

New Berne Weekly Journal

INDEPENDENT IN ALL THINGS.

NEW BERNE, CRAVEN COUNTY, N. C., AUGUST 21, 1890.

NO. 21.

VOL. XIII.

How is Your Blood?

I had a malignant breaking out on my face before the eyes and was cured only with two and a half bottles of S. S. S. Other blood medicines had failed to do me any good.

WILL C. BRANT, Yorkville, S. C.

TRADE MARK

S. S. S.

I was troubled from childhood with an aggravated case of Itch, and three bottles of S. S. S. cured me permanently.

WALLACE MANN, Manville, I. T.

Our ointment on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

CATARRH

IT IS THE BEST
FOR THE
OF THE
OF THE

THE Lord Mayor of London announces that there is reason to believe that the Russian government will not enforce its edict against the Jews.

FIVE hundred delegates attended the meeting of the State Farmers' Alliance at Asheville on Tuesday, every county in the State was represented.

THE New Orleans Picayune says: "But a lawful fence must be horse high, pig tight and bull strong. Some of the political fences are going to be tested to the full."

SOMEbody has called a certain United States Senator Coddish Hoar. Haven't our aquatic friends good cause to bring an action for defamation? An apology is due to the whole fish tribe.

It is said that the Republican leaders are calling a halt. It is useless, gentlemen. A stampede is inevitable. The best you can do is to head them off from the Democratic party and make them take to the woods.

"THE Philadelphia Bulletin joins the Ledger, Mr. Child's paper, in urging the Republican Congress to quit and go home." In this these excellent periodicals repeat evidence of the facility with which they join the majority.

"BISMARCK's friends complain bitterly of the German newspaper organs that have turned so savage against their former master." Nothing strange. It is the universal custom to worship the rising rather than the setting sun.

SPEAKER REED with his broad eash around his ample person reminds one of the manner in which a certain animal is exhibited at county fairs; and if the Speaker will wear a red blanket the resemblance will be more striking. Watch that belly-band for it slips there will be "a devil of a kicking."

THE New York Star's London Special of Wednesday confirms the news of the intention of the British Government to increase its garrisons at American stations. This may not indicate immediate war, but it shows England's intention to be ready in the event of war with the United States.

"THE State banquet to President Harrison in Boston Monday was a dull affair, the President stipulating in his acceptance that there should be no after dinner speeches." Correct wine and free speech would tell awfully on the Administration. Men, is the word.

THE census returns give the bonded debt of North Carolina in 1890 as $7,511,000. In 1880 our debt was $15,422,045. Cash and funds on hand are reported as $73,032.21 against $95,569.07 in 1880. The net debt of the State in 1890 was $15,326,475.44 and in 1880 it is reported $7,368,568.79.

THE purpose of certain parties to fight Vance brings to mind the fable of the stallion and the rooster. The rooster said he would fight the stallion if there was to be no stepping on toes; for his part if he steps on the stallion's toes it would be entirely accidental, and he hoped the stallion would be careful not to step on his toes.

THE Norfolk Virginian says: "Mr. Reed will have another winter to amuse himself with next winter. The negro Republicans of North Carolina talk of abstaining from voting this year, taken with the idea of showing the white brethren of the party that the men who do the voting may not be ignored when the distribution of offices is making."

THE Concord Times says that the good people of Durham in their magnificent banquet to the Press Association had no wine or spirits of any kind. We are greatly pleased at this exceptionally appropriate conduct, and hope it will be a precedent that will be followed by all banquets, not only to the Press Association but to every other body. We are glad of the fact that the Association returned thanks by a rousing vote. Where wine and punch are abundant the vote of thanks is usually taken after the meal. We pause to ask: What other body of men in North Carolina would have returned thanks for the absence of wine?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

CALIFORNIA ships apricots and peaches to Germany.

GUN, LONGSTREET is said to be writing a history of his campaigns.

A CYCLOPE of Cuba is said to be approaching our coast in the direction of Charleston.

THERE are not enough lawyers nominated for the Georgia Legislature to fill the judiciary committees.

