from commencement to end. It has been the habit of ANNA KATHARINE GREEN to deiberate for a long time before taking pen in hand to begin a new work, and then to devote at least a year to its completion, but The Forsaken Inn " presented itself to her in a way so forcible and vivid that all her former methods were discarded, and she wrote the story under the spur of overpowering inspiration. The result was the production of an exceptionally brilliant and glowing literary gem.

In addition to ANNA KATHARINE GREEN'S great story, the Ledger of November 16th ontains the following brilliant articles: NULLISM IN RUSSIA, by Lee Hartmann, Nihilist ; OLD-FASHIONED FASHIONS, by James Parton ; DR. Alfred R. Calbour CORRESPONDENCE, SCIENCE, WIT AND HU-MOR, and a fine variety of miscellaneous reading matter.
