A Boy and His Father.

Striking a boy will never imrove him, writes Edward W. Bok n the July Ladie's Home Journal. Every blow given a boy removes him just so far from his father's confidence. It is a bad sign when son fears his father.

A parent should gain the respect and the love of a son. This he can do with firmness of discipline. A hoy admires firmness in his tather just as much as we business men dmire that same quality in each other. So with a boy. His admiration of firmness in his father may not be based upon, judgement but by his very instanct he reis no means no. Firmness of baracter and unwavering dicipall the punishments a father can inflict npon him. The one develops respect; the other develops passion and restntment.
