THE JOURNAL.

NEW BERNE, N. C., JULY 18, 1899.

MR. J. T. MATOS is our Regular Authorized Agent. Any subscriptions paid him and receipts given in full.

JOHN L. HARTSFIELD, in Hotel Tull Building, Kinston, will receipt for subscriptions to the JOURNAL.

LA GRANGE ITEMS

Officer Vincent is doing our city streets up nicely.

Why is it that our town has so few of the F A meetings?

Mr. J. D. Johnston came up from Morehead for a few days.

Mr Frank McCoy left on Wednesday as agent for some publishing house

Rev W E Swain, formerly pastor of the M. P Church here, was visiting in our town last week.

The fair and flower like Miss Florence Lyon of Raleigh who has been visiting friends here, returned to her home on Tuesday last.

The poem, "A Reply," in your last week's JOURNAL, was truly ahead of the average impromptu effort. The writer appears to have caught on to the clever knack and the proper tone at the offset.

How consolingly beautiful, how touching it is, to behold the crown of Christian glory upon the fair brow of youth—the royal robe of sanghas worn in the ermine of innocence upon the young schollars feet. Such was early shod in the sandals of sanctity ready for that swift, sweet, solemn journey from mortality into the immortality of angels, where God promises us no more parting, no more pain. In the death of Miss Ada Kinsey, eldest daughter of Mr. Joseph Kinsey of our town, which sad event occurred on the 7th inst. the earnest preparation of the young and happy for the coming of the Angel of Death," was solemnly exemplified. Religious services were conducted by Rev. J. J. Harper, many friends and relatives attending. While we lament the loss of this young Christian, it is not for even this pen of sympathy to touch upon the anguish of the stricken family. God only can comfort them in their sorrow

Jones County Items

The stalks of corn on the uplands are looking too round to bear well

Several of our farmers have lost by the rains their entire crop of oats

Low land corn is suffering from wet weather. Corn is badly hurt by the rains.

Mr. J. C. Moore, our postmaster at Trenton, who has been sick for several days, is out again attending to his official duties.

The Jones County Institute opened Monday with a pretty good attendance of teachers. Professors Grady Hester and Miss Searborough are assisting the teachers instruction

The Fourth of July was a grand day at Trenton. The old veterans turned out from all sections of the country. After organizing the association, barkers, boxers, trunks, buckets, and several other different receptacles were brought in and emptied of their contents, and the large crowd marched up and appeared to be really satisfied After dinner ice cold lemonade was set out in several large tubs All appeared good-humored, and everything passed off nicely. Why can't we meet every year on the Fourth of July and have these reunions and talk over the times that we had in old Virginia.

Died, at his home near Trenton on Wednesday last, July 19th, Mr Peter Andrews, aged 69 years. Mr. Andrews was walking on his farm near his house, and was seen to fall, and was dead before he could be carried to the house. He had been in bad health for some time, but was able to go about and attend to his business. He was an excellent farmer, a good, obliging neighbor, a kind husband and indulgent father, and an honest, Christian gentleman, having been a member of the Baptist church for many years. His funeral was preached by Rev. G. W. Harrison on Thursday, largely attended by neighbors and friends. Mr. Andrews leaves a widow and seven grown children, with many grandchildren to mourn their irreparable loss.

an Important Question

"What shall we do with our boys?" This is a question that many parents are asking themselves. And a very important question it is. By all means the boys should be educated. Then arises the question, "Which is the best school to send them to?" The school should be first-class in every particular, and the charges reasonable. The Davis School meets these requirements. It is first-class in every particular. There is a large faculty of able professors. The best instruction is given in every department. Young men can complete their education at Davis School, or be prepared for the highest classes of any College or University. There is also a full course in Civil Engineering, a full Commercial Course, and a thorough preparatory Medical Course. There is no extra charge for any of these studies. Fuel, washing and lights are furnished free of charge. In another column will be found some particulars concerning Davis School.

Death of Prof. Graves.

Prof. Ralph Graves passed away yesterday morning at 8 o'clock after lingering nearly two weeks between life and death since the unfortunate occurrence which finally resulted in the ending of his life. He had been gradually sinking for several days, and passed away quietly and peacefully. He was thirty eight years of age. He took charge of the chair of Mathematics in 1873 and has held that position with credit and honor to himself and to the University ever since that time till the failure of his health in February last. He was one of the first mathematicians in the South.

