

THE JOURNAL.

Published at No. 100 N. 2nd St., New Bern, N. C., Jan. 1, 1901.

Proprietor: J. H. HARPER. Local Reporter: C. T. HARCOCK.

Subscription price: $1.00 per annum in advance.

Advertisements: 10 cents per line per week.

Copyright 1901 by J. H. Harper.

Printed by J. H. Harper.

Published for the Proprietor by J. H. Harper.

Entered as Second-Class Matter, June 15, 1895.

Post Office at New Bern, N. C., and Mailed at Special Rate of Postage.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Act of October 3, 1917, authorized on July 10, 1918.

Postage paid at New Bern, N. C.

Permit No. 100, New Bern, N. C., July 10, 1918.

Published by J. H. Harper.

Printed at No. 100 N. 2nd St., New Bern, N. C.

Telephone No. 100.

Subscription price: $1.00 per annum in advance.

Advertisements: 10 cents per line per week.

Copyright 1901 by J. H. Harper.

Printed by J. H. Harper.

Published for the Proprietor by J. H. Harper.

Entered as Second-Class Matter, June 15, 1895.

Post Office at New Bern, N. C., and Mailed at Special Rate of Postage.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Act of October 3, 1917, authorized on July 10, 1918.

Postage paid at New Bern, N. C.

Permit No. 100, New Bern, N. C., July 10, 1918.

Published by J. H. Harper.

Printed at No. 100 N. 2nd St., New Bern, N. C.

Telephone No. 100.

Subscription price: $1.00 per annum in advance.

Advertisements: 10 cents per line per week.

Copyright 1901 by J. H. Harper.

Printed by J. H. Harper.

Published for the Proprietor by J. H. Harper.

Entered as Second-Class Matter, June 15, 1895.

Post Office at New Bern, N. C., and Mailed at Special Rate of Postage.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Act of October 3, 1917, authorized on July 10, 1918.

Postage paid at New Bern, N. C.

Permit No. 100, New Bern, N. C., July 10, 1918.

Published by J. H. Harper.

Printed at No. 100 N. 2nd St., New Bern, N. C.

Telephone No. 100.

Subscription price: $1.00 per annum in advance.

Advertisements: 10 cents per line per week.

Copyright 1901 by J. H. Harper.

Printed by J. H. Harper.

Published for the Proprietor by J. H. Harper.

Our subscription lists. Thanks, friends. This week winds up our seventh volume in Wilmington and we begin to feel that we have about won a desperate fight for success and permanence. — Wilmington Messenger. The Messenger won because it desired to win. Such a paper is sure of appreciation.

PIRETT BUCHANAN, which has seldom, if ever, failed of achieving success in its fields of endeavor, is displaying honorable zeal in behalf of a worthy celebration of the next recurrence of Gen. Lee's birthday, 19th of January. It is not a question of doubt as to whether that organization will command co-operation. This will be accorded almost universally, for there is not a memory belonging to American history more worthy of preservation than the superb soldiery and citizenship of Robt. E. Lee.—Norfolk Virginian.

THE Manufacturers' Record of December 27th designates the action of the late Asheville convention on the charges it made against John T. Patrick, as "Star Chamber proceedings and white-wash," and then goes for the convention without gloves. Messrs. Chilton and Patrick, General Manager and Secretary of the Southern Immigration Bureau, should advertise in the Record like "Denison, Texas, the Queen City of the south-west," and "Sheffield, Ala. The Superb," then they could look for praise instead of censure.

THE San Francisco Chronicle says the California fruit business "is bound to be of more value than all the gold mines which were ever discovered here," for the reason that, while the mines were necessarily worked out, the orchards will last for centuries with proper care, and the yield will be perennial. As yet we are only on the outer rim of fruit raising in California, although our progress is flattering, and an excellent forecast of the future, and again we beg some of these papers that tell of the immense profits of fruit culture in California to explain to us why it was necessary for the McKinley bill to increase the duty on fruit.—National Democrat.

