Senate New Doing the Clown

South Carolina Makes a Sensation. Four Years For Representatives. Amendments to Immigration

Bill. National Flag Bill. JOURNAL BURRAU, WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8.

Everybody has seen the clowns in the circus who make a great pretense of working without doing much of any thing that is useful. With due apologies to the dignity of that august body, the Senate is as a whole doing just winter those clowns do. Circum tances rather than individuals are to blame for this. The division of parties in the Senate makes it supossible to put through leg islation that is opposed by either of the three parties, and about every important measure on the Senate calendar, uside from the appropriation bills, comes in his chegory. A mild sort of a sensation was creuted by the aunouncement that Representative Murray, the colored Republican from South Carolina, proposed to enter s protest against counting the votes of that state, when the Senate and Mouse this week assembled in joint session to count the electoral votes and officially declare the vote of the presidential chetion, but as the protest will not apparently be backed by the Republican leadeas there is no expectation that it will amount to more than a passing incident. The wais of the protest is the new constitution of South Carolina which dis-Iranchises illiterates.

Representative Corliss has introduced a joint resolution providing for a constiintional amendment extending the term of representatives to four years. There are plenty of men in Congress who would favor the proposed amendment, but it is not probable that the people will give up the privilege of expressing their opinion of Congressional legislation every two years by their votes.

Nicaragua Canal Bill, which has really been dead ever since Minister Rodri guez presented the protest of the government of Nicaragua against its passage, has now been abandoned so far as the present session of Congress is concerned y all its advocates. The attempt of its reads to keep the bill before the Senate last week caused a number of wrangles and made it clear that it would require a continued and bitter fight to force the bill to a vote. Although several Sensdown that it would pass the Senate if brought to a vote, but it was because of the impossibility of getting the bill through the House that it was abandoned. This impo sibility was plainly shown to Senstoral friends of the bill at a conference with Speaker Reed and other of the House majority.

Whether it was the rumor that President Cleveland would veto the Immigration bill, because of the clause which would have separated husband and wife, if whe could read and the other could not, or the strong opposition to that clause in the Senate, that caused the conference report to be rejected and the bil further amended by the Senate so as to meet the objections to that clause, is no material. There is no question that the bill as amended is more humane that it was, while it has lost none of the advantages of its restriction features.

The most sweeping Congressional legislation every proposed again a trusts is contained in a bill introduced by Representative Gillett, of Massachusetts. The title of it is, "A Bill to Regulate Interstate Transportation of Property owned or Manufactured by Unlawful Combina tions." It provides that any property -owned or manufactured under any contract of by any combination, or pursuant to any conspiracy forbidden by the laws of a State, and being in the course of transportation to or from such state. UTGG may be seized and confiscated the same as smuggled importations. The penalty for such transportation or ordering to be at fine of not exceeding $20,000 or five years in prison, or both. With such a Prominent Arrest For Incendiarism. law to assist the various State laws against trusts it would be difficult, if not impossible, for the trusts to do busimess in those States.