DURING the San Salvador riots the American flag at La Libertad was hauled down and the consul insulted.

LIEUT. GOVERNOR HOLT has assumed control of the Executive Department, Gov. Fowle being absent from the capital.

THE Republican herd is in a bad way. Reed has the hollow horn, Blaine the bellows and Harrison the blid stagers.

THE Lord Mayor of London announces that there is reason to believe that the Russian government will not enforce its edict against the Jews.

FIVE hundred delegates attended the meeting of the State Farmers' Alliance at Asheville on Tuesday, every county in the State was represented.

THE New Orleans Picayune says: "But a lawful fence must be horse high, pig tight and bull strong. Some of the political fences are going to be tested to the full."

SOMEbody has called a certain United States Senator Coddish Hoar. Haven't our aquatic friends good cause to bring an action for defamation? An apology is due to the whole fish tribe.

It is said that the Republican leaders are calling a halt. It is useless, gentlemen. A stampede is inevitable. The best you can do is to head them off from the Democratic party and make them take to the woods.

"THE Philadelphia Bulletin joins the Ledger, Mr. Child's paper, in urging the Republican Congress to quit and go home." In this these excellent periodicals repeat evidence of the facility with which they join the majority.

"BISMARCK's friends complain bitterly of the German newspaper organs that have turned so savage against their former master." Nothing strange. It is the universal custom to worship the rising rather than the setting sun.

SPEAKER REED with his broad eash around his ample person reminds one of the manner in which a certain animal is exhibited at county fairs; and if the Speaker will wear a red blanket the resemblance will be more striking. Watch that belly-band for it slips there will be "a devil of a kicking."

THE New York Star's London Special of Wednesday confirms the news of the intention of the British Government to increase its garrisons at American stations. This may not indicate immediate war, but it shows England's intention to be ready in the event of war with the United States.

"THE State banquet to President Harrison in Boston Monday was a dull affair, the President stipulating in his acceptance that there should be no after dinner speeches." Correct wine and free speech would tell awfully on the Administration. Men, is the word.

THE census returns give the bonded debt of North Carolina in 1890 as $7,511,000. In 1880 our debt was $15,422,045. Cash and funds on hand are reported as $73,032.21 against $95,569.07 in 1880. The net debt of the State in 1890 was $15,326,475.44 and in 1880 it is reported $7,368,568.79.

THE purpose of certain parties to fight Vance brings to mind the fable of the stallion and the rooster. The rooster said he would fight the stallion if there was to be no stepping on toes; for his part if he steps on the stallion's toes it would be entirely accidental, and he hoped the stallion would be careful not to step on his toes.

THE Norfolk Virginian says: "Mr. Reed will have another winter to amuse himself with next winter. The negro Republicans of North Carolina talk of abstaining from voting this year, taken with the idea of showing the white brethren of the party that the men who do the voting may not be ignored when the distribution of offices is making."

THE Concord Times says that the good people of Durham in their magnificent banquet to the Press Association had no wine or spirits of any kind. We are greatly pleased at this exceptionally appropriate conduct, and hope it will be a precedent that will be followed by all banquets, not only to the Press Association but to every other body. We are glad of the fact that the Association returned thanks by a rousing vote. Where wine and punch are abundant the vote of thanks is usually taken after the meal. We pause to ask: What other body of men in North Carolina would have returned thanks for the absence of wine?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THOUGH we wanted to protect railroads in New Mexico.

WINSTON is to have a one hundred thousand dollar hotel.

A SMOKELESS powder factory is to be built in West Virginia.

SIXTY thousand men are idle at Cardiff in consequence of a strike.

WE are glad to learn that Senator Vance is neither scared, frightened nor alarmed.

REMEMBER the Democratic State Convention meets at Raleigh on the 20th of August.

AGAIN it is declared that "the Force bill is down." It is usual to consider one doomed when he is dead.

JOHN BOYDORRELLA, the poet, and one of the Boston Pilot, died on Sunday from an overdose of chloroform, taken for jaundice.

THE Senate committee on post offices and post roads have ordered the anti-library bill to be reported with a recommendation that it pass.