His remains were taken to Chapel Hill yesterday afternoon on the 4.45 train, and will be interred there this afternoon, where the other deceased professors are laid.—News and Observer.

Progress in the South

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 30.—The Tradesman of July 1 will publish a statement showing the industrial situation in the South as exhibited by the number of new industries exhibited during the last three months. It shows that during the last quarter 1 021 new industries have been established against 900 in the previous quarter. There were 1,711 new enterprises begun during the first six months of 1899 against 1,290 for the corresponding period of the previous year, showing that the South is going ahead at a more rapid rate than ever before. The character of the industries is of a more substantial character and is on a much better basis than in previous years. The most noticeable feature of the last three months has been the organization of fifty-one new cotton and woolen mills, against thirty five in the previous quarter. Fifty two foundries and machine shops were organized, a gain of seven over the previous quarter. Eighty two mining and quarrying companies were organized. The number of railroad companies organized shows a gain of about 100 per cent, the number for the last quarter being 130, against 65 during the previous quarter. Two hundred and seven wood working establishments were organized, against 130 in the previous quarter

You Were Once Beautiful, Madam but your glass tells you that you are so no longer. Why is this? It is because you are suffering from functional derangement. You may "paint an inch thick," as Hamlet says, but you cannot conceal the ravages of disease. No wonder you are low spirited? But why suffer any longer? Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will restore the bloom to your cheek, the sparkle to your eyes the old-time lightness to your step. It will make a happy woman of you again. It cures all those weaknesses, backaching, bearing-down pains peculiar to your sex. The only medicine sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers that it will give satisfaction in every case or money refunded. See guarantee on bottle wrapper.

Beecham's Pills cure bilious and nervous ills.

ONE TO CLUBBING RATES

Journal and Youth's Companion	$2 50
Amer n Agriculturist	2 25
Southern Cultivator	2 25
Demorest's Magazine	3 00
Scientific American	4 00
St. Nicholas	4 00
Century	5 00
Detroit Free Press	3 50
North Amer Review	5 25
New York World	2 25
Star	2 25
Home and Farm	1 75
Courier Journal	2 50
News and Observer	2 50
Harper's Magazine	4 50
Weekly	4 70
Young People	3 00
Atlanta Constitution	2 25

Old subscribers receiving the JOURNAL and desiring to have any of those papers can by making application to the office in person or by letter, have a statement of their account on our books showing what they will have to remit to entitle them to any of the above publications they may select.

CITY AND VICINITY.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

J. [illegible] Notice

A. Davis Lumber for Sale

J. A. Bonitz—The Messenger

H. H. Perry—Farmers Alliance.

Kemp P. Battle—State University

[illegible]—To advertisers

Work has begun on the extension of [illegible] new passenger station in the A & N C railroad.

The colored teacher's institute now in progress in this city has been well attended this year and the county superintendent [illegible] excellent work has [illegible]

The annual farmers dinner and picnic will be held near Street's ferry on Friday August 21 Capt W A Darden State agent for the Alliance will be present and deliver an address

Henry Hall made it with a half dozen aliases who was held at the police station for a hearing upon the charge of stealing a set of harness, the property of Whitty & Tatem made good his escape on Sunday night by breaking out of the cell.

The work of paving down the rock on the cemetery road is now beyond the railroad When completed it will be about the finest road in the State. What a magnificent drive way it will be from Trent river to the National cemetery.

Quite a number of Pamlico citizens were in the city Tuesday Among them we note W T Cahoon, Esq., Mr Chas H Bower Mr J O Baxter, Mr J T Johnson and ex Sheriff Dawson They are here in an important case pending before P H Pelletier, Esq., as referee

The Atlantic Patriot

The farmers of Craven county and all friendly farmers will bear in mind [illegible] and the farmers dinner and picnic under the auspices of the Alliance will be held at Street's ferry on Friday, August 21 and all are invited to be present and carry their baskets. Capt. W A Darden will be present and deliver an address

Grand Ball at Ocracoke

A grand ball will be given at Ocracoke hotel Ocracoke on the 23 24 and 25 inst

The hotel will give reduced rates to those who attend and the ball room will be free to all visitors

