STORIES OF SUCCESS

PETER WHITE

Fortune may find a pot, but your own industry must make it boil. If any man ever earned the success of his life's labors, and found a pot in the iron mines of the Upper Peninsula...

From that day success was his. But in the glory of wealth he did not forget the lean days of savings which forged the chain of his future prosperity...

Examiner Gibson Closes Hearing on Freight Rate

Examiner Gibson closed the rate hearing yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The hearing has been one of unusual interest. The final examination of Mr. Browder, who was put through a severe grilling by Mr. Justice showed that he was an expert witness in the art of evading all answers, not only directly but moreover indirectly. However, when the court at Washington reviews a brief of the case, and notes first the direct question, and the cunning attempt in almost every instance to evade and the failure to answer these questions, the attempt of the Railroad Company to suppress the answers will be plainly brought out. We believe that this specific attempt at evasion which the railroad put up will be seen by the Interstate Commerce Commission and that they will deal rigidly with the railroad company.

MURPHY IS LEADER

Disgrace to Southern and Western Democratic Sentiment. Special to Enterprise. New York, April 11.—An un-instructed delegation pledged by resolution to vote as a unit on all subjects, is certain to fulfill the will of boss Murphy of Tammany Hall, to represent New York state at the Baltimore convention. This was determined by the Democratic convention today. Murphy was accepted as state leader and delegates after naming congressional district and "Big Four" delegations, adopted a platform assailing Taft for votes of various bills reducing the tariff, lauding action of Democratic House of Representatives.

DIES FROM INJURIES

Special to Enterprise. New York, April 11.—John Goldberg, aged 21, a boxer, died today following a bout last night at the Sharkey Athletic Club. The direct cause of his death is uncertain and an autopsy ordered. Club officials were unable to arouse him, and two hours later he was taken to the hospital unconscious.

WAS IT A COMBINE?

Special to Enterprise. New York, April 11.—William F. McCombs, campaign manager for Wilson, in a statement today said the result of the Democratic primaries in Illinois "was not unexpected." It is alleged that all former Harmon and Underwood supporters in Illinois combined against Wilson in favor of Clark.

AID THE MAIL CARRIERS

Postmaster Ragan advises us that a general order has been issued in the department of postal service encouraging the use of private mail boxes or other receptacles at residences for mail; "By direction of the Postoffice Department, the attention of patrons of this office is invited to the advantages of providing facilities for the receipt of their mail by erecting conveniently accessible boxes or cutting suitable slots in their doors. Such action would enable the postmaster to give a prompt and better delivery service with the means at his disposal, since the carriers can cover much more territory in less time if not compelled to wait for an answer to their ring. Private receptacles for mail are also a great convenience to the householder, obviating the necessity of responding to the carrier's call at inconvenient moments and permitting the safe delivery of mail in the absence of members of the household. They also prevent the occasional necessity of a carrier's proceeding on his route without delivering mail because of failure to answer his ring within a reasonable time, and enable him to make deliveries to patrons living on or near the end of the route at an earlier hour.

"It has been shown by actual experience that the benefits derived by patrons of city delivery from the use of such receptacles far outweigh the small expense involved. As this office is interested in furnishing the best possible service at the least expense, your compliance with the foregoing suggestions will be much appreciated."

HIGH SCHOOL WINS AGAIN

High Point, 4; Jamestown, 2. In a rather well-played game of base ball at Jamestown yesterday the local High School again emerged victorious doubling the score on the Jamestown players, 4 to 2. This was accomplished notwithstanding the fact that two would-be Greensboro league players were in the game for Jamestown and the locals were playing on unaccustomed grounds. No spectacular plays were made on either side but steady, consistent ball was played throughout the game. Farlowe for the locals allowed seven hits but kept them so scattered as not to be serious. Richardson for Jamestown was touched for one more and these came opportunely.

This is the fourth game played this season and the fourth won, having an average of 1000. A hard schedule is just ahead of the team, but every player will do his best to maintain the unbroken line of victories.
Score: R. H. E.
High Point 4 8 3
Jamestown 2 7 5
Batteries: Farlowe and White; Richardson and Kirkman. Umpire, Lee. Time of game 1 hour and 35 minutes.

