EUROPEAN LETTER.

NUMBER TWELVE.
STEAMER BETHLEHEM, NORTH OF SEA, SEPT. 11th, 1884.
DEAR JOURNAL—The Exchange of Alliance has done its worst. We have the results will be far from what we had hoped for. The results will be far from what we had hoped for. The results will be far from what we had hoped for.

This is an octagonal square, called an English Freestone Square. It is surrounded by the Palaces of Amelienborg, four in number. On the South these are united by a beautiful colonnade, here the King and Queen, the Crown Prince and Princess, and the Queen Dowager, and here are the offices of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The buildings are imposing but plain but within they are elegant and comfortable.

Amusements, too, was mingled with our rounds, for we took a walk in the park, and at times, with whiskey, for his breath was not a rose, neither was his grammar or his English, most of which he had an infallible remedy for the infirmities which he confidently and confidentially revealed to me. It was simply to take two drops of "ammonia." When reminded that the whole of the system of the park here, especially, it is repulsive, when found in a great and richly endowed college. Think of charging everyone two pence, or four cents, to look at an old bell, or three pence to go to college library simply to look at it, and to walk into a chapel, or an assembly hall for commencements. Wherever you turn, if a man opens a gate for you, he has a gun, and then looks long, and maybe says, "You are not a native, are you?"
