

THE JOURNAL.

Published by H. B. HOYLE, Proprietor, at No. 107 N. 2d St., New Bern, N. C.

NEW BERN, N. C., THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1888.

to cooperate with the Democratic party. They would not be disappointed, but Democrats who voted Independents, by voting said Independents to the Democrats, would be disappointed if they refused to cooperate with the party.

CONGRESS CONVENES NEXT WEEK.

A suggestion has been made to the President by a newspaper that a short message would be acceptable to the country. But how can it be short? There is the tariff case, the Canada fisheries, the silver question, the national banks, the earthquake and civil service all to be touched upon, so that nothing of course, our relations with Austria and Henry George. It is bound to be a long message.

THE BALTIMORE MANUFACTURERS RECORD CONTINUES TO BOOM.

Lightning occasionally strikes in this direction, giving us now and then a saw mill. These ought to be followed up with other enterprises. Much of the lumber cut at the saw mills ought to be turned into furniture, and we presume it would if fair and equitable freight rates could be obtained. A furniture factory in New Bern could not sell furniture beyond Goldsboro. The freights would prohibit such a thing.

NOT REBELS.

The Raleigh News and Observer says: The standing rule in the News and Observer office has been never to admit to its columns, except when quoted from others, the word "rebellion" or "rebels" or "rebel," in connection with the late war. The rule was adopted because in truth the people of the South were not rebels or rebels were engaged in rebellion, and because as a matter of law we apprehended that the Federal Government could be convicted of being a rebel, independent of and aside from the doctrine of States' rights.

PRESIDENT BRYAN'S CIRCULAR.

The Kinston Free Press, in commenting upon the recent circular issued by the President of the A. & N. C. Railroad in regard to the right of way of the road, speaks of it as "one of the most oppressive and unwise orders we have ever heard of."

HOPE FOR JACKSON DEMOCRACY.

In the early days of President Cleveland's administration the JOURNAL insisted that any man placed at the head of the administration should have subordinates in full accord with him, holding the same political views and really adopting any line of administrative policy marked out by the head.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

The State papers are discussing and suggesting who shall be the next Speaker of the House of the General Assembly of North Carolina. There are many Democrats elected either of whom would make a most excellent presiding officer. Among those mentioned for the position are Col. T. M. Hill, the former Speaker, A. LEVANT and LEE S. OVERMAN. These are the gentlemen most prominently spoken of by the Democrats, but can either of them be elected? They evidently cannot without the assistance of the Independent Democrats. It is now for the Strategist to say whether they will concede the Speakership and leave their operation of it to the Democrats, or whether they will not. The latter course would evidently hand the Speakership over to the Independents and the public.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The annual report of the Controller of the Currency contains suggestions for the amendment of the National Bank Act, and also a dozen resolutions, including the contingent liability of shareholders, and the issue of national bank notes.

COINSIDE COUNTY ITEMS.

A man named [Name] was arrested [Details] [Name] was arrested [Details] [Name] was arrested [Details]

SWANBORO ITEMS.

Jan South [Name] was the largest [Details] [Name] was the largest [Details]

FRIENDSHIP AND FLATTERY.

When Friendship first came down to earth, With heart of generous mould, And soul as bright and bravely worth, It sought the low that came from God.

THE BALTIMORE MANUFACTURERS RECORD CONTINUES TO BOOM.

Lightning occasionally strikes in this direction, giving us now and then a saw mill. These ought to be followed up with other enterprises.

NOT REBELS.

The Raleigh News and Observer says: The standing rule in the News and Observer office has been never to admit to its columns, except when quoted from others, the word "rebellion" or "rebels" or "rebel," in connection with the late war.

PRESIDENT BRYAN'S CIRCULAR.

The Kinston Free Press, in commenting upon the recent circular issued by the President of the A. & N. C. Railroad in regard to the right of way of the road, speaks of it as "one of the most oppressive and unwise orders we have ever heard of."

HOPE FOR JACKSON DEMOCRACY.

In the early days of President Cleveland's administration the JOURNAL insisted that any man placed at the head of the administration should have subordinates in full accord with him, holding the same political views and really adopting any line of administrative policy marked out by the head.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

The State papers are discussing and suggesting who shall be the next Speaker of the House of the General Assembly of North Carolina. There are many Democrats elected either of whom would make a most excellent presiding officer. Among those mentioned for the position are Col. T. M. Hill, the former Speaker, A. LEVANT and LEE S. OVERMAN. These are the gentlemen most prominently spoken of by the Democrats, but can either of them be elected? They evidently cannot without the assistance of the Independent Democrats.

THE BALTIMORE MANUFACTURERS RECORD CONTINUES TO BOOM.

Lightning occasionally strikes in this direction, giving us now and then a saw mill. These ought to be followed up with other enterprises.

NOT REBELS.

The Raleigh News and Observer says: The standing rule in the News and Observer office has been never to admit to its columns, except when quoted from others, the word "rebellion" or "rebels" or "rebel," in connection with the late war.

