THE PASSING CONGRESS

Great Policies Have Been Outlined, but Little General Legislation--Prolonged by Political Activities

IT'S RECORD IN BRIEF

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—Congress is about to terminate a session that has now run over 250 days. Since the organization of the government there have been but seven continuous sessions of great length. Measured by the standard of new laws enacted, this one has not been fruitful of much general legislation; but from the standpoint of great issues fought out and great policies outlined, it has been of more than usual interest.

Political activities have helped to prolong it; and political differences between the house and the senate, the one Democratic and the other controlled by an independent element of the Republican party, have served to tie up appropriation bills and impede the progress of much general legislation.

Many huge annual appropriation bills that should have become effective July 1 still are at issue between the two houses.

Minor legislation and important questions of general interest are to be laid aside in an effort to bring about adjournment by next Saturday, or at the latest by the end of the following week.

Some Things Done.

The more important developments that have marked the session, many of them outside the record of general legislation, are: The decision of the senate that William Lorimer had not been legally elected senator from Illinois.

The beginning of the impeachment proceedings against Judge Archbold of the commerce court. Abrogation of the Russian treaty, following the agitation in congress over the Jewish passport question.

Substantial defeat by amendment of President Taft's arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France.

Notice by the senate to foreign nations that the United States will permit none to acquire naval or military sites in the Western Hemisphere.

Approval of a constitutional amendment for direct election of senators.

Decision of both houses in favor of free passage for American ships at Panama, in face of Great Britain's protest that this would be a violation of treaty rights.

Things to Be Done.

Admission of New Mexico and Arizona to statehood.

Veto by President Taft of tariff bills passed by Democratic-Progressive alliance.

Creation of a children's bureau in the department of commerce and labor.

Increase of civil war pensions through the Sherwood service pension law.

Important questions remain to be settled this week between the two houses, or between congress and the President. Many of them incorporated in the annual appropriation bills, are:

Proposed abolishment of the tariff commission and the commerce court.

Battleship building programme for 1913.

Reorganization plans for the army, partly rejected by the President when he vetoed the army appropriation bill.

Establishment of a parcels post system.

Restriction of civil service employees to seven-year terms.

Details of the Panama canal administration law.

Creation of a federal department of labor.

The President's vetoes affected the wool tariff; army appropriation bill, seeking to legislate Maj.-Gen. Wood out of the chief-of-staff's office; purchase of permanent army maneuver grounds near Anniston, Ala.; the right to build a dam across the White river at Cotter, Ark.; sales of burnt timber on Indian lands; inherited lands of the Five Civilized Tribes of Indians; reimbursement of those who furnished labor and materials on the Corbett tunnel, Shoshone irrigation project.

The senate has ratified nine treaties during the session, including those with France and Great Britain, which the President refused to accept in amended form, and the following:

Settlement of pecuniary claims between the United States and Great Britain, agreement of international naval conference on war, prizes, copyright treaty with Hungary, North Atlantic fisheries treaty with Great Britain, neutralization treaty with Costa Rica, international wireless telegraph treaty, international treaty on assistance and salvage at sea.

NEW YORK HAS ANOTHER SHOOTING

New York, Aug. 19.—District Attorney Alfred C. Fuchs, of Stapleton, Staten Island, today was shot and seriously wounded by Mrs. Elizabeth Edmunds who explained that Fuchs had not settled a law suit. She followed Fuchs along the streets and fired the three shots, all took effect as he was about to enter his office. The woman was arrested.

Dinner Party

One of the most pleasant small affairs of the week was the dinner party given Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Briggs in honor of their son, Mr. Gurney, Briggs, who has been spending his vacation at the home of his parents. The guests were Misses Hazel, Clara and Mildred Harmon, Hazel Briggs, Messrs. Gurney Briggs, Luther Canup, and Coffield.

Evening Party.

The same evening Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Zollicoffer entertained in honor of their charming sister, Miss Catherine Zollicoffer, of Weldon. An original magazine advertisement contest was prepared by the clever hostess, and in this the prizes were won by Miss Mary White and Mr. Charles Matton. The lights which beamed so brightly on the merry company wore pretty mission shades and the beams under these fell far out on the avenue when many a stroll was made by these members of the young society set, who are yet in their teens. In addition to the delicious cream course punch was served on the veranda.

Informal Game.

Impromptu and most informal was the delightful little bridge whist party given Wednesday morning by Mrs. Ed. Parker. Only two tables were brought into requisite for the special friends of the hostess who spent two hours trying their skill at this game. Many vases of flowers from the hostess' own flower garden made an additional brightness. The lovely bon bon dish

Schepps Reaches New York

New York, Aug. 19.—Sam Schepps, accompanied by District Attorney Whitman, arrived here today from Albany. Whitman would not talk for publication, but appeared pleased at meeting the long sought man. Schepps is expected to go immediately before the grand jury.

COMPROMISE ON BATTLESHIP.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—The Senate and House conference today agreed to compromise on one $15,000,000 battleship in the navy appropriations bill, paving the way for a termination deadlock on measure.

NOTICE.

All children who expect to enter school this fall must be vaccinated.

The Pickett Cotton Mills

The Pickett Cotton Mills, located at High Point, N. C., were designed by Lockwood, Greene & Co., of Boston. The engineers also supervised the erection that was entirely taken care of by the Central Carolina Construction Co. The construction of the Pickett Mills is very similar to the Panola Mills, designed by the same firm, and this type of construction seems to be very well suited for mills of this size.

These mills are up-to-date in every respect, and in general the construction may be said to be brick pilasters, concrete panels, and timber columns, beams and girders. The reinforced concrete panels relieve considerably the usual solid mass of red brick, and the two outside towers at the middle of the building, one on either side of the structure, serve to break the otherwise plain outline of the mill. By using the concrete panel, the brick arch ordinarily employed has been omitted and a square window employed. In this way the lighting facilities have been considerably increased. Furthermore, the speed in erection was greater than would have been the case with all standard mill construction, and also the cost is said to have been cheaper. Provision for future expansion has been well taken care of, and the electric drive has been adopted.

The mills consist of two buildings, the larger one of which conhigh with the machine shop and dust room in the basement. The pump and boiler house both connect with and are adjacent to the main mill. The smaller structure of two stories contains the warehouse and opening room. Reinforced concrete loading platforms extend from the two building to the spur of the railroad that runs between and thence to the rear of the boiler house where is situated the coal trestle.

Use of Concrete.

Concrete is used for the footings of all walls, piers, flues, steps

STIEFF PIANOS

"Sing Their Own Praise"

The beautiful singing tone, perfectly balanced action and touch, combined with unequalled durability, is the REASON, and the ONLY REASON, for the high esteem in which the Artistic Stieff is held in exclusive musical circles, and those who are interested in higher musical education.
