

Taft was a good man. He did well by the South and for this we will always like him. His downfall began when he put his political fortunes in the keeping of questionable corporations lawyers, of the Eli Root and Philander Knox type. The people had no confidence in them.

WHOSE SHADOW?

We congratulate the people of Greenwood, Anderson, etc., that the enterprising passenger department of the Interurban has arranged to give them a convenient through sleeper next Summer to Wrighsville Beach. It is a real privilege to enjoy such ready access to one of the finest seaside resorts in the world—one whose natural advantages are quite unsurpassed and have been developed well.—Charlotte Observer.

This sounds good. But come to think about it what do you suppose has become of our Interurban between Charlotte and Greensboro for which such great preparations had been made! We fear that another Southern shadow has crossed our path.

HIGH POINT'S CASE BEFORE INTERSTATE COMMERCE.

The case involving arbitrary freight rates came before the Commission last August for final hearing—yet while the decision is pending the gross and arbitrary rate is still in vogue. We would like to see times when the railroad official was less gruff, snappish, morose and set on a hair trigger of less resentment against anyone who would ask for relief from the situation.

The fight has gone on till the shipper and railroad patron have nothing but complaint for the railroads and their representatives.

We would like to see the day when the spirit of cooperation would come between the furniture men the shipping public and the railroad. It would show a commendable and clarified insight into the business of all parties concerned.

"HER BALLOT"

An able legislator in New Jersey in searching back over the records of that state adopted in 1776 found that the state has provided explicitly for woman suffrage: "All inhabitants of this Colony, of full age, who are worth fifty pounds proclamation money, clear estate, in the same, and have resided within the county in which they claim a vote for twelve months immediately preceding the election, shall be entitled to vote for Representatives in Council and Assembly and also for all other public officers that shall be elected by the people of the county at large."

It seems that the people of New Jersey, have overlooked this, but the women in the face of the militant suffrage movement may now claim their right to the ballot.

FIVE LIVES FOR ONE.

The Herald thus sums up the conviction of the four gunmen: The second Rosenthal murder trial is over. The verdict is guilty. The penalty is death. This means five lives for one.

Ordinarily the question would be raised on all sides whether this is not exacting an excessive toll, and yet if all persons who were to be convicted the electric chair probably would claim two, three or perhaps four in addition to Becker, "Dago" Frank, "Whitey" Lewis, "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie." Only five of these nine lives that might pay the penalty will be claimed in consequence of one of the most extraordinary crimes this country has ever known.

It is not for the Herald to question the verdict or to criticize any bargains that were made by the District Attorney to bring about a conviction. Indeed, under the extraordinary circumstances which have surrounded this sordid but stupendous tragedy there probably will be nothing but commendation for Mr. Whitman and his assistants and for Justice Goff, whose direct and straightforward course has resulted in both trials being brought to a speedy conclusion. Public sentiment undoubtedly will approve, not only in this city but throughout the country, where the trial has been followed with the closest attention.

The law has been vindicated. Order has been replaced. Terror has been driven deep into the hearts of the lawless element.

But has the lesson been learned? Assistant District Attorney Moss yesterday said that it would mark an end for a time to the lawless violence that has stalked abroad. Yet if all apprehensions are well founded there is great danger of at least two of those who turned State's evidence being shot down by avengers the moment they leave the prison walls. Our opinion is that the lesson will not have been learned by the murderous element in this town until Weber and Rose can walk forth free in reasonable security that their lives will not be taken the instant the protection of the police is withdrawn.—New York Herald.

BRYAN CONCILIATES MR. UNDERWOOD, WITH WHOM HE HAD CONTROVERSY, AND OTHERWISE SEEKS PEACE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Democratic politicians have discovered no storm clouds in the face of the Commoner, whose invitation to visit Governor Wilson at Bermuda is regarded as his commission, as first lieutenant of the party.

Stories were published here today that Speaker Clark and Representative Underwood had given notice that they would not tolerate any attempt by Mr. Bryan to run the party.

Mr. Bryan took pains while here last week to show both shoulders barren of chips. To three Democratic members of the House of Representatives he said:

"The House should start off with enactment of the Underwood tariff bills. We cannot afford to have a party disagreement on the tariff at the outset of this administration."

This was sunny conciliation for it was over the Underwood wool bill two years ago that Mr. Bryan and Mr. Underwood came to the parting of the ways. Mr. Bryan, from Lincoln, Neb., called stridently for the free listing of raw wool. Mr. Underwood stood for a tariff on wool, lower indeed than the Payne-Aldrich rate, but still much above the free list. Mr. Underwood expressed his resentment at the Commoner's effort to dictate the policies of the House.

Dan J. Joyce, Sanville, Henry county, Virginia, says: "I took a cold with a cough which hung on for two years. Then I commenced using Foley's Honey & Tar Compound and the cough finally left me and now I am perfectly strong and well." Is best and safest for children and contains no opiates. Mann Drug Co.

"Tells the Whole Story."

To say that Foley's Honey & Tar Compound is best for children and grown persons and contains no opiates tells only part of the tale. The whole story is that it is the best medicine for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis and other affections of the throat, chest and lungs. Stops la grippe, coughs and has a healing and soothing effect. Remember the name, Foley's Honey & Tar Compound, and accept no substitutes.—Mann Drug Co.