THE NEW YEAR. In a few days the old year will have passed, and the new year will be upon us with its hopes and its fears, its duties and its responsibilities. It will be well if we dedicate the new year to home and country and to God.

The past cannot be changed. Whatever of good is in it we can enshrine in sacred memories, and even the evil we have done may be as beacon lights to protect us from hidden rocks and treacherous whirlpools.

The smile of heaven seems to rest on sea and land, and the stars shone on the evil and the good. Individual effort, wisely directed, is always blessed, and we trust that every one of our readers will realize in the year to come the reward of their labors and the fruition of their hopes.

North Carolina—heaven bless her! has entered upon a career of enlightened progress and solid prosperity, and her sons and daughters have only to be true to her in order to win success in the various avocations in which they are employed. Her mines are rich in mineral wealth, her lands bring forth abundantly, and the hand of industry is ready to draw from mountain fastness and fertile plain treasures to adorn the State and make glad her people.

We have no fears for the material development of North Carolina; our only concern is for the moral, intellectual and moral elevation of her sons and daughters. Reform is the order of the day, and if reformation is needed in this grand old commonwealth, let us address ourselves to its sacred obligations with the resolution of men who dare to tread the path of duty wherever it may lead. Our public school system may be perfected. A higher standard of scholarship must be raised. Every child has a right to demand a practical business education. The children cannot make this demand for themselves, but enlightened public sentiment speaks for them; the spirit of philanthropy pleads for them, and the religion of Jesus intercedes for them. The Legislature will be composed of representative men who, we are assured, will give this subject the consideration it demands.

We will not take our eyes from North Carolina, but we look beyond her borders to see that the watchfires of liberty are burning in all the States. He who can look with out concern upon the condition of public affairs in the United States is either indifferent to the voice of patriotism, or he is sustained by a sublime faith that enables him to look beyond the clouds and see our Father's hand guiding the storm and directing the tempest. He who tempers the winds to the shores lambs will certainly shelter his children, and we trust that in his own good time he will bring his order out of confusion and say to the angry waves "Peace, be still." He who hopes for good must be willing to work for the accomplishment of good. Individual effort is not to be disregarded nor lightly esteemed; but in State and National affairs organization is necessary to grand achievements. There is an organization in North Carolina, and throughout the Union, which, with the blessing of God, can bring deliverance to the country. That organization is the Democratic party. Let us see to it that it is preserved in its purity, free from corruption, the lust of power and the sin of inordinate ambition have no place in a pure Democracy. Let us keep before us the great lights that illumine our history, and direct our course by the chart of human liberty, the American Constitution.

THE Manufacturers' Record of December 27th designates the action of the late Asheville convention on the charges it made against John T. Patrick, as "Star Chamber proceedings and white-wash," and then goes for the convention without gloves. Messrs. Chilton and Patrick, General Manager and Secretary of the Southern Immigration Bureau, should advertise in the Record like "Denison, Texas, the Queen City of the south-west," and "Sheffield, Ala. The Superb," then they could look for praise instead of censure.

THE San Francisco Chronicle says the California fruit business "is bound to be of more value than all the gold mines which were ever discovered here," for the reason that, while the mines were necessarily worked out, the orchards will last for centuries with proper care, and the yield will be perennial. As yet we are only on the outer rim of fruit raising in California, although our progress is flattering, and an excellent forecast of the future, and again we beg some of these papers that tell of the immense profits of fruit culture in California to explain to us why it was necessary for the McKinley bill to increase the duty on fruit.—National Democrat.

THE NEW YEAR. In a few days the old year will have passed, and the new year will be upon us with its hopes and its fears, its duties and its responsibilities. It will be well if we dedicate the new year to home and country and to God.

The past cannot be changed. Whatever of good is in it we can enshrine in sacred memories, and even the evil we have done may be as beacon lights to protect us from hidden rocks and treacherous whirlpools.