ONE of the latest revelations in New York politics is the purpose to bring out Secretary Tracy as a candidate to succeed Mr. Evans in the U. S. Senate.

THE Grand Army of the Republic have lately held an annual meeting in Boston under favorable auspices. We are glad that the Grand Army Encampment was a grand success.

HARRISON'S administration has given many evidences of weakness, but in nothing does the President show his inability for high position so much as in his advocacy of the Force Bill.

NEBRASKA Republicans unite in the declaration that they hope their party in Congress will not pass any law that would unsettle the business interests of any section of our common country.

THE Farmers' Alliance seems to be making great headway in the South, but the leopard is not changing its spots. Their nominees and leaders are Democrats, and will be more useful to that party under their proper name. It would, for example, be extremely awkward for Republicans in the Senate and House to get up and denounce the Farmers in the language they usually employ when speaking of Southern Democrats.—Philadelphia Ledger.

If Mr. Blaine is also opposed to the elections bill, as is now stated, and if his visit to Cape May to see Mr. Harrison does not straighten him out, the chance of its passage is gone. In 1874 he opposed what was known as the "force bill," which Gen. Grant recommended, and succeeded in defeating it. He can do the same with the present measure in the senate if he desires. The way things are going, Mr. Blaine is evidently preparing to be a live candidate for the presidential nomination in 1892.—Boston Evening Record, Rep.

Now that the women of North Carolina are appealed to to help the movement to secure a Confederate Soldiers' Home at Raleigh, and they are to receive commissions to work in the different counties for that end, we may expect complete success. When the Southern women set their heads together to carry out a patriotic or benevolent scheme they know of no such word as failure. We understand the commissions are neat and are embellished with colored lithographs of the Confederate flag and the names of President and Secretary Stranson and the directors.—Wilmington Messenger.

THE old "Tar, Pitch and Turpentine State" is about to show up the greatest conceivable possibilities in that line. The old State has the greatest possibilities in everything if they were only known and developed. But the matter of interest now is what appears to be a mine of actual fact which has been found on Mr. E. S. Pullen's land, about four miles from the city. The substance, whatever it is, comes from the side of a bank of earth in a stream about the consistency of putty. This stream if it may be called a stream forces its way out of the land pure and solid. It is about six inches in diameter. It is cut off when three or four inches have oozed out. People who have been there declare it is pure tar. Mr. W. C. McMakin, among others, has been there. He says it looks like tar, smells like tar, tastes like tar, and by Jupiter, it is tar.—Raleigh State Chronicle.

A Machine to Measure Land.

BILBORE, N. C., Aug. 14.—William Clifton, Manager of Bishop Lyman's farm, at Hillsboro, has just completed a machine for measuring land. It can be worked by a man or boy. It registers its own measurement, and is just what a farmer or any one measuring land needs. It weighs only 10 or 12 pounds, and can be run like a hand wheel. A patent has been applied for.

Two Million Boxes of Oranges.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 13.—Careful estimates of the growing orange crop place it at two million boxes or the same as last year.

BISHOP IRELAND ON SCHOOLS.

He Thinks Religion Should Not be Ignored in the State Schools.

From an address delivered by Archbishop Ireland before the Educational Convention held at St. Paul we copy the following abbreviated account, which takes up an important question and one that we fear is too much neglected in this day of cramming learning into the heads of the youth of our country—that of Christian education.

He said, in part, that he supported the parish schools, but would not have all schools State schools. To the child must be imparted no mean degree, that the man may earn for himself an honest competence and acquit himself of the duties which society exacts from him.

"No tax is more legitimate than that for schools, and it should be distributed in the most equitable manner. The father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

"The secular instruction in the State schools is our pride and our glory, and I regret that there is a necessity for the existence of the parish school. The spirit of the father who neglects to provide for his child's instruction sins against the child and against society, and it behooves the State to put him right.

people from the ends of the earth come hither to drink of her health-giving waters and feel the exhilarating effect of her balmy climate. There are no lands more productive than ours. The crops of North Carolina are better today than they are in any part of the Union. Her government is Democratic and this is all that need be said of her government, and her society will bear comparison with that of any community in the civilized world. No people are more intelligent, intelligent and vigorous than are the progressive and enterprising people of the old North State. Then, it is not North Carolina proper. She is prosperous to a degree that should make her profoundly grateful, but the measure of her prosperity is not full. There are limitations to her development; there are obstructions that fetter her feet in the race for pre-eminence in the sisterhood of States.

