Reported Surrender of General Von Kluck With 20,000 Men

Germans Fail to Break Through Line of Allies—Russians Have Triumphant March—Serbians Defeat Austrians—Berlin Claims Victory Over French—Kaiser Seeks Protection Behind Walls of Metz.

London, Sept. 15.—The Crown Prince's army was repulsed in an attempt to break through the allies' lines between Verdun and Toul. The war offices announce that the Germans are rallying for battle north of Aisne river, also north of Rheims. A Central News Bureau despatch from Dieppe says Gen. Von Kluck is reported to have surrendered with from 20,000 to 25,000 men.

Petrograd, Sept. 15.—The Russians are sweeping across Vistula and have destroyed the commissions and supplies of the Austrians, the war announces. The Russians defeated Germans in a ten-hour battle in East Prussia at Goldapp and have driven the Germans back to Koenigsberg.

Nish, Sept. 15.—The Serbians have repulsed the Austrian army, numbering 90,000 men, near the junction of the Drina and Save rivers with a loss of 10,000, the government has announced.

Berlin, Sept. 15.—The war office states that the Germans drove the French from Alsace. The government also claims the defeat of two Russian armies with a heavy loss at Vilna and Lyck in east Russia.

London, Sept. 15.—The whole of the German army of invasion is in a state of demoralization and the Kaiser is reported to have fled to the protection of the fortress of Metz.

In the fortress last night he may have learned through his own wireless press bureau that the reported great Russian defeat at Lemberg had been transformed by the arrival of immense Russian reinforcements into an Austro-German debacle, in which he lost many thousands of his crack troops and his Austrian allies were hopelessly smashed.

AT THE EAGLE.

Fassell & Young's Southern Beauties more than made good at the Eagle last night in the Bogus Bishop. A big chorus of pretty girls, elaborate and beautiful wardrobeis no by no means the only feature of this splendid show. The gentlemen of the company, assisted by Miss Young, the capable and attractive leading lady, are presenting a line of plays that are above ordinary and look like a much higher price show.

The play for tonight is "Up in a Ferris Wheel." This will doubtless be a hit in such capable hands. Plenty of good music.

Exhibition of Mechanical Man—Most Remarkable Show Window Display at the J. A. Hart Drug Co.—Keeps People All Guessing.

There is at the present time one of the eight wonders of the world in High Point, in the shape of the wonderful "mechanical man," now on exhibition in the window of the J. A. Hart Drug Company, and will be there until Wednesday night. The figure in question is garbed in a neat Tuxedo suit and is made to represent a man. It is placed in a seated position in the rear of the window, then an electric cable is attached to a socket in the upper part of the window. Cards to the number of sixteen are placed on "his" or "its" knees, the hands are put into position, and nor a move does "it" make until the electricity is turned on, then, while the left hand holds the cards in position, the right hand and arm goes up and down with the regularity of clock work. "Its" eyes move and some say "he" breathes; others say it is the vibration of the machinery.

Those who have seen the removal of the "mechanical man" from the window have had their doubts further increased. After the "juice" is turned off the proprietor and an assistance place "him" or "it" in a standing position, then after some rather complicated manipulations, the electric connection is broken. Then the figure is carried stiff and unbending to the rear of the store, where "it" is placed on "its" feet in a standing position, and a white cloth is thrown over it. Whether it remains there until its next appearance is, of course, a part of the mystery, as further details are carefully screened from public view. If an automaton, the mechanism must be almost perfect; if a human being the nerve and control of muscles and expression is wonderful, and the ability to sit in the one position from two to three hours at a time and only move the right arm and head, and gaze unsmilingly and expressionless in the face of curious criticisms and humorous queries of the crowd is a striking one. Mr. Blanke, the owner and operator of the "mechanical man" was questioned in regard to the mechanism. All he would say was that the "mechanical" man has been in operation in all the large cities of the United States and in some in Europe, and that he (Mr. Blanke) and his wife, were on their way to San Francisco and were showing the "mechanical man" across the continent. The "mechanical man" will be on exhibition at the Panama Exposition in 1915.

