EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Advertiser have canceled their rates and gone into winter quarters—Washington Post.
HENRY MATRICKS N. predicts the Congressional election next year will go overwhelmingly Democratic.
While Harrison sits in his warm room preparing his message, the boys are shivering outside—Philadelphia Times.

THE PHILADELPHIA turned the best of its strength for the fourth time in its history, and on Monday, the 27th inst., it was again victorious.
W. H. HARRIS has accepted the nomination for the office of Mayor of Philadelphia, and is expected to be elected.
The writer was with James A. Lodge, D. V., and bears testimony to his high character and noble qualities.

THE GERMAN papers call Gen. Helmuth von Moltke, the "Old Man of the North Sea," and are in search of help from some other quarter. True, they say that they have vainly sought relief through either of the existing parties, but the evils of which they complain are the result of Republican measures, which the Democratic party is seeking to overthrow. These Michigan farmers have hitherto acted with the Republican party, and this break from its ranks will lead right straight to the Democratic fall.

THE NEW YORK says he meant what he said when he asserted that Governor Cleveland would be re-elected in 1890. Gov. Hill is considered practically out of the race.
BUTLER'S proposed volume of "Personal Reminiscences" will undoubtedly be interesting, but the necessity of writing so much is not to be commended.
It has been stated that Mr. Harrison had resigned his place as private secretary to President Harrison, but it is now said that he is much improved and will remain in his duties at the White House.

HEALTHY public sentiment in Montana has proved too strong for the schemers who are endeavoring to reverse the will of the people as expressed at the ballot box, and there seems to be little reason to doubt that they will enforce justice in the end—Boston Post.
WITH stronger laws against crime, with swifter trials of the accused, and with more energy in the enforcement of the law, the crime rate will be reduced, and the people will be better protected.
SIR R. PRESIDENT Eliot of Harvard has announced himself a Democrat, and is being panned upon by all the organs of the country. Soon we shall learn that the scholarly head of the oldest and greatest institution of learning on this continent being a Democrat cannot read. He has read—the party platform and histories—Bloomington Bulletin.

THE marriage of Prince Hatfield to Miss Clara Huntington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Huntington, of New York, took place last Monday in the city of New York. A wedding breakfast was served at the German Embassy, after which Prince Hatfield and his bride started to Bay on their wedding tour.
MR. HAYES'S son is said to be unwell, and it is expected that he will not be able to attend to his duties for some time. There are ever so many people in this country who sympathize with her so much that they are ready to do anything to help her, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to realize her dreams and hopes.

THE report comes from Washington that the Hon. J. M. McKim, Commissioner of Pennsylvania, has accepted the nomination for the office of Secretary of the Interior. It is expected that he will be able to attend to his duties for some time. There are ever so many people in this country who sympathize with her so much that they are ready to do anything to help her, and it is to be hoped that she will be able to realize her dreams and hopes.
THE statement of the chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, regarding the active interest which the present campaign will have in the Democratic party, is a very interesting one. It is to be hoped that the active interest which the present campaign will have in the Democratic party, is a very interesting one.

THE person blackballed is a member of the state in which it occurred. He is a United States Senator, representing the great State of Pennsylvania in the most august assembly in the world. He is at the head of the great political party of which the Young Men's Republican Club of Pittsburgh is a constituent part. How then, can we account for the rejection of Senator Quay by the Young Men's Republican Club of Pittsburgh?
This Republican Tariff Club is a political organization. To become a member of it, the person proposed must be a Republican and a gentleman. Ah, there's the rub! These young men are ready to attend his public meetings and applaud his speeches to the echo, but they will not admit him to their social circle, and greet him as a

ANOTHER GRANGER MOVEMENT.

A report comes from Michigan that the farmers of that State are joining the Patrons of Husbandry by the thousands, and that they have organized in fifty-seven of the eighty-three counties. The object being a grand political combination against monopolies and trusts. Such action, they claim, has been forced upon them by circumstances that are becoming unbearable, and for which they have vainly sought relief through either of the existing parties—Washington Post.
We consider this indicative of the success of the Democratic party. These Michigan farmers, if they are representatives of their intelligent honest men. They see the helplessness of relief from the Republican party, and are in search of help from some other quarter. True, they say that they have vainly sought relief through either of the existing parties, but the evils of which they complain are the result of Republican measures, which the Democratic party is seeking to overthrow. These Michigan farmers have hitherto acted with the Republican party, and this break from its ranks will lead right straight to the Democratic fall.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

From the State Papers.
Evangelist W. P. Pife is conducting a series of meetings in Washington. Much interest is manifested.
Evangelist Pearson is now at work in Henderson. Great success attends his efforts wherever he goes.
Evangelist Observer. The Centennial committee decided the other afternoon to erect six triumphal arches in different parts of the city, under which the Centennial pageant will march in procession.