She bears an unjust proportion of the burdens of the general government. Such was not the intention of the founders of our Federal Union. They intended that there should be equality of burden and equality of benefit. "Equal rights to all; special privileges to none," was the doctrine of our fathers. Departure from their precepts and disregard of their example is the prolific source of all our woes.

The tariff bears unjustly on our people. It imposes unnecessary burdens and grievous wrongs on them for the benefit of soulless corporations, the protection of foreign industries, and the aggrandizement of distant communities.

Nor is this all. The general government has seized upon North Carolina's great staple production and derives from it the chief internal revenue of the country; thus imposing upon her a burden unknown to the majority of her sister States.

Let the general government abolish the war tariff, and take the tax off tobacco, and North Carolina will become the home of prosperity.

It can this be done? By the return of the Democratic party to power. It is useless to expect deviance from any other quarter. For a century it has been the guardian of the people, and never for a moment has it slept on its post. Faithful in the past, it firm and resolute in the present, it calls upon the virtuous and the brave to rally to its flag and strike for honor and prosperity.

THE HERALD ON THE FORCE BILL.

The New York Herald speaks wisely in discussing the intolerable force bill, when it says:

"It is the part of wisdom, therefore, to let the white and black settle their affairs among themselves. There is wrong that one may do to the other which will not in time rectify itself. As for our Northern friends—Republicans especially—let them devote themselves to the diligent minding of their own business. Grave are the problems surrounding them here and everywhere in the North. There are enough of discontent and dissatisfaction breaking around the horizon; a feeling that labor is without due reward, that the burden of war tariff is too grievous to be born; that a tariff which dooms hundreds of thousands to an endless night of misery in coal or iron mines in order that Mr. Carnegie may revel in wealth is a greater crime than slavery, and that government is going to the devil, as expressed in recent financial legislation in Washington, will end in bankruptcy and social disorder. With these problems at home we can have the South to take care of itself."

Miss Mary Lee, the youngest daughter of Gen. R. E. Lee, possesses a wonderful memory for faces and names. She is now in her eighteenth year and has not forgotten, and meeting him several years afterwards she can once speak his name and recalls all the details of his former meeting. Miss Lee came from Egypt to witness the unveiling of the statue of her father. She has spent the last five years in Portugal, France, Russia and the island of Madeira. She is a tall woman of distinguished presence, and possesses that vivacious charm of manner and brilliancy of conversation which are nature's best gifts to her sex. Miss Lee will remain in America visiting friends in the South until next spring when she will sail for Rome.—News Observer.

LEMON ELIXIR.

A Pleasant Lemon Drink.

For biliousness and constipation, take Lemon Elixir.

For indigestion and flatulency, take Lemon Elixir.

For sick and nervous headaches, take Lemon Elixir.

For general debility and nervousness, take Lemon Elixir.

For loss of appetite and debility, take Lemon Elixir.

For fevers, chills and malaria, take Lemon Elixir.

Lemon Elixir will not fail you in any of the above diseases, all of which arise from a torpid or diseased liver, stomach, kidneys, bowels or blood.

Prepared only by Dr. H. MOZLEY, Atlanta, Va.

50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by druggists.

Prominent Minister Writes.

After ten years of great suffering from indigestion, with great nervous prostration, biliousness, diarrhoea, kidney and constipation I have been cured by Dr. Mozley's Lemon Elixir, and am now well.

REV. C. O. DAVIS, Ed. M. E. Church South, Atlanta, Ga. No. 25 Canal St., Atlanta, Ga.

The Canine Season.