The smile of heaven seems to rest on sea and land, and the stars shone on the evil and the good. Individual effort, wisely directed, is always blessed, and we trust that every one of our readers will realize in the year to come the reward of their labors and the fruition of their hopes.

North Carolina—heaven bless her! has entered upon a career of enlightened progress and solid prosperity, and her sons and daughters have only to be true to her in order to win success in the various avocations in which they are employed. Her mines are rich in mineral wealth, her lands bring forth abundantly, and the hand of industry is ready to draw from mountain fastness and fertile plain treasures to adorn the State and make glad her people.

We have no fears for the material development of North Carolina; our only concern is for the moral, intellectual and moral elevation of her sons and daughters. Reform is the order of the day, and if reformation is needed in this grand old commonwealth, let us address ourselves to its sacred obligations with the resolution of men who dare to tread the path of duty wherever it may lead. Our public school system may be perfected. A higher standard of scholarship must be raised. Every child has a right to demand a practical business education. The children cannot make this demand for themselves, but enlightened public sentiment speaks for them; the spirit of philanthropy pleads for them, and the religion of Jesus intercedes for them. The Legislature will be composed of representative men who, we are assured, will give this subject the consideration it demands.

We will not take our eyes from North Carolina, but we look beyond her borders to see that the watchfires of liberty are burning in all the States. He who can look with out concern upon the condition of public affairs in the United States is either indifferent to the voice of patriotism, or he is sustained by a sublime faith that enables him to look beyond the clouds and see our Father's hand guiding the storm and directing the tempest. He who tempers the winds to the shores lambs will certainly shelter his children, and we trust that in his own good time he will bring his order out of confusion and say to the angry waves "Peace, be still." He who hopes for good must be willing to work for the accomplishment of good. Individual effort is not to be disregarded nor lightly esteemed; but in State and National affairs organization is necessary to grand achievements. There is an organization in North Carolina, and throughout the Union, which, with the blessing of God, can bring deliverance to the country. That organization is the Democratic party. Let us see to it that it is preserved in its purity, free from corruption, the lust of power and the sin of inordinate ambition have no place in a pure Democracy. Let us keep before us the great lights that illumine our history, and direct our course by the chart of human liberty, the American Constitution.

THE Manufacturers' Record of December 27th designates the action of the late Asheville convention on the charges it made against John T. Patrick, as "Star Chamber proceedings and white-wash," and then goes for the convention without gloves. Messrs. Chilton and Patrick, General Manager and Secretary of the Southern Immigration Bureau, should advertise in the Record like "Denison, Texas, the Queen City of the south-west," and "Sheffield, Ala. The Superb," then they could look for praise instead of censure.

THE San Francisco Chronicle says the California fruit business "is bound to be of more value than all the gold mines which were ever discovered here," for the reason that, while the mines were necessarily worked out, the orchards will last for centuries with proper care, and the yield will be perennial. As yet we are only on the outer rim of fruit raising in California, although our progress is flattering, and an excellent forecast of the future, and again we beg some of these papers that tell of the immense profits of fruit culture in California to explain to us why it was necessary for the McKinley bill to increase the duty on fruit.—National Democrat.

THE NEW YEAR. In a few days the old year will have passed, and the new year will be upon us with its hopes and its fears, its duties and its responsibilities. It will be well if we dedicate the new year to home and country and to God.

The past cannot be changed. Whatever of good is in it we can enshrine in sacred memories, and even the evil we have done may be as beacon lights to protect us from hidden rocks and treacherous whirlpools.

The smile of heaven seems to rest on sea and land, and the stars shone on the evil and the good. Individual effort, wisely directed, is always blessed, and we trust that every one of our readers will realize in the year to come the reward of their labors and the fruition of their hopes.

