We are reminded of a circum created a great deal of exchement. The proprietor introduced a fish of three hundred corces of the same is a blow or a wound from Dan cupid's surpassing sweetnesss and delicacy of flavor, under the name of "Sweet William." His patrons; eagerly devoured "Sweet William" and the fish had a tremendous run. It was tender, julcy, and entirely free from bones. All went swimingly for a time. Inquiries failed to reveal the name of the new favorite until one luckless day that the better the air and more sharks go into the establishment, somebody saw a barrelful of young to be translated into "Sweet business suddenly shrunk and the air was black with threats of suits for damages by enraged customers.
