CITY AND VICINITY

The free coinage bill is now in the Senate by four majority.

The p. o. office at Core Creek has been changed to the name of Lowlands.

The Congressional convention of the 1st District will be held at Plymouth August the 9th.

Two good stand and fine looking cotton bolls have been shown us from the farm of Mr. Freeman Ernul near Vanceboro.

Washington's first cotton bloom was on the 25th inst. New Berne's first, from the farm of Mr. Jos L. Rhem, was just one day later.

Mr. Hill Humphrey, or Dog Ike, the irrepressible, bought out a $7,000 stock on Middle street yesterday. He will tell more about it later.

It is stated that an institute for the cure of drunkenness similar to the Keeley institute at Greensboro is to be established at an early day in Raleigh by Dr. Palmer recently of Greensboro.

The Grifton Lamp-light says: "The Methodist church will be finished by the 5th Sunday in July and dedicated at that time. The Methodists are looking forward to a grand time on this occasion."

Messrs. Simmons & Gibbs have opened in their office, South Front street, east of Jones' livery stables, which they have just had repainted and put in thorough good order for their occupancy.

A change has been made in the Schedule of the N. N. & W. Direct line. Its steamers now sail from New Berne each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at noon. They arrive at New Berne during the proceeding night.

There has been rather too much rain during the past two week. One trouble is that the rain being of almost daily occurance, is causing the shedding of cotton blossoms. It looks now, however, as though there were a fine prospect of the di continuance.

General Jas. B. Weaver of Iowa, is the candidate of the People's party for President. Gen. Jas. G. Field of Virginia is the nominee for Vice President. Weaver has been in Congress, and was the greenback candidate for President in 1880 at which time he received 307,740 votes.

Raleigh is taking steps towards erecting a monument on Capital square to the Confederate dead of North Carolina. The plan is to have the monument surmounted by a statue of Henry Wyatt, the first confederate soldier to fall in regular battle and to have spaces at the base for various busts.

From the Elizabeth City Economist we take the following item: "They say the fishing at Nag's Head is superb. In fact the Blue Fish in the surf are making hook and lines a thing of the past. They run trout up on the beach. If they'd only scale and cook them wouldn't it be nice."

The first cotton bloom has made its appearance at the JOURNAL office. It was sent by Mr. W. E. Grimsley of Snow Hill. Mr. Grimsley says it came from a ten acre field that was planted the last of April. The first bloom was discovered on the 25th inst. He also reports crops in good condition.

The State Press Convention meets at Charlotte, July the 27th. The queen city is making preparations for their reception. At the close of the session the Association will go on an excursion to Washington City and New York. We would be glad to have the Association meet in New Berne next year. What say our citizens.

An exchange gives the following note from a man who wrote to discontinue his subscription: "I doant think men ought spend muany far papers my dad didont and every boddy sed he wos the into ligentest man in the kounty and had the smartest famaly of gurles and boyes that ever dug taters."

The almost continuous rains of Monday caused a failure of the plans formed for celebrating the Fourth of July. There could be no fire works and the only race that came off during the day was a swimming race and of course it made but little difference to the contestants in that if it did rain. Mr. Herbert Willis was the winner. The Revenue Cutter Winona pull her tribute to the day by a profuse flying of beautiful colors.

There was a public installation of officers of the Morehead and Beaufort Masonic Lodges at Beaufort, Wednesday afternoon. Judge H. A. Gudger, of Asheville, Grand Master of the State of North Carolina, made an address of an hour in length and interesting to all on the benefits of Masonry and the good that accrues from it when carried out as it should be. Dinner was served to those in attendance, and ice cream and lemonade were in abundance.

The Wilmington Messenger has a special, telling of a horrible affair that occurred near Lumberton. A brutal waite man named Frank G. Mears compelled his six-year-old son to walk home eight miles distant, where from exhaustion he went to sleep on the steps. Mears became angry at finding his wife sick in bed instead of cooking dinner and beat her and all the children with a piece of scantling, breaking the skull of one and threatening to kill them all. It is stated that the youngest will certainly die and that the others are unconscious or will be injured for life. Mears was arrested. It is thought that if his neighbors had got hold of him first he would have been lynched. He was suspected several years ago of having killed a negro.