North Carolina—heaven bless her! has entered upon a career of enlightened progress and solid prosperity, and her sons and daughters have only to be true to her in order to win success in the various avocations in which they are employed. Her mines are rich in mineral wealth, her lands bring forth abundantly, and the hand of industry is ready to draw from mountain fastness and fertile plain treasures to adorn the State and make glad her people.

We have no fears for the material development of North Carolina; our only concern is for the moral, intellectual and moral elevation of her sons and daughters. Reform is the order of the day, and if reformation is needed in this grand old commonwealth, let us address ourselves to its sacred obligations with the resolution of men who dare to tread the path of duty wherever it may lead. Our public school system may be perfected. A higher standard of scholarship must be raised. Every child has a right to demand a practical business education. The children cannot make this demand for themselves, but enlightened public sentiment speaks for them; the spirit of philanthropy pleads for them, and the religion of Jesus intercedes for them. The Legislature will be composed of representative men who, we are assured, will give this subject the consideration it demands.

We will not take our eyes from North Carolina, but we look beyond her borders to see that the watchfires of liberty are burning in all the States. He who can look with out concern upon the condition of public affairs in the United States is either indifferent to the voice of patriotism, or he is sustained by a sublime faith that enables him to look beyond the clouds and see our Father's hand guiding the storm and directing the tempest. He who tempers the winds to the shores lambs will certainly shelter his children, and we trust that in his own good time he will bring his order out of confusion and say to the angry waves "Peace, be still." He who hopes for good must be willing to work for the accomplishment of good. Individual effort is not to be disregarded nor lightly esteemed; but in State and National affairs organization is necessary to grand achievements. There is an organization in North Carolina, and throughout the Union, which, with the blessing of God, can bring deliverance to the country. That organization is the Democratic party. Let us see to it that it is preserved in its purity, free from corruption, the lust of power and the sin of inordinate ambition have no place in a pure Democracy. Let us keep before us the great lights that illumine our history, and direct our course by the chart of human liberty, the American Constitution.

THE Manufacturers' Record of December 27th designates the action of the late Asheville convention on the charges it made against John T. Patrick, as "Star Chamber proceedings and white-wash," and then goes for the convention without gloves. Messrs. Chilton and Patrick, General Manager and Secretary of the Southern Immigration Bureau, should advertise in the Record like "Denison, Texas, the Queen City of the south-west," and "Sheffield, Ala. The Superb," then they could look for praise instead of censure.

THE San Francisco Chronicle says the California fruit business "is bound to be of more value than all the gold mines which were ever discovered here," for the reason that, while the mines were necessarily worked out, the orchards will last for centuries with proper care, and the yield will be perennial. As yet we are only on the outer rim of fruit raising in California, although our progress is flattering, and an excellent forecast of the future, and again we beg some of these papers that tell of the immense profits of fruit culture in California to explain to us why it was necessary for the McKinley bill to increase the duty on fruit.—National Democrat.

THE NEW YEAR. In a few days the old year will have passed, and the new year will be upon us with its hopes and its fears, its duties and its responsibilities. It will be well if we dedicate the new year to home and country and to God.

The past cannot be changed. Whatever of good is in it we can enshrine in sacred memories, and even the evil we have done may be as beacon lights to protect us from hidden rocks and treacherous whirlpools.

The smile of heaven seems to rest on sea and land, and the stars shone on the evil and the good. Individual effort, wisely directed, is always blessed, and we trust that every one of our readers will realize in the year to come the reward of their labors and the fruition of their hopes.

North Carolina—heaven bless her! has entered upon a career of enlightened progress and solid prosperity, and her sons and daughters have only to be true to her in order to win success in the various avocations in which they are employed. Her mines are rich in mineral wealth, her lands bring forth abundantly, and the hand of industry is ready to draw from mountain fastness and fertile plain treasures to adorn the State and make glad her people.