A private letter tells us that John L. Sullivan is expected there on the 24th, but it will not do to let Governor Lowry hear of this

A Mistake

The Durham Tobacco Plant of July 19th has a splendid photograph of Edward A Oldham and a sketch of his career as a journalist. In the brilliant description of journalistic life we find this paragraph

In the winter of 1881 he accepted the position of managing editor of the Daily Commercial News of New Berne, N C afterward merged into the DAILY JOURNAL which still exists

This is a mistake. Neither the Daily Commercial News nor any other paper was ever merged into the Daily Journal. J W Harper bought the outfit of the Commercial News Company and formed a co partnership with the owners of the Kinston Journal H S Nunn & E E Harper and the new firm moved to New Berne and started the DAILY JOURNAL

The Agricultural College

We glean the following item from the News and Observer of Saturday last

Gov Jarvis declined the presidency of the college, but up till the latest reports last night a president had not been elected.

The following were [illegible] elected yesterday

Chair of Agriculture J S Chamberlain.

Chair of Arboriculture and Horticulture, W F Massey.

Chair of Pure and Agricultural Chemistry, W A Withers.

Chair of English, D H Hill, Jr

Superintendent of the Farm, B. S. Skinner

There was much interest on the streets last night concerning the election

A Sad Affliction

Our La Grange correspondent, and the La Grange papers, bring us the sad intelligence of the death of Miss Ada Kinsey, the old st daughter of Joseph and Fannie Kinsey Ada was about nineteen years old and was just beginning to be a favorite in the school room to her devoted father who looked forward with bright hopes of making her an ornament to society and a useful woman to her fellow creatures But how often are our fondest hopes blasted! How from the swift-winged messengers of death come when we least expect them. The young die as well as the old and should be prepared to meet death It is a consolation to know that this young lady had long ago realized the uncertainty of life and had prepared to meet her end.

We extend our warmest sympathies to the bereaved father and mother, brother and sisters.

Gov Jarvis a Farmer

Some of our exchanges are complimenting Governor Jarvis for declining the position of President of the Agricultural and Mechanical College and they [illegible] upon the fact that he has no scientific knowledge of agriculture.

We are not surprised at this It has always been almost and we doubt not always will be that Governor Jarvis was reared on the farm and has followed the plow many [illegible] days in Currituck county Then he has what is better than a scientific knowledge of agriculture, viz a practical knowledge, acquired by actual experience on the farm A man who has the practical experience can easily acquire the scientific knowledge in fact a mind like that of Gov J Jarvis, who has the practical, also has more or less of the [illegible] science.

We believe Governor Jarvis is the proper man to inaugurate this institution and put it on a solid foundation, and we regret that he has declined the position.

RAILROAD MANAGEMENT.

Things that the News and Observer Don't Understand

The Raleigh News and Observer of Wednesday has some remarks upon the position taken by the JOURNAL on the A. & N. C. R

In last Sunday's issue of the JOURNAL in reminding our people of the meeting to be held on Monday night in the interest of the co operative factory we took occasion to simply call their attention to our condition in regard to the influences which we thought had controlled the A & N C R to our detriment.

In Tuesday's issue we stated that we [illegible] that the data upon which we based our remarks &c" and not positively that the data were incorrect as the Observer has it The truth of the matter is, President Bryan felt aggrieved at the statement in Sunday's issue, because we were, as he claimed, entirely mistaken as to the Raleigh and Gaston using any influence in the management of the road, and not wishing in any way to do any one an injustice we made the statement as it appeared in Tuesday's issue

In regard to the A & N. C. R. going into the Associated Lines of Railways, the JOURNAL does doubt the propriety of it because we do not know upon what terms they would let it in. We do not believe however that it is necessary for it to be [illegible] to either of the great lines in order to get in the Association. All it has to do is to join, maintain rates at foldatorn and perish to death.

We do want the law passed by the last General Assembly tested, and we do feel sure that the managers of the A & N C R whoever they may be, will aid in testing the same But there are many difficulties in the way of making the test and how much better it would be to have friendly relations and not have it resort to the courts

The last paragraph of the Observer's notice is very nice It says

The State built the A & N. C and the North Carolina roads to obtain easy transportation from the seaboard to the interior and these properties in which the State owns a controlling interest ought to be so managed as not to deprive the people of the fruit of their exertions.

