

THE STORM. A wide-spread snow—coldest weather North in twenty years. When our citizens arose Sunday morning a mantle of snow about two inches deep covered the ground. It had fallen between midnight and day. Before night, however, there was scarcely any of it left—warmer temperature and rain had caused it to disappear.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE. Another Campaign Charge that Proves to be False. The Statement in the "Examiner" that Chairman Simmons had paid Mr. Joseph Daniels $100 per week during the campaign in order to start and keep his paper on the first time, was seen by Mr. Daniels today for the first time. He denounced it as absolutely false, and said that during the last weeks of the campaign the State Executive Committee furnished a large batch of names to which it desired "The North Carolina" sent.

CLEVELAND, OHIO. The President and His Party Have Left Washington for a Hunt in North Carolina Waters. He Wants to Escape From the Worries and Strife That Annoy and Perplex Him at Washington. At 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon President Cleveland and party left Washington for a hunt in North Carolina waters.

NEW BERNE IN REVIEW. An interesting article on our City Just Published in the Southern States Magazine. BY CHAS. HALEWOOD. The chance tourist who wishes to follow the lead of the Chesapeake & Albemarle canal at the close of January, en route from Norfolk to New Berne, after a passage through the late express swamp and a night voyage across the Meltzerian expanse of Pamlico sound, wakes up at his destination with a consciousness of strange contrasts in nature.

PEACE INSTITUTE EXHIBIT. A Remarkably Fine Art Display From This Excellent School. Peace Institute, Raleigh, the Female Presbyterian College of the State, has most admirably showing at the Fair its beautiful figures drawn by the sketches of nature and still life, and a great deal of new Berne. They not only have a great deal of money here, but a means of bringing people here to see and examine our resources, with a probability of their becoming citizens and identified with our interests.

THE BEST IN 27 STATES. Capt. W. W. Carraway, of the Richmond Dispatch left Saturday morning in the motor launch "Cassell" for the first inauguration as first grandeur under the constitution of the State. The bell was presented to Gov. Cassell by the legislature. This bell will be presented to the antique society of the State through Mrs. Gov. Carr.

THE FISH DEPARTMENT. Worth a Trip to New Berne to See It Alone, says the Raleigh Report of the Fair. The Fish Department of the Fair, as usually arranged, will be the most interesting and attractive to every one. It specially held the attention of inland visitors, it being to many of them the most novel feature of the Fair.

WRECKED OFF HATEFANS. Schooner Calumet Lost While Enroute to New Berne—One Man Lost—Four Saved. The Steamship City of Birmingham, Capt. Berg, which arrived yesterday morning from New York, had on board our sailors who had been shipwrecked at New Berne on the 19th inst. The rescued men were Capt. Geo. W. Waterwright, master of the schooner "Calumet"; James Simmons and Stephen Durman, and William Gartin, the negro cook, of the same vessel. The schooner was wrecked while en route to New Berne, N. C., from Baltimore. She was loaded with guano. She is owned by F. P. Pradergast of Baltimore.

REVERES THE OLD NAME. The "Gaston House" Should Still Perpetuate the Memory of Judge Gaston—The Eminent Carolinian and New Berne's Most Distinguished Son. EDITION JOURNAL—It was a pleasure to me to read what you said some weeks ago in regard to the improvement being made on the Gaston House. It may not be known to you, sir, that the writer of this established that well known Hotel, and named it after one of Carolina's noblest sons, the eminent Judge William Gaston, who was the idol of my boyhood, and doubtless as great to the noblest sense of the term.

WHAT OTHERS SAID. Clippings From Exchanges in Reference to the Fair. "Everybody who goes to the New Bern Fair is sure to bring back the reports of the excellence of the exhibition. It is a fair to be proud of, and it is well that the State has ever known of it."

Exhibits Showing Results. Mr. W. H. Bray of Green Place Post-Office yard took a number of prizes at the Fair, and was shipping yesterday seven coops of chickens to various points as a direct result of his exhibit at the Fair. The shipment embraced Buff Cochins, Minorcas, Lightors, Langhans, Partridge cochin and Plymouth Rocks. Messrs. Wood Bros. of River View Poultry Yards, winner of first premium on buff cochin pullets and 21. premiums on buff cochin cock, male sales on that breed reaching as far as Virginia, while the Fair was going on.
