to what the world finally admits is the best society, the God-loving, God-fearing men and women, who live the higher life as laid down by Jesus Christ, which starts around the family altar and ends in heaven. It is the best society not only from a spiritual standpoint, but from a worldly one. Said Dr. Kilgo, go to your tax books, to the places of business and places of trust and you will find 80 per cent of the men church members. A man born in a christian home and guarded by christian influences in his bringing up is even better off than kings. All things in life worth the while are measured by the religious faith of the people.

In closing this eloquent speech Dr. Kilgo congratulated the Methodist people here on the work that had been done and felicitated them on that which they proposed to do. He was pleased that they contemplated building a new church which they should do under the blessings of God. The address contained all of the elements of the finishing product, such as few men can make, and it was not only highly enjoyed by all, but its influence will benefit the church and community as well.

Rev. Dr. F. H. Wood, who has been a member of the conference for 52 years was the next speaker who supplemented part of Dr. Kilgo's able address with interesting and helpful experiences during his long service as a preacher. Dr. Wood enjoined on his hearers to always observe the golden rule, be good men, declaring that this would solve all problems not only locally but everywhere. He closed with a touching allusion to his last labors and a benediction to the work as it falls into the hands of younger men.

Dr. Wood was followed by Rev. J. E. Thompson, a former pastor, Rev. W. R. Ware, presiding elder, Pastor Barnhardt and Dr. Dred Peacock whose short talks fitted in appropriately as a finish to the splendid exercises. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Courtney, of Thomasville.

The Enterprise congratulates Pastor Barnhardt, the Board of Stewards, in fact the entire church on the success of the occasion. It was wisely planned and appropriately consummated.