Higher Up

From the testimony before the special examiner here on the rate question this week as well as from other evidence that has developed during the agitation it can plainly be seen that North Carolina is up against a big problem and one which if not solved will retard the progress of this section very seriously. It is very plain that the furniture plants in the state have been taxed 20 cents on the hundred to points on the Pacific coast more than the plants in states north of us and it is beginning to dawn on the manufacturer that it has been done for a purpose other than making revenue for the railroads. The revenue may have been some consideration, but not all. Furniture in North Carolina can be made cheaper than at any other point and at the same time taking good care of labor. So forcibly was this impressed on the country at large at one time, that large delegations visited this section from Grand Rapids and other points north to ascertain how it was done. Then came the labor organizations as a disturbing element, but our working people did not take well to their plans, preferring to trust to the fairness and judgment of home people with whom they had grown up.

These delegations found that owing to natural conditions the laboring man was as well paid here at the wages he was receiving as he was in other sections. The situation which these manufacturers met in North Carolina looked grave to them. They could see no future for them in the same grade of goods and went back home looking very serious.

Since the rate on this class of goods has been increased 30 cents a hundred pounds they don't seem to be very much troubled, and everything is running to their notion, because under the higher rate High Point and North Carolina no longer does the business in the west.

In our opinion such a result was not brought about in the regular way of classified rates, but through the machinations of a set of business men in one section against business men in another. The strangest phase of the whole situation is that the Southern Railway Co. will longer submit to a suicidal policy. There is no line of business that furnishes to railroads more revenue than is furnished by furniture and other wood-working plants and as a business proposition they should desire for these industries to continue to prosper.

JOSEPH ANDREW BULLINS

Joseph Andrew Bullins was born December 2, 1877, and died April 5, 1912, being a little more than 34 years of age. He was married on July 12, 1910 to Hannah Whittington, of Huntington, W. Va. In March, 1910, they moved to High Point, where they resided until his death. During his recent illness he professed faith in Christ, and often expressed a desire to depart and be with Him. His chief regret was, he had no one to take with him and lay at the feet of his Lord, as he had no opportunity after his conversion to help any one else into the Kingdom of Heaven. His wife, mother, a brother and four sisters survive him.

Another Side to the Allen Case

The bloody tragedy over at Hillsville, Va., has made the whole country think as well as shudder and anything bearing on the terrible affair is of interest. The Enterprise obtains the following story from a gentleman who received his information in a conversation with an attorney who defended Floyd Allen:

The whole trouble began with the breaking out of the war and was continued as a political feud afterwards. Old man Allen it seems was the only man in the county who volunteered as a Confederate soldier. All others were Union sympathizers. He served in the Confederate army and when he came home he and his family began to have trouble. Under the conditions the county was hopelessly Republican and the Allens were among the few Democrats. The county has always been Republican and is yet and the story goes that very few Democrats could speak peaceably in the county without the aid and protection of the Allens with their guns. On account of this high feeling and being in a minority the Allens it is said had to fight their way through. The story also goes that on account of politics there was a bitter feeling between the prosecuting attorney, clerk and sheriff who were Republicans and who were killed and the Allens, the Allens believing that these men were using their offices for persecuting and hounding them. So bitter was the feeling that the Allens swore that this crowd should not arrest an Allen. In consequence of this situation everybody on both sides was loaded at the critical moment. The shooting of Judge Massie who was in line of the shooting it is further stated was not intended by the Allens, they only intended to kill the Republican officers who had been active in their prosecution. Judge Massie had befriended the Allens on former occasions. This is the story that comes from one who should know some of the conditions that surround the noted case. It is a horrible affair from any standpoint and there must have been long and bitter feeling to bring about such a bloody result. Floyd Allen, who was wounded in the leg, accidentally shot himself in trying to get his pistol out from under his sweater.

SPARKS CIRCUS COMES HERE TOMORROW

Circus day is fast approaching and the small boy is on his best behavior. If it were not for the fact that his mother is wise to his methods, his angelic goodness would give her some alarm. She knows that he is working to see "that circus." For that matter mother wants to see it also. Father is non-committal but it is the one best bet that he will be there if it for no other reason than to take the boy. You see he has not forgotten when he was a little shaver himself. Spark's World's Famous Shows will be here Friday, April 12 and will then unfold its myriads of wonders gathered from all portions of the universe. The principal query it presents is, "Are you going to the circus?" The answers give rise to the belief that show day will see the greatest outpouring of people from all parts of the county this city has ever seen. There is every reason to expect this. The promises held forth are simply wonderful, and they come from an institution which in over a quarter of a century has never broken faith with the public or advertised things it did not have.