That sounds patriotic indeed. Every man in the State will endorse that, but many of them while endorsing it are upholding and encouraging those who are depriving us of the fruits of our exertions The Observer knows that the people east of Goldsboro have no business relations with those in the center and western part of the State. We have shown in these colums time after time, cited numerous instances of prohibitory freight rates which simply meant that there should be no business relations between the people East and those West of Goldsboro Where do the people of Raleigh and all other towns along the N. C. R. get their oysters fish, corn meal, corn and other grain? Oh no, it ought not to be so, but it is so, the Observer knows it is so, but when we who are the sufferers undertake to correct it, up jumps the Raleigh influence, ready to oppose our efforts and bring them to naught Our plan for relief has been in the extension of the A. & N C R It is a plan that cannot damage but benefit the State at large it is against the interest of the Raleigh & Gaston Road for the A. & N. C. R to be extended into their territory, hence their strong opposition to it.

Now let us tell the News and Observer the whole truth about the matter. For many years these people have agitated the extension of the A. & N. C. R. because they looked upon it as their only hope for relief and development of the country along the line. They cherished the hope that when Gov. Scales came into office he would take steps to secure the Midland road which had been built from Goldsboro to Smithfield and would encourage a continuation of the line in the direction of Salisbury or Charlotte. But when Governor Scales announced his intention to let the Midland alone, the opinion rapidly spread in Eastern Carolina that so far as the A. & N. C. R. was concerned certain men in Raleigh would dictate its policy and circumstances have transpired since to confirm them in that belief. People became dissatisfied not because Mr. Bryan would not give them a free pass, but because they know of the injustice that had been forced upon them, and in some instances they had to sit down and see their business destroyed.

The feeling today along the A & N C R is that the policy of the road has been directed by certain parties in Raleigh outside the Governor's chair, and believe that it is to the interest of these parties to prevent the extension of the A. & N C R. Furthermore, the people who believe these things can point to circumstances upon which they base their views.

We will do Mr Bryan the justice to say that he denies that any such influences as are alleged to exist are exerted over him in the management of the road, and on account of his positive denial and explaining away some of the circumstances which pointed in that direction, we published the item in Tuesday's issue.

We think from the reading of the News and Observer article a wrong construction has been placed upon the short paragraph in our issue of the 9th That paragraph was based entirely upon information given by President Bryan. The JOURNAL's position on this question is the same it has been for the last three or four years as our files will show But we have always endeavored to be perfectly fair towards Mr. Bryan, as it is our earnest desire to be fair towards every body, even to stating his position for him when he refuses to appear in the public press in his own defense.

A Fearful Whirlwind

Mr Silas Fulcher returned Monday morning from a visit to Little Swift creek and reports that a terrible whirlwind passed through that section last saturday evening

It struck the plantation of Allen Dickson col., uprooted one or two out houses, stables, sheds &c and blew one of his children thirty feet injuring it severely Dickson himself ran out and was tossed about considerably. He says the whole element seemed to be full of flying rails and limbs from trees and that his fences were blown down, even the bottom rails being moved. There were slight damages to other plantations but the whirlwind seems to have struck Dickson's place with its greatest force.

For Hay Fever.

Give Ely's Cream Balm a trial. This justly celebrated remedy for the cure of catarrh, hay fever, cold in the head, etc., can be obtained of any reputable druggist, and may be relied upon as a safe and pleasant remedy for the above complaints and will give immediate relief It is not a liquid, snuff or powder, has no offensive odor, and can be used at any time with good results, as thousands can testify, among them some of the attaches of this office.—Spirit of the Times 16 2w

Auction Mania

There [illegible] the streets of [illegible] Saturday [illegible] auctioneers [illegible] the [illegible] North [illegible] the rain [illegible] that bids

The fe[illegible] properties [illegible] at once [illegible] monument

But another [illegible] erected [illegible] Graves [illegible] Caldwell, Governor [illegible] Worth [illegible] and many [illegible] full of [illegible] patriots [illegible] their [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] that [illegible] the [illegible] lateral [illegible] the State [illegible] at the [illegible] corn of the East [illegible] out the State [illegible] flour and other [illegible] and [illegible] on the [illegible] of the [illegible] meeting

Beyond [illegible] these [illegible] Bonds [illegible] Bonds [illegible] Bonds