DEMOCRATS TO HAVE ANOTHER BIG SPEAKING

All Democratic Candidates For County Offices and Others To Speak Here Friday

Friday night there will be another big political speaking here. All the democratic candidates for county offices, J. F. Spruill, candidate for the solicitorship, and O. E. Mendenhall, candidate for re-election to the state senate, will speak at the South Main street graded school auditorium at 8 o'clock. It has been announced by Lewis Teague, the new democratic chairman of High Point township.

Interest in politics is becoming greater in this vicinity every day and the republicans and the democrats are demonstrating some keen rivalry. Tonight Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy under Wilson's administration, speaks here for the democrats. Tomorrow night the local republicans will have L. D. Mendenhall, of Greensboro, candidate for the senate, on the stump. Then comes another big democratic speaking Friday night. And republican leaders here promise a voters opportunity to hear more about their party next week.

Much interest is centered in the democratic candidates' speaking at the South Main street school auditorium Friday night. Most of the speakers are fairly well acquainted in this township and many voters want to hear what they have to say. A large crowd is expected to attend.

Following are the democratic candidates that will speak here Friday: D. B. Stafford, candidate for sheriff; R. H. Wharton, candidate for register of deeds; M. W. Gant, candidate for clerk of court; Mr. McKinney, candidate for chairman of the board of commissioners; W. C. Jones, Messrs. Tucker, Barber and Fouché, all candidates for the board of commissioners; J. F. Spruill, candidate for solicitor; and O. E. Mendenhall, candidate for the state senate.

HARRISON DAVIS DIES NEAR CITY

He Was One of the Best Known Farmers in the County; Funeral Wednesday

S. Harrison Davis, one of the best known farmers in this section of the county, died last night at 9 o'clock, at his home one mile east of the city near the Methodist Protestant Children's home.

Mr. Davis had been in ill health for about four or five years, but he had been able to be up most of the time and the news of his death will occasion keen regret throughout the city and county.

The deceased was 69 years of age, having been born on November 15, 1852. He was a prosperous farmer and had lived near High Point all of his life. He was a man of congenial disposition and this had won for him a wide circle of friends.

Surviving besides the widow, are two daughters, Mrs. Cora Dillon and Miss Lizzie Davis, of High Point; two brothers, Joseph Davis, of Forsyth county, and William Davis, of Indiana, and a sister, Mrs. Mahalia Ann Willard, of Forsyth county.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Primitive Baptist church, Mechanicsville, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Neece Davis will officiate, and interment will follow in the church graveyard.

POSTPONE NIGHT SCHOOL MEETING

The meeting of all those interested in High Point's new night school, in which continuation and vocational training subjects will be taught, has been postponed from Friday night until Monday night.

The meeting was to have been held in the South Main Street graded school auditorium, but due to the big Democratic speaking that has been scheduled for the same night the meeting has been postponed and the auditorium offered for the use of the political speakers. The meeting Monday night will be at the hour set for Friday, 8 o'clock, and will be held in the auditorium.

Coming To The Broadway.
In "Fascination," Mae Murray's latest production, presented by R. Z. Leonard at the Broadway theatre Thursday and Friday, the famous Metro star turns to Spain for her background.

In "Fascination" she appears as the daughter of a Spanish father and an American mother. The combination of the Latin temperament and the Anglo-Saxon gives Miss Murray a wonderful opportunity to do remarkable acting as Dolores De Lisa. She portrays the part of a young girl who, revolting against the chaperonage of an aunt, decides to give herself a holiday. Disguising herself in a black wig and holiday garb she attends a bull fight against the wishes of her aunt. At the bull fight she meets Carrita, a handsome young torador, who fascinates her immediately. It is this fascination that supplies the main motive for the play, for under its spell Dolores becomes involved in a series of breath-taking incidents.

The scenes are elaborate and lavish. All maintain the romantic flavor of Spain, and are complete in technical detail.

In "Fascination" Mae Murray adds another famous characterization to her already notable gallery of portraits. All the primitive passion of the Spanish girl is conveyed strikingly by the popular star. In this picture, too, she performs several Spanish dances which even natives declare are every bit the original.

First Circassian Walnut Since The War Arrives at Maryland Port: Shipped From Russia

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—The first Circassian walnut to come to this country since before the war now lies at Canton, occupying a space of 60 by 30 feet, and is 7 feet at its highest point. In that space there is $17,000 worth of logs, and the shipment from Batoum, Russia, has aroused considerable interest among people in the veneer trade, not only here but throughout the country.

The logs are the first to be shipped from the Caucasus since the Bolshevik regime. They were shipped in March, 1921, and the freight alone was $7,000.

Circassian walnut is the most expensive wood known, having a value three times that of mahogany, and is used only for the very finest kind of cabinet work, piano tops and fancy panels.

The value of Circassian walnut is due to its hardness, its peculiar sheen even in the logs, and its varied and brilliant coloring, as there is to be found in it lines of gray, white, yellow, black and another that shades off from black. It is almost exclusively turned into veneer, as it is too expensive to be used in the piece, and Baltimore is the most convenient shipping point for reaching the veneer factories of the south.

Because of the expensive quality of the wood and the disturbed condition of affairs in the near east, a condition which has continued practically without interruption since war was declared in 1914, Circassian walnut now is being used in only two countries, the United States and Great Britain, as other countries are not financially able to indulge in this wood luxury. For many years before the war Baltimore was the center of the hardwood export and import trade. Large shipments of American walnut were going abroad constantly, Germany being the largest user for furniture and general cabinet work, including the trim of the cabins of steamships.

That trade was halted by the war and has not been recovered and, to a great extent, is the cause of the present return of walnut to favor for furniture making in this country. It is estimated that fully 85 per cent of the better furniture now being made in America is of American walnut.

The common house centipede destroys house flies in considerable numbers.
