THE SPIRIT OF THE TURK

The fight over the senatorship by some of our newspaper friends as well as the "hired orators" shows plainly that genius may have its limitations, but stupidity has none. The political war clouds are menacing with campaign repression at Washington and political crises at home—this is the order of present day things, with the unplaceable hatred of the Turks very much in evidence.

WORSE AND MORE OF IT.

It is a sad condition of affairs in New York but there is still hope that by investigation, publicity and exposure, and by a severe and summary punishment of the guilty, that the practice of graft may be destroyed, at least for a season. Public sentiment in that city does not seem to be strong enough to engage in a conflict with criminal accumulation. Even one of the detectives employed by Burns was discovered to have sold out for $5,000, and there is no telling how many more employed by the detective agencies and District Attorney Whitman are preparing to double-cross their employers. New York has been so intent upon money-making that the entire city seems to be permeated with the philosophy that the only sin is poverty, and the only folly is to refuse to make money by any method, however culpable.

Graft is a plant of modest beginning and slow growth. In cities it usually begins with a cigar or a drink of whisky or a free lunch given to the policeman on the beat who will look after the interests of a saloon, prevent brawls and hush up disturbances. When the good people get together and enact laws restricting the operation of saloons and other places, and when it becomes profitable to violate these laws, the position of the policeman increases in importance, and his influence is worth all the more.

It is the same with gambling houses and other illegal establishments. When these places are permitted to run in violation of law, those whose duty it is to enforce the law must be paid handsomely for their complaisance in keeping their eyes closed. As the business grows it becomes systematized, and carried on with the same diligence as any other business.

If you trust a friend trust him to the last—it is better to be humiliated by a betrayal than be incapable of a perfect faith. After all the object of a man's forgiveness may be unworthy, but that cannot mar the fineness of your pardon.

It is not so much a fight between Kitchin, Simmons and Clark as it is for the perpetuation of that policy of the Democratic party which up to this time has been in the majority and made the platforms. For fifteen years there have been two factions in the party and as we understand it, that element which heretofore has had comparatively little following has selected the "flower of Democracy" for their leader and hope to win on his past record. To be candid about the matter the plan of battle is better laid than ever before and with the lights on in the tower and some of the old time sentinels asleep or deaf and dumb, the result cannot be foreseen. We do not believe that North Carolina is ready for a change of sentiment if the voters once understand the true situation.

PICKETT MILLS, HIGH POINT, N. C.

and manholes. The main mill, 305 feet 5 inches long x 104 feet 4 inches wide, is constructed of brick pilasters, reinforced concrete panels, and timber columns, beams and girders, as stated heretofore. It has been made fireproof as far as is possible with the type of construction adopted. Automatic sliding doors have been put in where required. In the basement of the main mill and at the other is found the dust room separated from the main part of the basement by a 16 inch fire wall that extends to the roof. The dust room is fireproof by expanded metal steel lathes covered with cement 3/4 inch thick.

In the basement there are six rows of 10 inch longleaf hard pine columns spaced 10 feet 8 inches on centers with bays generally 12 feet 6 inches. Above the 7 inches x 15 feet 8 inches. The pump house floor is made of brick set on edge, as is also the boiler house floor. The boiler house, 45 feet 10 inches x 33 feet 8 inches, is provided with a truss roof running lengthwise. This steel work consists generally of angles. The warehouse is 101 feet long x 49 feet 4 inches wide with an opening room of 51 feet x 24 feet 6 inches at the side. The height of the two stories is 8 feet 2 inches and 8 feet. Two rows of columns spaced 8 feet 4 inches on centers extend the length of the storage room. On the first floor the hard pine columns are 8 inches square, decreasing to 6 inches square on the second. Girders of the same material on the first floor are 8 x 14 inches and on the second 8 x 12 inches. The first floor consists of 3-inch plank while the roof is made up of 3-inch plank with tar and gravel. The ground floor consists of a 4-inch concrete base with a 1-inch cement wearing surface.

The railroad facilities of the Pickett Mills are excellent and no expense has been spared to make these mills compact and efficient in every respect. The construction is the result of a study in itself from the viewpoint of structural economy, and comfort of operatives.

Automatic Sprinkler System
This was installed by the General Fire Extinguisher Co., Providence, R. I., in 1910, and a considerable addition made in 1911. It is operated on the wet pipe system throughout and includes 1934 Grinnell automatic sprinklers. The primary source of water supply is a 75,000 gallon elevated tank. A secondary source is a 1,000-gallon under-water fire pump drawing from a reservoir of 315,000 gallons capacity.

Machinery Equipment
The specifications of the Pickett Mills call for the following machinery made by the H. & B. American Machine Co., Pawtucket, R. I.: opener, breaker, inter-mediate and finisher pickers, cards, first and second drawing, slubbers of 80 spindles each, fly frames of 160 spindles each, warp spinning frames and filling frames. The 260 Ideal automatic looms were furnished by the Stafford Co., Readville, Mass.
