The true way of helping the unemployed is discussed in the Forum. It contends that temporary employment on a large scale freely advertised is not a means of preventing, but, on the contrary, creates, distress and vagrancy and begging in the locality where it is given. The present deplorable conon of Chicago is plainly due to the fact that $30,000,000 have been pent there in temporary work during the past three years. Not only the industrious and bons fide