PRESIDENT BRYAN'S CIRCULAR.

The Kinston Free Press, in commenting upon the recent circular issued by the President of the A. & N. C. Railroad in regard to the right of way of the road, speaks of it as "one of the most oppressive and unwise orders we have ever heard of."

HOPE FOR JACKSON DEMOCRACY.

In the early days of President Cleveland's administration the JOURNAL insisted that any man placed at the head of the administration should have subordinates in full accord with him, holding the same political views and really adopting any line of administrative policy marked out by the head.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

The State papers are discussing and suggesting who shall be the next Speaker of the House of the General Assembly of North Carolina. There are many Democrats elected either of whom would make a most excellent presiding officer. Among those mentioned for the position are Col. T. M. Hill, the former Speaker, A. LEVANT and LEE S. OVERMAN. These are the gentlemen most prominently spoken of by the Democrats, but can either of them be elected? They evidently cannot without the assistance of the Independent Democrats.

THE BALTIMORE MANUFACTURERS RECORD CONTINUES TO BOOM.

Lightning occasionally strikes in this direction, giving us now and then a saw mill. These ought to be followed up with other enterprises.

NOT REBELS.

The Raleigh News and Observer says: The standing rule in the News and Observer office has been never to admit to its columns, except when quoted from others, the word "rebellion" or "rebels" or "rebel," in connection with the late war.

PRESIDENT BRYAN'S CIRCULAR.

The Kinston Free Press, in commenting upon the recent circular issued by the President of the A. & N. C. Railroad in regard to the right of way of the road, speaks of it as "one of the most oppressive and unwise orders we have ever heard of."

HOPE FOR JACKSON DEMOCRACY.

In the early days of President Cleveland's administration the JOURNAL insisted that any man placed at the head of the administration should have subordinates in full accord with him, holding the same political views and really adopting any line of administrative policy marked out by the head.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

The State papers are discussing and suggesting who shall be the next Speaker of the House of the General Assembly of North Carolina. There are many Democrats elected either of whom would make a most excellent presiding officer. Among those mentioned for the position are Col. T. M. Hill, the former Speaker, A. LEVANT and LEE S. OVERMAN. These are the gentlemen most prominently spoken of by the Democrats, but can either of them be elected? They evidently cannot without the assistance of the Independent Democrats.

THE BALTIMORE MANUFACTURERS RECORD CONTINUES TO BOOM.

Lightning occasionally strikes in this direction, giving us now and then a saw mill. These ought to be followed up with other enterprises.

NOT REBELS.

The Raleigh News and Observer says: The standing rule in the News and Observer office has been never to admit to its columns, except when quoted from others, the word "rebellion" or "rebels" or "rebel," in connection with the late war.

PRESIDENT BRYAN'S CIRCULAR.

The Kinston Free Press, in commenting upon the recent circular issued by the President of the A. & N. C. Railroad in regard to the right of way of the road, speaks of it as "one of the most oppressive and unwise orders we have ever heard of."

HOPE FOR JACKSON DEMOCRACY.

In the early days of President Cleveland's administration the JOURNAL insisted that any man placed at the head of the administration should have subordinates in full accord with him, holding the same political views and really adopting any line of administrative policy marked out by the head.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

The State papers are discussing and suggesting who shall be the next Speaker of the House of the General Assembly of North Carolina. There are many Democrats elected either of whom would make a most excellent presiding officer. Among those mentioned for the position are Col. T. M. Hill, the former Speaker, A. LEVANT and LEE S. OVERMAN. These are the gentlemen most prominently spoken of by the Democrats, but can either of them be elected? They evidently cannot without the assistance of the Independent Democrats.

THE BALTIMORE MANUFACTURERS RECORD CONTINUES TO BOOM.

Lightning occasionally strikes in this direction, giving us now and then a saw mill. These ought to be followed up with other enterprises.

NOT REBELS.

The Raleigh News and Observer says: The standing rule in the News and Observer office has been never to admit to its columns, except when quoted from others, the word "rebellion" or "rebels" or "rebel," in connection with the late war.

PRESIDENT BRYAN'S CIRCULAR.

The Kinston Free Press, in commenting upon the recent circular issued by the President of the A. & N. C. Railroad in regard to the right of way of the road, speaks of it as "one of the most oppressive and unwise orders we have ever heard of."

HOPE FOR JACKSON DEMOCRACY.

In the early days of President Cleveland's administration the JOURNAL insisted that any man placed at the head of the administration should have subordinates in full accord with him, holding the same political views and really adopting any line of administrative policy marked out by the head.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

The State papers are discussing and suggesting who shall be the next Speaker of the House of the General Assembly of North Carolina. There are many Democrats elected either of whom would make a most excellent presiding officer. Among those mentioned for the position are Col. T. M. Hill, the former Speaker, A. LEVANT and LEE S. OVERMAN. These are the gentlemen most prominently spoken of by the Democrats, but can either of them be elected? They evidently cannot without the assistance of the Independent Democrats.