WASHINGTON LETTER
The Tariff Bill Will Become a Law Without Cleveland's Signature—Adjournment—Income Tax, Recommendation to Remove the Negro Taylor.

It is unquestionably Mr. Cleveland's present intention to permit the tariff bill to become a law without his signature. There is no danger of his vetoing the bill, though he would probably like to do so if the business condition of the country would admit of his doing so.

Another obstacle presents itself to the tariff tinkers. The Senate bill includes the income tax which will yield the Government about $15,000,000. The machinery for collecting the tax has not been provided for, and the Secretary of the Treasury asks for $300,000 with which he can employ the necessary tax collectors.