Canning is an improvement upon the old-fashioned method of preserving food, just as the electric light is an improvement upon the gas light. It remains in the form of the food and natural flavor is far less lost in preparation and more economical. All that is necessary is to put the food in a tin can, and the heat of the water in the boiler will do the rest. It is a simple and perfect way of preserving food, and the very best of all, even at very reduced rates. They quickly ferment after being opened, and you not only lose the fruit, sugar and color, but you also lose the natural flavor.

All large fruits, after being washed, should be immediately put into a tin can, and the water should be poured over them. Small fruits retain their shape more perfectly if sugared up for two hours before being put into the can. Each pound of sugar will cover each pound of fruit and give it brilliancy.

Large-mouthed glass jars, with patent lined glass tops only, should be used. They should be thoroughly washed with boiling water, and filled quickly through a wide mouthed funnel to avoid shaking. A silver spoon handle should be used to stir the contents of the jar, to break any air bubbles that may be there, and the tops secured without delay. Stand the jars while filling on a folded towel to prevent cracking. After sealing, and the jars in a warm part of the kitchen over night. In the morning the covers should again be tightened, as the glass will contract after cooling, and put them away in a cool, dry place.

In a week examine each jar carefully, without shaking or disturbing more than necessary. If you find the lids slightly indented, the contents free from air bubbles, and the liquid settled you may rest assured they will keep. If you find the opposite, open the jars immediately to prevent bursting. This fruit may be re-cooked and used at once, but is never satisfactory if again canned. Use only the best granulated sugar. Fruit canned with sugar of an inferior quality is never clear, and is also more liable to ferment.

The surplus juice that exudes from small fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries and plums, may be strained and boiled for half an hour in a porcelain kettle, rather than a broad deep, best. Copper or brass must be thoroughly cleaned with salt and vinegar, and even then the articles are more or less corroded by the acid which is produced in them by the action of the acids.

Small oil stoves are most convenient for canning, preserving or boiling. They are small, and immediately over an oven and intense heat, the contents boil quickly, thus retaining color and flavor.

If the directions are carefully followed, you will not lose a quantity cooked or spoiled at one time to prevent careful management of each jar, but one jar in a hundred will be lost.—Mrs. Rorer in Table Talk.

From Jacksonville.

Farmers say their crops are damaged at least 25 per cent.

The political clouds have rolled away, to some extent, and many of our organizations have left the field and are quietly resting under the shade of the trees.

In a few months the railroad will be completed to Jacksonville. Won't it be a joyful time with the good farmers of Onslow when they see their produce going to market at the rate of fifty miles an hour instead of taking two hours to go one mile over muddy roads? Yes.

We think it the whole duty of every one who has children to educate to be a subscriber to some good newspaper. The writer thinks that a religious paper should first be introduced in a family, and then an agricultural paper. In the New Berne Journal, we have a religious, agricultural, and political paper combined, making it one of the best papers published in the South. And surely every citizen in the good old county of Onslow, let his occupation be what it may, should be a reader and subscriber of the New Berne Journal.

We, as Democrats of Onslow county, are for Vance; and we are for that man who is against him. No man has ever fitted himself in the esteem and affection of the people of North Carolina as has Colonel B. Vance. He has risen to the full height of patriot and statesman, and his name today is a household word in every section of North Carolina as has Colonel B. Vance. When we remember how well he conducted the affairs of North Carolina while more than one hundred and fifty thousand of our brave sons were facing shot and shell in the great and bloody war struggles of 1863 to 1865, and when we remember too that he has been a soldier in the field and has been in active battle, we as Democrats and Union men, cannot help being proud of his record.

Original Package Dealers Agree to Quit the Business.

MASSON CITY, Iowa, August 11.—A conference of Original Package Dealers was held yesterday and resulted in a general agreement that all would close up business and attempt to contest the legality of the law. This ends the existence of the original package saloons. It is estimated that 15,000 saloons in Iowa were in operation Friday and hundreds of these have now closed up.

When a man thinks himself a genius he lets his mind grow long when a woman thinks she has a mission to fulfill in life she enters her hair short.

NEW BERNE BATTLED BY HER RAILROAD.

NEW BERNE BATTLED BY HER RAILROAD.