Mr. A. Cohn, proprietor of the New Berne Music House, has sold several organs in Hyde and Carteret counties as a result of the display of them which he furnished for the use of the Teachers' Assembly this year. The beautiful organ that Messrs. Newman & Bro sent down for the Assembly was purchased by Mr. M. A. Davis of Morehead from Mr. Cohn and he sent off an order for three others Monday. One was for a $75 chapel organ for the Baptist church of Morehead. The proposition to buy one was made in the Sabbath school Sunday morning by Mr. Willis, the superintendent, and over a third of the amount was immediately subscribed by those present, and Mr. Cohn very generously donated about half of what was left to be raised.

Fire in Kinston.

Yesterday morning [illegible] before [illegible] Mrs. William Rhodes [illegible] was discovered [illegible] was [illegible] the [illegible] Mr. [illegible] the [illegible] property of [illegible] was [illegible]

New Berne District Conference.

The delegates to the Centenary [illegible] from the District Conference [illegible] in Beaufort are [illegible] Rev. J. K. Willis, T. A. Green, G. T. [illegible] and F. F. Church. Those from [illegible] Street M. E. Church are [illegible] S. R. Ball, W. R. Barrington, D. M. Hollowell and B. F. Delamar.

There are 18 pastoral charges in this district and each pastoral charge is entitled to four delegates in addition to the ministers. In all probability about 60 of them will attend. The conference meets in Beaufort tomorrow and will continue through Sunday.

J. T. Patrick Collecting Game.

Mr. J. T. Patrick, commissioner of Immigration, is interesting himself on behalf of the State in getting up an exhibit of live North Carolina Game. Half a car load has already been sent him by Mr. J. D. Hensley of this city, consisting of bear, eagles, foxes, racoons and wild cats, and he will send another shipment consisting of wild turkeys, geese, ducks and quail and a superb buck.

Mr. Patrick, wants about two dozen does and fawns. Those who trap any can find out prices for them and other particulars from him at Raleigh or from Hensley of this city.

Mr. Hamill's Lecture.

Considering the wet and slush caused from an all day rain, it was a good audience that assembled at Centenary M. E. Church on the night of the Fourth of July to hear Prof Hamill's lecture to young people. It was both delightful and profitable and given the best of attention. More properly the discourse defined the relationship of the church to young people and vice versa, the relation of young people to the church.

The subject was divided into four divisions: Physical health, Social life, Intellectual life and the Religious life. Each division was carefully analyzed and of interest [illegible] to easily [illegible] the attention of the audience. It was on the [illegible] order which made it [illegible] for such a subject. Prof Hamill is specialist in moral traing and is doing a grand work for the Sunday schools of the country.

A Valuable Machine.

Another handsome addition to the improved machinery of the city was made yesterday. The New Berne Iron Works got in their new improved shafting turning lathe. It is 24 feet long and has a 14 inch swing. That is it will work a bar of iron 24 inches in diameter. It does the work of an ordinary lathe and also turns mill and other shafting quickly and cheaply by an extra attachment for that special work, which is a feature just introduced here. Prior to this when shafting was wanted it would have to be ordered from the great shops of the North.

We have had item after item recently about the different machine shops of the city getting in new machinery of improved kinds.

Thus we go forward. It is one of the sure indications of the steady advance in material prosperity of this eastern section.

North Carolina Tobacco Association.

The Tobacco association has now commenced its session at Morehead and is twice as largely attended as was its meeting last year. A few of its members have been at Morehead ever since the beginning of the season there. Over fifty more of them registered at the Atlantic Hotel Monday night and others passed through last night. Fifteen or more markets are represented in the attendance.

One of the important pieces of work to be provided for at this meeting is the preliminary arrangements for an exhibit at the Columbian Exposition. Mr J S Carr will make the address before the convention on the subject. He was appointed by the convention at its last session to have charge of the exhibit and he has been commissioned by the Legislature for that purpose.

We have no doubt that this exhibit will be a handsome one. The progressive tobacco men who have built up the industry until this State holds the largest and most widely and favorably known factories of the world will not suffer it to be otherwise.

Its Past Work and the Next Session.

The next session of the New Berne Collegiate Institute will begin on Monday September 5th.

