NEWS ADVERTISE.

In the City of Elms and Vicinity.
Gathered in and Briefly Noted.
Mr. Hill Humphrey is repairing the front of his store, also lettering it with the sign "Big Ike".
The committee on judging oysters at the Fair judged them on three points, viz: size, shape and growth of shell; 2d, quality and flavor of meat.
Capt. McNett and Dr. Earl Sloan, two northern visitors, are back from a big hunting trip of five days. They were out from New River and report good luck killing geese, ducks and quail.
The good order of Fair week was a very noticeable and commendable feature. Mayor Ellis informs us that there were only four arrests in the city the entire week—they were for being under the influence of liquor. There were under the influence of the city and two outsiders. A record like this at a time of such great gatherings is well to be noted.

THE LOSS OF THE EMIRY R. DYER

Drifting helplessly for a week—Dangerous Leaks—Pumps Held at Work Day and Night—Held on Fire From Cargo—Loss of Life and Property—Arrival at Baltimore—Sunk One Hour Afterwards.

The schooner Emiry R. Dyer was a boat well known in this city—having made frequent trips here and taken out many cargoes of New Bern lumber. We have previously mentioned her total loss, and the remains of her cargo, which were arriving in Baltimore, advice from that city dated March 8th, gives the following particulars of the wreck and rescue.

AWFUL EXPERIENCE AT SEA

The British steamer Stag, Capt. Branson, was on her way to New York today, having on board Capt. Ireland and a crew of five men, rescued from the schooner Emiry R. Dyer, which went down on the coast of North Carolina Sunday night. The Dyer sailed from this port February 10th, with lumber for Plymouth, N. C., and was bound for New York. She almost from the instant she passed the cape.