We have no fears for the material development of North Carolina; our only concern is for the moral, intellectual and moral elevation of her sons and daughters. Reform is the order of the day, and if reformation is needed in this grand old commonwealth, let us address ourselves to its sacred obligations with the resolution of men who dare to tread the path of duty wherever it may lead. Our public school system may be perfected. A higher standard of scholarship must be raised. Every child has a right to demand a practical business education. The children cannot make this demand for themselves, but enlightened public sentiment speaks for them; the spirit of philanthropy pleads for them, and the religion of Jesus intercedes for them. The Legislature will be composed of representative men who, we are assured, will give this subject the consideration it demands.

We will not take our eyes from North Carolina, but we look beyond her borders to see that the watchfires of liberty are burning in all the States. He who can look with out concern upon the condition of public affairs in the United States is either indifferent to the voice of patriotism, or he is sustained by a sublime faith that enables him to look beyond the clouds and see our Father's hand guiding the storm and directing the tempest. He who tempers the winds to the shores lambs will certainly shelter his children, and we trust that in his own good time he will bring his order out of confusion and say to the angry waves "Peace, be still." He who hopes for good must be willing to work for the accomplishment of good. Individual effort is not to be disregarded nor lightly esteemed; but in State and National affairs organization is necessary to grand achievements. There is an organization in North Carolina, and throughout the Union, which, with the blessing of God, can bring deliverance to the country. That organization is the Democratic party. Let us see to it that it is preserved in its purity, free from corruption, the lust of power and the sin of inordinate ambition have no place in a pure Democracy. Let us keep before us the great lights that illumine our history, and direct our course by the chart of human liberty, the American Constitution.

THE Manufacturers' Record of December 27th designates the action of the late Asheville convention on the charges it made against John T. Patrick, as "Star Chamber proceedings and white-wash," and then goes for the convention without gloves. Messrs. Chilton and Patrick, General Manager and Secretary of the Southern Immigration Bureau, should advertise in the Record like "Denison, Texas, the Queen City of the south-west," and "Sheffield, Ala. The Superb," then they could look for praise instead of censure.

THE San Francisco Chronicle says the California fruit business "is bound to be of more value than all the gold mines which were ever discovered here," for the reason that, while the mines were necessarily worked out, the orchards will last for centuries with proper care, and the yield will be perennial. As yet we are only on the outer rim of fruit raising in California, although our progress is flattering, and an excellent forecast of the future, and again we beg some of these papers that tell of the immense profits of fruit culture in California to explain to us why it was necessary for the McKinley bill to increase the duty on fruit.—National Democrat.

THE NEW YEAR. In a few days the old year will have passed, and the new year will be upon us with its hopes and its fears, its duties and its responsibilities. It will be well if we dedicate the new year to home and country and to God.

The past cannot be changed. Whatever of good is in it we can enshrine in sacred memories, and even the evil we have done may be as beacon lights to protect us from hidden rocks and treacherous whirlpools.

The smile of heaven seems to rest on sea and land, and the stars shone on the evil and the good. Individual effort, wisely directed, is always blessed, and we trust that every one of our readers will realize in the year to come the reward of their labors and the fruition of their hopes.

North Carolina—heaven bless her! has entered upon a career of enlightened progress and solid prosperity, and her sons and daughters have only to be true to her in order to win success in the various avocations in which they are employed. Her mines are rich in mineral wealth, her lands bring forth abundantly, and the hand of industry is ready to draw from mountain fastness and fertile plain treasures to adorn the State and make glad her people.

We have no fears for the material development of North Carolina; our only concern is for the moral, intellectual and moral elevation of her sons and daughters. Reform is the order of the day, and if reformation is needed in this grand old commonwealth, let us address ourselves to its sacred obligations with the resolution of men who dare to tread the path of duty wherever it may lead. Our public school system may be perfected. A higher standard of scholarship must be raised. Every child has a right to demand a practical business education. The children cannot make this demand for themselves, but enlightened public sentiment speaks for them; the spirit of philanthropy pleads for them, and the religion of Jesus intercedes for them. The Legislature will be composed of representative men who, we are assured, will give this subject the consideration it demands.