A MUCH NEEDED REFORM.
It is probable that in the near future the law that a man has formed in the mind of a juror, and that he will not disqualify himself from acting as a juror, will be repealed. The other day the Supreme Court of Iowa decided that a juror who had formed an opinion in a case before him, and who had not been sworn to do so, was not disqualified from acting as a juror. This is a much needed reform, and it is to be hoped that it will be adopted in North Carolina.

Winston Daily: The North Carolina Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will convene at Greensboro, Wednesday, November 27th. Our neighbor city is already making preparations to entertain the conference and will doubtless entertain it handsomely.
Goldboro Argus: The electric lights in Greensboro for the winter are turned on as permanent arrangements as before. It will be turned on for always. It is a fine light. Men who would not widely say it is the best they have ever seen.

Weldon Advance: Mr. Rufus R. Row, of Cross Roads township, has placed us under obligations for a number of years. He has been a member of the Orange county for many years, and has been a member of the Orange county for many years. He has been a member of the Orange county for many years, and has been a member of the Orange county for many years. Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 29.—A large number of people were present at the meeting of the Young Men's Republican Club of Pittsburgh, held at the Hotel Hamilton. The meeting was held at the Hotel Hamilton, and was held at the Hotel Hamilton. The meeting was held at the Hotel Hamilton, and was held at the Hotel Hamilton. The meeting was held at the Hotel Hamilton, and was held at the Hotel Hamilton.

Charlotte News: The new bagging mill at Concord will soon be ready to begin operations. The mill is now being put up on the main building in 30x120 feet, two stories, with 15,000 spindles, with all the necessary machinery. The mill is now being put up on the main building in 30x120 feet, two stories, with 15,000 spindles, with all the necessary machinery.

Elizabeth City Worker: Governor Fowle—please take notice that there is a list of non-resident voters now taking oyster plantings from the natural oyster beds of Pamlico Sound for sale in Virginia and Maryland in violation of the laws of North Carolina, while some of our law-abiding sea-faring men are deterring from this profitable and legal trade. We look to you as the executive of the laws to correct it.

Releigh Call: Information was received here that the late Mrs. J. H. Holland was killed in a room where a fire was burning. They were left alone for some time during which the fire little fellow's clothing caught in some way. His screams of agony brought assistance, but it came too late. He was so fearfully burned that he died quickly after he was reached.
Durham Chronicle: The entire community was saddened yesterday by the information that Mr. Thos. D. Jones, one of Durham's most prominent and popular citizens, had passed beyond the river, after a lingering illness of several weeks. Mr. Jones was about 35 years of age. He came to Durham from Virginia about ten years ago, and from there he came to Durham. He was a prominent member of both the Durham Tobacco Association and the Chamber of Commerce.
Snow Hill Baptist: Mr. W. E. Brand, an old soldier of the Mexican war who resides about eight miles from here, has in possession an overcoat, testament and knife which he used while a soldier in the Mexican war. He has a walking stick which he used while a soldier in the Mexican war. He has a walking stick which he used while a soldier in the Mexican war.

WIFE OF MISS W.

Her head upon her snow-white pillow, Her eyes so light and so bright,
She dreams the dreams of innocence,
Her power of will disposed.
She dreams of that great power, love,
Sovereign of the human breast,
It throws its figure on the wall,
As if 'twould her fancy test.
The first, a somewhat handsome man,
His character pure and bright,
But he fails to inspire a passing fancy,
And passes in silence out of sight.
The next a man of talent rare,
A mind profound and deep,
He fails to thrill her bosom true,
Her love is still as sleep.
The third in pompous, stately wealth,
Appears upon the wall,
He seems quite confident, but she
Her fancy to enthrall.
The fourth, the handsomest of men,
But still he lacks that magic power,
Which would her bosom charm.
Oh, "Lull," thou with mind so clear,
Fancy so light and so bright,
For what thou thou created?
Has earth a need for thee?
Know thou, O "Lull," that thy sphere
Upon a mortal's life is love,
To sweeten the bitter life of man,
And his character to improve.
But somewhere in life's crowded walks
A better man will be found,
Whom thou canst love most passionately,
With all thy soul and mind.
Then thou wilt know in thy happiness
What a pleasure it is to love,
Bestowed upon frail woman-kind
By the All-wise Power above.