The school has been doing highly satisfactory work in our community during the three years of its existence under the efficient management of Prof. G. T. Adams. During this time, it has sent off to college an average of five pupils per year and the Presidents of the various colleges have spoken in very complimentary terms of the high standing maintained by pupils who took their preparatory course at the Institute, and we have heard patrons of the school in the equally favorable comments and say that the general public though little appreciated the school, did not have a due realization of its excellence in the number and fine personnel of its faculty, in the equipments of the school and in the superiority of the methods of instruction.

The Institute has deservedly a wide and fine reputation and draws its patronage from all the surrounding counties ten counties were represented among its pupils last year.

There are eight of the teachers and they are all skillful in their different departments—from Mrs. Fetrobee, who presides over the primary to the Professors who have charge of the literary musical and classical departments.

The school has now been established long enough for every part to adjust itself easily and understandingly to existing circumstances and surroundings and though good from the first day it ever opened it has continued to improve and the work of the past scholastic year was more solid and satisfactory to all than ever before.

Our people cannot do a better part by their children, than to educate them in the New Berne Collegiate Institute as high as its instruction extends and that is up to what is taught the first two years in college. Advertisement giving particulars will appear tomorrow.

Very Choice Figs.

We have before this alluded to [illegible] with which [illegible] a North Carolina [illegible] of [illegible] very little attention to [illegible] education. We [illegible] of the branch of horticulture could be made very profitable around New Berne.

Our readers will [illegible] Superintendent Small has [illegible] efforts to get [illegible] practice introduced throughout the state by a distribution of [illegible] trees. These were first [illegible] three years ago. The State Chronicle mentions [illegible] sent to Raleigh last week from some of these trees, of Italian varieties—San Pedro, Negro Largo, or large black and early Violet. The weight of the first named was a quarter of a pound. The specimens were by far the finest ever seen there. This is another evidence of what can be done in North Carolina. It is hoped that many people will see from what is here told the possibilities of fig culture and turn greater attention to its development.

How to Help Your Town.

The following suggestions as to how one may help his town are offered by an exchange.

Talk about it.

Write about it.

Be friendly with everybody.

If a poor man starts a project help him.

If a rich man starts a project encourage him.

Don't talk the town down to strangers.

Sell all you can and buy all you can at home.

If you are rich, invest in something, employ somebody.

If a project to improve the town comes up, don't hoot—investigate.

Don't curse the town if you are not making money, perhaps it is your own fault.

Don't let your personal antipathy get away with your business judgment.

If you have not the energy to go ahead follow the men who have.

Be courteous to strangers who come among you, so they will go away with a good impression.

If you don't like your own town well enough to speak well of it, get out of it and make room for better men.

Always cheer on the man who goes for improvements. Your portion of the cost will be nothing but that which is right.

Do not kick at any proposed improvements because they are not at your door, for fear that your tax will be raised fifty cents.

Don't be afraid to stick you hand down in your pocket for money to help a public enterprise. You owe something to your community for being so kind as to patronize you.

Died,

Little Fannie, daughter of Mr. J. J. and Mrs. Kate A. Brinson, died at Baird's creek, June 22d, 1892, aged 19 months.

Weep not, dear father and mother, for this little bud has only wilted on earth to bloom in heaven. J. C. B.

A TRUE STORY.

Said Baby Ruth Cleveland to Baby McKee
You will sail up "Salt River" in March, 1893.
When that happy event shall come to pass,
Remember, to keep off the White House grass.
I'm real sorry your nose will be out of joint,
Let's tell tales! I can cheer you with one that has point.
It isn't a fable, but tis every word so
For my papa told me, and he ought to know.
Once on a time—there lives in New Berne,
A town that is booming, for each way you turn
They are building new railroads, or water works,
Electric cars, aqueducts, and fire alarm quirks.—
In this town lives a man, a "Tar Heel" by birth,
And a wonderful thing is, he don't WANT THE EARTH.
His name is Big Ike, he's "most" great as papa,
Whew! said Baby McKee, why Ruth, what a whopper!
It isn't, said Ruth, for he keeps a big store,
With goods cheap as people never heard of before,
The Farmers' Alliance make it their headquarters,
And take with them home for their sons and their daughters,
Such beautiful hats, boots, shoes, clothes and rings,
Bracelets, ribbons, umbrellas, and watch HEARS of things.
Besides he has trade from all of the town
Because of the fact that he puts prices down.
Well! said Baby McKee, when I am a man,
I shall be looking like a moor at Ike,
So people can tell of the "Store" that I like.
And wear pretty things that I get in the store.
Now, said Baby Ruth, as she sat by his side,
And turned up her nose with an air of great pride
Baby Mac, tell the truth, I only ask this!
Don't my tale beat your chestnut, bout "Great Grandpa's Hat"?