The Chero-Cola Company of Greensboro, in the interest of whom the "mechanical man" is on display for are offering a reward of $25.00 to any man, woman or child who succeeds in making the "mechanical man" laugh while in the window today and tomorrow from three to nine o'clock.

OBSERVANCE EDISON DAY

October 21st is to be universally observed throughout the country as Edison Day in honor of the 35th anniversary of the invention of the incandescent lamp. The Comstock Electric Co. of this city, who have the Edison Mazda Lamps, all sizes and prices for sale, are planning to celebrate this day.

One of the distinctive features of their observance of the day is a very liberal offer to the Social Service department of the Woman's Club. They offer these departments ten per cent on all sales of Edison Lamps from this date until October 21st. This is a very liberal offer, much appreciated by those who are seeking to do what they can to alleviate suffering and banish disease from our city. All who desire to render some assistance in this work are urged to purchase electric lamps from the Comstock Electric Co., mentioning this offer.

In the Interest of Foreign Trade

To the Editor:—According to official statement the American Express Company, through its foreign department organization is making extensive arrangements for a careful and painstaking investigation of the opportunities for the extension of American business generally in South American fields, with a view to promoting better transit.

Mr. Jas. Thane and Mr. A. B. Howard, will sail for South America on the S. S. "Vestris" about October 1st, as special representatives of the American Express Company and New York Central lines.

It is their intention to visit the chief ports or commercial centers of Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chili and Peru, stopping on the return journey at Panama and Colon. Manufacturing exporters and importers generally are given to understand that they may avail themselves of the services of these representatives who will give attention insofar as may be practicable, to any inquiries within reasonable scope, relative to foreign trade matters and conditions at the points they may visit.

Manufacturers are advised that communications on this subject should be addressed to the company's office, 65 Broadway, care South American department.

This is certainly a movement in the right direction. The indications are that this country will greatly benefit by the opening up of an entirely new market.

President Lyon's Open Letter

He Wins on a Very Important Point of Contention.

Owing to certain articles, which have recently appeared in some of the newspapers of the State, claiming that there was a provision in the constitution of the North Carolina League of 1913 requiring a player who was suspended by any club in the league to remain suspended for a period of ten days, we wish to say that such statements are without foundation and are a misrepresentation of the facts.

There is not—nor has there been—any such provision in the constitution of the North Carolina league for 1913 or 1914, or in the rules of the National Association, under which this league is operating. The accusation that some one has done away with this rule "for a specific purpose" is absolutely without foundation since no such rule existed.

L. K. Thomson, Witniss.

North Carolina, Guilford County, I. H. C. Field, Notary Public in and for above county and State, do hereby certify that I have seen the originals of the above statement, on file in the office of Mr. Arthur Lyon, and that the above is an exact copy of said originals. I further certify that the originals bear the written signature of all the parties whose signature appears upon the above statement and that each signed in the presence of a witness as indicated.

Given under my hand and seal, this 15th day of September, 1914. H. C. Field, Notary Public. My commission expires July 12th, 1915.

The reader will please notice that the above statement is signed by the president of every club in the North Carolina League, except the Charlotte club, for his refusal to sign the statement, are contained in the following extracts from his letter of Sept. 11, 1914, viz: "I could not say that this rule was ever printed in the constitution of the old Carolina Association and as it does not appear in the constitution of 1913 and as you were not elected president of the North Carolina League until the close of the 1913 season, I do not see how you could be held responsible for this rule. At the same time I do not think that you should ask me to sign a statement that no such rule ever existed, so far as the North Carolina League is concerned, when the rule was enforced up to the close of the 1913 season. I could not sign a statement that this rule did not exist, as I fail to see how the rule could be enforced unless it existed and I know it was enforced up to the close of the 1913 season or to the time you were elected president of the league."

This reply from Mr. Wearn absolves the president of the league from all blame in the matter, but his admission is not broad enough to be justified by the facts.

In my letter to Mr. Wearn I asked him this question: "If neither the constitution, adopted by this league or the minutes of the proceedings of the different meetings authorize such a rule, by what authority does such or did such a rule exist?" Although Mr. Wearn failed to find any authority for such a rule, his answer still insists that the rule existed. The facts are that, as the rule was not authorized by the law-making body of the league, it did not in reality exist, as its actual existence is dependent upon its
