The local women's Republican organization has been active this spring, but not in the interest of any special candidate. At Leaven worth the registration for the city election, 3.700 or two fifths of the total number of voters, are women. There are 300 more with their names on the poli books than ever before. Most of these registered as foreign born and colored women. At Winfield, out of a registration of nearly 2,000, one-third of the voters are women.