The Cause of Pain.

An ache or pain is not of itself a disease, it is but a symptom, and warns the sufferer that there is something the matter with his physical organization. Weak kidneys, bad blood, and nervousness are frequently the source or cause of the many mysterious aching sensations that afflict the body. You can remove the cause of such distress by using B. B. B. Botanic Blood Balm.

C. H. Roberts, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "My kidneys were disordered and gave me excruciating pain. A single bottle of B. B. B. helped me wonderfully. Wm. N. Nelson, McDonough, Ga., writes: "B. B. B. has benefited my daughter very much. She was afflicted with severe nervousness. I think it the best family medicine."

W. R. Ellis, Brunswick, Ga., writes: "I have tried B. B. B. and it a great thing for the blood. It also cured me of rheumatic pains."

PREACHERS' CONVENTION

[illegible] after the [illegible] spring. [illegible] damp [illegible] pressing [illegible] train, a few [illegible] gathered [illegible] the surrounding [illegible] Sunday [illegible] caused they could [illegible] appointed time [illegible] gone, the larger part [illegible] reach their homes in time to get [illegible] "to-nights" before Sunday.

But the dampness of the weather put no effectual damper over the morning musical at the hall—though it [illegible] affected the attendance that an unusual performer, looking over the audience, might have characterized it by that word.

And now that we are upon the music we want to tell our readers how fortunate is the Assembly in having so good a musical director, as the charge of all his music during the session. Miss Bessie Worthington of Rocky Mount. She is a young lady well endowed with many graces, not only of form and feature, but of mind and soul: her elegant form and almost radiant face bring in excellent harmony with a gentle nature and a generous heart. She attends upon all the duties of the position with conscientious punctuality and fidelity, and conducts the music with such skill and grace as evidences her natural talent and thorough culture. She will be teacher of music at the State Normal and Industrial School for young women at Greensboro, when it opens, next September.

Sitting opposite her on the platform is a lady, of different mold, rather tall, of graceful carriage, with a wealth of dark hair, and large, black lustrous eyes, her countenance clear as May, and sunny as June—that is Miss Gertrude Jenkins of Salem, the stenographic reporter of the Assembly.

When the regular hour for session arrived, the hymn "Sun of my Soul" was sung, and Rev. A. D. Hunter of Raleigh led in devotional exercises.

Eight Vice Presidents were appointed.

Next Prof. J. M. Horner, of the Horner School, at Oxford, read a paper on the topic "Why teachers should read the poems of Homer"—which had been crowded over from yesterday. It was an interesting paper.

And then the real work of the day began. It was "College Day," and Dr. Shearer of Davidson took the chair. A paper was read by Rev. Dr. Crowell of Trinity, on "College Education," and at the close thoroughly endorsed by President Shearer, Prof. Hamill of Illinois, Secretary Harrell, President Winston, and President Crowell. The good and the bad of college athletics were very clearly exhibited and illustrated. We will only report the latter and, this by Dr. Crowell. "Not in his judgment and according to his observation, then three more good fish evil had resulted," and this by Dr. Winston.—"In inter collegiate contests the evils mentioned would be modified in large part provided if the prizes were not on the [illegible]."

In the afternoon Prof. Currell of Davidson, presented "The social side of College life," and says among a host of good things that "the Y. M. C. A. was one of the best influences upon social life at college." A brisk discussion followed engaged in by Dr. Shearer, Dr. Alexander, Dr. Crowell and Prof. Dinwiddie.

Memorial exercises were held in respect of the late Dr. J. H. Horner of the Horner school at Oxford. Addresses were made by Dr. Winston, Prof. Alderman, Dr. Shearer, Dr. Crowell and Prof. Brown.

At night there was a presentation of the topic, "Why I went to college and what I got there." Dr. Winston made a rather lengthy and exceedingly interesting address.