We will not take our eyes from North Carolina, but we look beyond her borders to see that the watchfires of liberty are burning in all the States. He who can look with out concern upon the condition of public affairs in the United States is either indifferent to the voice of patriotism, or he is sustained by a sublime faith that enables him to look beyond the clouds and see our Father's hand guiding the storm and directing the tempest. He who tempers the winds to the shores lambs will certainly shelter his children, and we trust that in his own good time he will bring his order out of confusion and say to the angry waves "Peace, be still." He who hopes for good must be willing to work for the accomplishment of good. Individual effort is not to be disregarded nor lightly esteemed; but in State and National affairs organization is necessary to grand achievements. There is an organization in North Carolina, and throughout the Union, which, with the blessing of God, can bring deliverance to the country. That organization is the Democratic party. Let us see to it that it is preserved in its purity, free from corruption, the lust of power and the sin of inordinate ambition have no place in a pure Democracy. Let us keep before us the great lights that illumine our history, and direct our course by the chart of human liberty, the American Constitution.

THE Manufacturers' Record of December 27th designates the action of the late Asheville convention on the charges it made against John T. Patrick, as "Star Chamber proceedings and white-wash," and then goes for the convention without gloves. Messrs. Chilton and Patrick, General Manager and Secretary of the Southern Immigration Bureau, should advertise in the Record like "Denison, Texas, the Queen City of the south-west," and "Sheffield, Ala. The Superb," then they could look for praise instead of censure.

THE San Francisco Chronicle says the California fruit business "is bound to be of more value than all the gold mines which were ever discovered here," for the reason that, while the mines were necessarily worked out, the orchards will last for centuries with proper care, and the yield will be perennial. As yet we are only on the outer rim of fruit raising in California, although our progress is flattering, and an excellent forecast of the future, and again we beg some of these papers that tell of the immense profits of fruit culture in California to explain to us why it was necessary for the McKinley bill to increase the duty on fruit.—National Democrat.

THE NEW YEAR. In a few days the old year will have passed, and the new year will be upon us with its hopes and its fears, its duties and its responsibilities. It will be well if we dedicate the new year to home and country and to God.

The past cannot be changed. Whatever of good is in it we can enshrine in sacred memories, and even the evil we have done may be as beacon lights to protect us from hidden rocks and treacherous whirlpools.

Jones County Items.

Christmas has passed off pleasantly, without any mishap. Every one appeared to enjoy the happy day.

Corn is selling at 15 cents per bushel, eggs 16 cents per dozen, fadder 60 cents, fresh pork 6 cents per pound.

We had the pleasure of attending the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school at Trenton, N. C., last. We were truly glad to see so much interest manifested in this good work by both pupils and teachers.

Married at the home of the bride's mother, December 25th, 1900, Mrs. A. F. Hammond, of Cypress Creek, Jones County, Miss Annie Hammond and Mr. Jesse F. Noble. Many years of happiness and prosperity attend them. The Rev. R. B. Gilliam officiated.

Professor W. H. Rhodes, of the Trenton High School, with the pupils, gave his patrons the enjoyment of an entertainment on Monday the 24th, which was met by the court house being filled to its fullest capacity. The entertainment was received with rapturous applause and was highly appreciated by our citizens. The proceeds rendered showed that the pupils had had careful training and convinced every one that Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes were doing all they could to advance the pupils under their charge. We learn that the next session of this school will open again on the 7th of January with a large accession of new pupils. No need of sending your children to the States if you are a school right at home worthy of patronage.

Vanceboro Items.

Vanceboro presented a lively appearance during the Christmas holidays.