And so the day passed. Wednesday was thought to be the red letter day, but the interest and enjoyment of today was equal and as well sustained as at that time. It was not a "black" Friday, but a "good" Friday—a day when the "stars" fought in their courses.

TWELFTH DAY, SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1892.

We have lived through the period of storms, and the weather is now just glorious, "like the body of heaven in its clearness." A large part of the teachers have returned to their homes, but many remain. So at the usual hour, moved in part perhaps by a pressure of habit formed by nearly constant attendance, we gather in the Hall.

The devotional exercises were engaged in with much interest.

And then Prof. Hamill, Superintendent of the Normal Department of the Illinois State Sunday-school Association, by the use of the black-board, demonstrated his manner of teaching. His method has the quality of impressing upon the mind, and fixing in it the principal dates, remarkable events and minute details. It was very properly called "A Normal Training Lesson." Young and old were interested and profited. Many think Prof. Hamill has by this method struck a new key note for successful Bible teaching.

At night Rev. Thomas Dixon, of New York, delivered a lecture in the hall. Mr. Dixon is a born North Carolinian, a young man, who in only a few years has acquired wide reputation as a powerful speaker and advocate, both in the pulpit and on the platform, for "whatsoever things are honest and of good report."

This is the way he looked: tall, rather slender erect head broad at the upper part—hair black and abundant face thin, clean shaved—eyes small, rather deep set, dark and piercing, nose, rather large—voice, loud, clear, with distinct enunciation—language exact, suitable, action graceful, intense—standing nearly in one place on the platform, he pours out a torrent of forcible, resistless eloquence.

His subject was "Back Bone." He was introduced by Mr. Josephus Daniels, who congratulated the speaker and the audience that he was "not in the penitentiary." Mr. Dixon came forward in a suit of gray, and for two hours talked rapidly, forcibly and to the delectation and profit of his large and cultivated audience. We cannot make an attempt at a report.

SUNDAY.

The churches in Morehead and Beaufort held their morning services a little earlier than usual, so as to be present at Assembly hall at 11:30. Rev. Mr. Dixon preached at that hour. His appearance was more striking and he seemed to have a finer presence than

The Samples of Grain for the World's Fair.

The harvesting of grain is now upon us and it behooves the farmers of the State, who have pride enough, to select their finest specimens of wheat, oats, rye, &c., and forward them to T. K Bruner, Commissioner of Exhibits, Raleigh, N. C. It is the earnest desire of the committee on exhibits to have every citizen aid in this patriotic undertaking to benefit North Carolina. The outlook at present for a magnificent display is very encouraging, and we hope the farmers will bear in mind and set aside a few sheafs of extra fine varieties of grain and have them exhibited at the World's Fair. Every individual who sends in samples will be given proper credit. Now let the farmers come forward with the grain.—News and Observer.

Endowed Another Scholarship.

Col. J. S. Carr has just endowed a new scholarship in Davidson College, which will enable some poor boy in the State to get a college education who but for this generosity could not have it. Col. Carr is a Methodist, and as such a Presbyterian college could have no special claim on his bounty, but his philanthrophy is not limited by church lines and he is prominently the friend of poor youth struggling for an education. Generation after generation of such youth will rise up to call him blessed.—Mt. Pl. N. C. Presbyterian.

The great amount of rain fall for the last month must necessarily have damaged crops, but a favorable season from now till harvest can make great changes.

Arrival, the Angel of Death.

Hovers nearer us sometimes than we are aware. It is safer far when we are unwell to suspect his presence than to ignore the possibility of his nearness. Caution is a trait in which the majority of mankind are constitutionally lacking. The promenader disregard a "slight cold" is particularly striking. This minor ailment is, however, a predecessor of la grippe, a malady which when developed of the most fatal character, as mortuary statistics attest. After a chill, or when the premonitory symptoms of influenza—such as sneezing and shivering, succeeded by feverishness and dryness of the skin—are perceptible, immediate recourse should be had to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a genial accelerator of the blood's circulation, which diffuses an agreeable, healthful warmth through the system inducive of perspiration, by means of which the complaint is expelled through the pores and its further tendency counteracted. Wonderfull efficacious is to the Bitters for malaria, constipation, liver complaint, rheumatism and kidney trouble. A winegless ful before retiring induces health giving sleep.