The Free Masons held their festival here on the 22d, as advertised. There were various ways for a fellow to get out of his "chain." Among the amusements were dancing and voting on the girls' beauty. The latter was the more exciting, as each young man tried to elect the girl of his choice. Miss Pollie Jackson was elected the prettiest lady.

Mr. S. F. Forrest, of Maple Cypress, and Miss Emma Coward, of Corville, were married on the 24th, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John Coward, and after the marriage we drove to Mr. A. Lancaster's, where we found a large assembly of the neighbors and a table filled with the good things of a farmer's kitchen. It was a grand occasion and one that will not soon be forgotten.

There was a grand horse tournament here on the 26th. It rained all day, but the large crowd of spectators did not mind. There were ten knights, and how noble they looked as they marched up in front of the judges to hear the "verdict" as they called it. Mr. E. L. Edwards, knight of "Edwards' Mill," crowned the Queen, Miss Ida Heath; Mr. J. F. Bergerin, "Washington," crowned first Maid of Honor, Miss Alice Warren; Mr. C. J. Heath, "Vanceboro," crowned second Maid of Honor, Miss Belle Edwards; and Mr. S. E. Ewell, "Haven't Given it a Thought," crowned third Maid of Honor, Miss Annie Walters.

Swansboro Items.

Christmas is past and our old town made the trip without an accident.

One incident is reported at Jack Swansboro. Luther Taylor is said to have entered the house of Mr. Sewell with four cents worth of powder in a paper sack and a lighted fuse, which he intended to come in contact. Result, Mrs. Sewell, Miss Mary Crear and Miss Agnes Parkins set on fire and badly burned, but not fatally, however. Luther and the furniture in the house and the wood on the fire all changed places, but he escaped with slight damage.

Mr. Ebanks, at Mr. D. Aman's, had his hand badly lacerated by holding on too long to a sky rocket.

Miss Mary Hill, daughter of Capt. Ed. Hill, and a good looking one, was married to Mr. James Parkins, of Stella. All are pleased at the match, except one or two of her beaux.

The ladies, God bless them, as usual had no Christmas cards loaded down with presents for the little ones. Most of the Sunday-school girls and boys had appropriate little speeches, which they repeated in excellent style, and the occasion was decidedly enjoyable.

Festivals and a Masonic celebration supplemented our holidays. Mr. George Morton, of Wilmington, being the orator. His address was highly complimented.

In the double tendency which all things exhibit towards the good or the evil let us resolve in the beginning of another year to be found combating the evil, and this requires constant, unceasing watchfulness. P. A. GREGGIC, Swansboro, N. C., Dec. 29, 1900.

LEMOKELIX

its wonderful effect on the Liver, stomach and Kidneys, is a pleasant lemon drink that positively cures all Biliousness, Headache, Malaria, Kidney Disease, Dizziness, Cold, Loss of Appetite, Fever, Chills, Blisters, Pimples, Pain in Back, Palpitation of Heart, and all other diseases caused by disordered liver, stomach and kidneys, the first great cause of all fatal diseases. Fifty cents and one dollar per bottle. Sold by druggists. Prepared only by H. Moxley, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.

LEMOKELIX HOT DROPS.

For coughs and colds, take Lemon Hot Drops.

For sore throat and bronchitis, take Lemon Hot Drops.

For pneumonia and laryngitis, take Lemon Hot Drops.

For consumption and catarrh, take Lemon Hot Drops.

For all throat and lung diseases, take Lemon Hot Drops.

An elegant and reliable preparation. Sold by druggists. Prepared by H. Moxley, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.

What It Does.

1. Purifies the blood.

2. Creates an appetite.

3. Strengthens the nerves.

4. Makes the weak strong.

5. Overcomes that tired feeling.

6. Cures rheumatism, neuralgia, etc.

7. Relieves headache, indigestion, dyspepsia.

"Did you ever find good relief from your nervous system? My mother, I had my seat in the car to an old lady when I got out at my station."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Local Appointments.

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)

For the purpose of the... (text continues)